GUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE

Events Along the Susquehanna-Items Interest In and Around the Borough

Picked up by the Intelligencer Reporter. The fire committee of council visited the different fire companies' engine houses yesterday, with a view of ascertaining the needs of the companies. All are in good condition in every respect, the members taking a pride in keeping their apparatus in thorough order. Two things are now needed, but there seems to be little prospect of either becoming a thing of the near future. The fire department needs a hook and ladder truck, and the Shawnee company should have a new engine house. The former can only be secured by a determined agitation of the question by the united companies, if it can be obtained at all, and the latter will only be built when the present rickety structure falls to pieces. The firemen receive no pay for their services, and it seems but just that they should have a respectable place of

Found Dead in Bed

Wm. Kane, a man of mature age, was discovered dead in his bed yesterday at his home on Fifth street. OBITUARY.

Death of Joseph Preston. Joseph Preston, one of the oldest newspaper men in Lancaster, died at his resilence, No. 20 East German street, about 11 o'clock last night, in the 72d year of his age. The immediate cause of his death was typhoid pneumonia, induced by a cold taken about a week ago, though he had been in impaired health for several years past. Mr. Preston was born in West Grove, Chester county, Pa., on the 7th of January, 1812. After receiving a country school education, he learned the printing business, his first work being on a little paper printed in the neighborhood, with the high sounding title of the Genius of Universal Emancipation. The paper had but brief existence and Preston was sent to Wilmington to finish his trade having accomplished which he made a tour of the Southern and Western states as a journeyman printer. On returning to Pennsylvania he took a position on the Bethania Palladium, printed by Reuben Cham bers, and was working in that village when the first cars on the Philadelphia and Columbia railroad passed through it. Later he married Elizabeth Smith, and for some years kept a store at Andrews' Bridge. this county. He came to Lancaster about 1851, and took a position first on the Independent Whig and afterwards on the Inland Daily, as compositor, reporter and clerk. When the Daily Express was started a few years afterwards, Mr. Preston was offered and accepted a position as clerk and bookkeeper, and remained in the employ of the publishers, Messrs, Peasol & Geist, for a period of twenty years. When the Express was purchased by Mr Hiestand and merged

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 30.-In the House the consideration of the bill mak ing it a misdemeanor for the governor, lieutenant governor, heads of department judges of the supreme and other courts, and members of the Legislature to receive free passes or passes at a discount was then resumed. Hulings made a speech in favor of the amendment making it an indictable offense for railroad companies to issue passes. After Lowry, of Indiana, had made a carefully prepared speech in favor of the bill, Devenney withdrew his amendment prohibiting editors, physicians and others from accepting passes. Hasson then offered as a substitute for bill the Senate bill prohibiting railroad companies from issuing passes except to officers or employees of the company. Mr. Hulings withdrew his amendment in favor of the one proposed by Mr. Hasson, and the discussion took a wide range. Mr. Niles said be voted against the no pass feature in the consti tution, but would vote for the bill to enforce the mandate of the constitution. Mr. Parcels, Mifflin, believed it buncombe but would vote for the bill because of the constitution. McNamara, of Bedford, said it was buncombe and he would not vote for it; to do so would be to vote himself a criminal for holding a pass. Sponsler, of Perry, did not think the amendments sufficiently comprehensive. The bill passed second reading as amended by Hasson, by a vote of 101 to 28. The House adjourned until 10 a. m. Tuesday.

A WOMAN HANGED.

Vermont's Stern Execution of the Law. WINDSOR, Vt., March 30.-Mrs. Eme line Luch Meaker was hanged at 1:35 thi afternoon, for the murder of the child, Alice Meaker, her husband's niece She insisted to the last that she was inno cent. She slept soundly last night and this morning visited the gallows and scru tinized it closely with an air of morbid curiosity. After returning to her quarters she was visited by the chaplain and mani-fested the most stelid indifference. She asked after her husband and her daughter and said to tell them she was murdered to day. She alluded to her son's confession as a lie, and said he had brought her to

Saved By a Fine Distinction. WASHINGTON, D. C., March 30 .- Judge Lawrence, comptroller of the currency has decided that the salary of Congress. man Ochiltree cannot be withheld to cover a judgment held by the government against him. In the case of two terri torial delegates, however, who are in debted to the government, the comp troller decides that the salaries can be withheld as a ret-off against the judgments, in view of the fact that dele gates from territories are not created by the constitution, the language of a certain clause of which, in his opinion, forbids
