fidence of man in man? Without confidence of man in man, there can be no co-operation or corporations. There must be mutual confidence of man in man, a brother to confide in brothet, and a friend to confide in friend. Again, railroads cannot be made where the people are not to make such roads even in a civilized land. But the point I wish to make is that railroads cannot be made in an uncivilized land. Then, it is natural to inquire what were the most efficient means of civilization in the past history of the world. Every one is ready to say, the education of the masses. It is to say, the education of the masses. It is cattle late last October. His herders education, no one doubts the assertion. report now that his loss will not be one But who were the educators? We answer with emphasis, "the ministers of the Gospel of the Son of God." Go back to Ireland and inquire who was the acknowledged educator, and the grand civilizer of that island in the earliest history we have.

Was it not a pious minister of the gospel? Brothers drove in from Oregon and Ne-His authority as a man of God was owned and acknowledged over all the island. And St. Patrick's name is dear to every Irishst. Patrick's name is dear to every Irishman to-day. Yet many of them have abused the privileges they once enjoyed. But it was the leveling power of the Gospel civilized the people.

Let us now come to America. What was this land before the landing of our Pilgrim Fathers, those hely man of God?

Pilgrim Fathers, those holy men of God? The country a vast wilderness, inhabited by roving tribes of wild Indians. It was the songs and the prayers of these men of God that lighted up this continent on which we ive, and of which there is none like it in all the civilized world. These men taught the savage that the Great Spirit of which they had some knowledge, and to which they paid some adoration, was the Great Creator of men and women, land and water; and that he was a God of peace and love. Thus the great William Penn taught; and, as the Gospel was preached or read, so education and civilization marched hand in hand. The savage breast was subdued, and sinners were converted. was subdued, and sinners were converted, and civilization marched on and on.

It is not a century yet since a noble minister conceived the idea of carrying the Gospel to the West. With his Bible and hymn book, saddlebags and horse, he started to cross the mountains, not knowing where he might land; yet in obedience tarted and traveled over the mountains. Stopping at night under the boughs of trees, reading a portion of sacred Scripture, then singing a hymn, kneeling down and emergencies of this kind." praying, when no ear heard him but the ear of the great God. Having a little lunch with him he took his breakfast, fed his horse a few tufts of grass as he could find it.

Thus went, in advance of pikes, canals and railroads, the man of God with the Bible in his hand preaching the Gospel wherever he could find hearers, opening the way for civilization, leaving houses and homes, wives and children and friends. If it had not been for these men of God, there could be no railroads to-day. And yet, these are the men who are refused accommodations on the Pennsylvania railroad to day, with a reduced fare. The Pennsylvania railroad, and all other railroads, owe their existence to civilization, and these ministers of the Gospel, the world acknowledges to be the leading civilizers. There is a class of men to-day who are following in the track of these godly men, trying to overturn all that has been done, and blight every prospect of civilization, and destroy every civil institution, and the influence of the Gospel and the gospel minister. Many of these men cau ride at very low rates, on any railroad in the land. By the work of this class, railroad men are shot down, railroads are torn up, trains are wrecked, churches are disturbed, ministers are assassinated, families are broken up, widows wail, orphans weep, whole communities are disturbed, presidents assassinated, and nearly all the evils of the land are instigated by this class. And yet, the gospel minister, whose work is acknowledged by all this class. And yet, the gospel minister, whose work is acknowledged by all classes, to be good, must walk or pay full fare. The Pennsylvania railroad company has, for many years, given your correspondent a clerical card, but in all this time, nevertheless, they have been the gainers. As soon as the Pennsylvania railroad company, with all other roads, ignore the clears from that doubt is roads. ignore the clergy, from that day their work will go back on their hands. There is not a railroad man in the land, out of Christ, that is worthy to hold the hand of the poorest of God's ambassadors. These are the God appointed men, to carry light and truth, and civilization to all the world. Who are the men that are enlightening and civilizing heathen lands? The gospel missionary. Railroads cannot be constructed in heathen lands till the Gospel has been preached, and heathens made Christian. But these men must have no cards! RURAL. DEATH IN A BOLLING MILL.

Over Seven Tons of Molton Metal Precipita ted on Laborers. A horrible ascident, resulting in the probable fatal scalding of two men and less severe injuries to some eighteen others, occurred at the Cleveland rolling mill company's Bessemer steel mill, in Newport, O., Wednesday morning. The huge converter in the mill, which is operated by hydraulic pressure, con-teined at the time seven tons and a half of molten metal. As the converter was being raised to the platform to be emptied it suddenly became wholly unmanageable, owing to the pressure subsiding, and before its equilibrium could be restored the great crucible overturned, pre-cipitating its cargo of seething metal into the pit beneath, a distance of fully four-teen feet. The result was, very naturally a terrific explosion and the spray of the molten metal flew in every direction. About eighteen or twenty pitmen and laborers were in the immediate vicinity. Two of them, Patrick Foley and Thomas Burgoyne, were frightfully scalded by the wave of steam that gushed from the pit.

Foley was burned all over his body and his force was scalded almost beyond recognition. WILLIAMS BECOUNT MEDICINE. — THE Winter Except in Une Bert.

Unligations of the Railroads to the Clergymes—And the Corporations Now Refuse to Honor Them.

Eds. Intelligences.—The parties who have been the great engineers of civilization in, this country are put upon the back ground, to a very great extent. The man or men who desire to be honored for the noblest work known to man upon the face of the earth, are in a measure forgotten by the masses.

There was a time, not so far in the past, when there was not a railroad on this continent. Was it because railroads were not known, or was it for the lack of confidence of man in man? Without confidence of man in man, there can be no desired to the St. Paul Pioneer Press from Miles City, Bozeman, and intervening points in the Montana cattle country give more positive information than has been obtainable heretofore about the losses and condition of stock. At Bozeman Nelson Story and the Martin and Myers brothelows and condition of stock. At Bozeman Nelson Story and the Martin and Myers brothelows are cattle raisers in the Upper Yellowstone valley, say they have had a winter most favorable to the fostering of their industry. They estimate that the losses for the territory will not be 5 per cent., counting the loss from the too early calving of young heifers, the principal cause of losses on the ranges from year to year. The season so far has been the most favorable for years. There have been 24 days of open spring weather and the grain

Brothers drove in from Oregon and Nebraska last year about 4,700 head, and report no loss. Thompson Hubbard, of Mankato, Minn., drove in from Minnesota 4,500 head. These came in quite late, and were driven up to the Wyoming line on the headwaters of the Rosebud. They have lost 15 or 20 per cent. This loss was occasioned by the deep snow fall in that region. "I had 2,000 head on the Missouri, 40 miles below Buford, at the mouth of the Yellowstone," said Mr. Leighton, "and I have lost about 10 per cent. of these. They have had deep snow there from the last of October until now all the civilized world. These men taught and there is still snow there, and the only wonder is that they didn't all die. I shall move them on to the Tongue and the Yellowstone right away." Judge Stowell corroborated all that Mr. Leighton had said. J. E. Martin, of Bozeman, explained the good condition of cattle in Montana as follows: "We place our cattle out on the ranges where the grass is good, and leave them in charge of men in winter who look after them and see that they do not drift, but we are in a mountainous country and natural protection is afforded on the winter ranges for our cattle and we do not experience the same difficulties they do on the plains to the south. There they drift before a storm, sometimes from the Platte to the Arkansas, and often cross the Arkansas. Here they seek protection Lord, "Go ye, into all the world, and under cover of neighboring buttes or cliffs. preach my Gospel to every creature," he and it requires little service to control Sometimes we feed a little hav
