A FEW WORDS ABOUT PAINT.

In painting a building the most important consideration is to select the very best Paints, by doing so you avoid the expense of repainting before the proper time for repainting occurs. And as the paint costs less than the put-ting on, what you most want to save is labor. The best paints cannot be prepared by hand-mixing so that that they will prove durable and cover as great a quantity of surface as the best paints which are produced by thoroughly experienced and practical paint makers, with the aid of complete machinery. We have been selling WADSWORTH, MARTINEZ & LONGMAN'S PAINTS for two years and the reports received from all our customers justify us in offering to furnish our pure paints FREE of COST to any buyer who having painted his building with our paints can demonstrate that our paint has not cost 10 per cent less for paint used than cost would have been for either pure White Lead and Linseed Oil, or any other mixed paint in the country. We only ask you to give it a test of One Day's Doings. A serious cave-in occurred at Ashland on Wednesday in the immediate vicinity of the tunnel colliery workings, which are directly under a block of miners' houses owned by the Philadelphia & Reading coal and iron company. The houses are occupied by miners' families who, up to within a few weeks ago, lived in them quite comfortable. At that time, however, a cave-in occurred which carried down two or three of the dwellings, but fortunately none of the occupants sustain ed injuries, and no loss except some of their household effects, which went down with the buildings. The tenants in the remaining houses-ten in number-were notified of their danger, and all but three families left for safer quarters. The empty dwellings were removed.

SERIOUS CAVE-IN AT ASHLAND. Several Dwellings Carried Down from th Surface-Other Interesting Phases

Another cave in occurred in the afternoon which has destroyed almost every vestige of the block. Two houses toppled over and went down. The families, however, who were on the alert for a sudden surprise, saved their lives and some of their little effects. The coal and iron officials gave timely notice to the occupants, which put them on their guard. A gang of men are now engaged in removing everything that can be saved, and every precaution is being taken against accident. Fears are entertained for several other houses which stand a short distance away from the cave-in. No miners are employed at the colliery, the than this world. SLAIN IN COLD BLOOD.

Two Men Arrested Charged With an Un-provoked Murder. A murder was committed on Tuesday at Woodport, a small place in Jefferson township, N. J., sixteen miles from Mor-ristown, and not far distant from the scene of Minnie Chergwin's death. Wednesday nan and Peter Gallogan, both miners em-ployed at the Weldon mine, induced Daniel Dagen, a Dover stonemason, to "show them the way to the Schofield mine." Dagen at first protested against going, but the two men plied him with whisky, and he finally consented. Late in the evening Coonan showed himself at a "beer house," kept by Wesley Beatty, four miles from Woodport, and demanded beer. It was evident that he had been in a fight for his face was badly scratched. Beatty asked Coonan with whom he had been fighting, and Coonan replied, evasively, that "it took a d-d good man to lick him." He then left the "beer

When Beatty's family arose Wednes-day morning, they found the dead body of Dagen lying at their door. His skull had deen crushed in as if by a stone or by blows from a club. From the appearance of the ground he had evidently struggled toward the house for more than a hundred yards and had fallen dead in a final effort. At the Weldon mine, Wednesday morning, Gallogan boasted that he and Coopan "had given Dagen a good thrashing the night before," and Coonan, it was said, was seen washing blood from his hands. Coroner Drake impanelled a jury, before whom the facts were developed, and the jury then adjourned until to day to await the result of an autopsy upon Dagen's body. Coonan and Gallogan will be indicted for murder at the coming term of

EOMANUE OF NUMBERS. A Stunner for Dull Heads and a Puzzle for

New Orleans Times-Democr 1. There is a romance in numbers,-the romance of enormity! Americans calculate, it must be remembered, after the French fashion. With us a billion is not, as with the English, a million of millions, but simply a thousand millions; and a trillion is not a billion of (English) billions but a thousand billions. The English lish reckoning is simple terrific when we start upward from billions (millions of millions) to trillions, quadrillions quintillions, sextillions, septillions, cetillions, ect. So vast are these English numbers that they are practically valueless—imaginary. They cannot be applied even to the calculations of astronomical distances. And these distances daze human and arstanding. Twelve degrees east of Alpha Capricorn there is a nebula-bright flat, ring-shaped-which is general believed to be a solar system in process of formation -a vast whirl of incandescent gas gradually shaping itself into suns and worlds. It is a spark in any but the most powerful microscopes, yet it is 261 billion times (in American numbers) larger than our sun. And our sun is 1,283,700 times larger itself is 338 quadrillion 896 trillion 800

Now these numbers seem enough to bewilder any mind; but they are as nothing to numbers which have been already used. Flammarion, the astronomer, makes cuseen on each side in one continuous chain, and in consequence, it is impossible to work ever calculated by mortal man. in that portion of the mine on account of It was undevillions-millions, billions, the attending danger. Tunnel Colliery is trillions, quadrillions, quintillions, the deepest slope in the United States. It is over sixteen feet below the level of the sea, lions, decillions, undecillions. Calculations, decillions, dec might indeed go much further—to duodecillions, tredecillions, etc. Tredecillions carries only to the thirteenth numerical type from millions; centillions would carry us to the hundredth. Now, our inquiring subscriber may comprehend the nonstrosity of a centillion.

But to return to the modest centillion. It has been calculated by a Frenchman that the tiny sum of five centimes banked at the birth of Jesus Christ, would have accumulated at compound interest, by this time to the amount of 342,653,248,morning two alleged murderers were consigned to seperate cells in the jail from francs!—or 342 undecillions, 653 decilwhich, two hours later, young Treglawn lions, 248 nonillions, 699 septillions of walked out to his death. system. Now how much money does the amount represent? If all the mountain ranges in the world were converted into diamonds, they would not represent such a value; nor could all the railroads of the globe convey such a sum. If the earth tself were turned into one solid mass of gold—in which case it would weigh 31 times more than at present-its value in French money would not even approach undecillions; it would be only 69,910,800,-000,000,000,000,000—or 69 sextillions, 910 EVERY DAY in the Year. quintillions, 800 quadrillions of francs. If an ingot of gold as big as the world were to fall from heaven every minute for 9,300 years, it would require all those ingots to pay that sum of undecillions. Even in astronomy undecillions are not used. Probably the life of suns does not reach nearly so extraordinary a figure in

A Wedding in San Francisco. San Francisco Chronicle.

A wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mrs. Ogden, the Rev. Dr. Beers performing the ceremony which united Richard H. Pease and Miss Ogden. White and purple lilacs entered largely into the floral decorations, a tracery of smilax clinging to every available object. Several handsome exhibitions of flower weaving were presented by friends as tokens of esteem. Daylight was excluded and gas and brilliantly colored wax tapers shed light over the happy scene. In front of the bay window a floral arch was constructed in which no one color or flower predominated, from the centre of which depended a marriage bell of mixed flowers. After the assembling of the forty guests Mrs. Ogden entered the parlor on the arm of Mr. Pease, followed by Miss Jennie Ogden and Mr. Abbott, the bride elect being led be-neath the floral bell by J. C. Wadsworth at 12 o'clock. After happy expressions and congratulations a dejeuner was served at 1 o'clock. A peculiarity of the bridal costume was the entire absence of flowers. No veil was worn, but in its stead a cap of plaited lace and material to correspond with costume, which was extremely be-coming. The dress was of crushed strawberry Ottoman silk en train, with front of brocaded flowers in their varied and natural tints, resting upon an ecru ground. Over the combination corsage was worn an elegant fichu of duchesse lace, held by a valuable diamond brooch, a gift of the groom. Mrs. Ogden wore a black satin court train, trimmed with black lace. Miss Jennie Ogden wore black velvet, relieved by the wearing of white lace. The many beautiful gifts were shown to the guests, among them several of exquisite design imported from Europe and others purchased in New York. A set of "dessert coffees" was particularly admired, each one being of different pattern and holding a little golden spoon. A service of beaten silver lined with gold was among the valuable imported articles.

REOWN'S IRON BITTERS.

PLAIN TRUTHS

The blood is the foundation of life, it circulates through every part of "he body, and unless it is pure and rich, good health is impossible. If disease has entered the system the only sure and quick way to drive it out is to purify and enrich the blood.

These simple facts are well known, and the highest medical authorities agree that nothing but iron will restore the blood to its natural condition; and also that all the iron preparations hitherto made blacken the teeth, cause headache, and are otherwise injurious.

Brown's Iron Bitters will thoroughly and quickly assimilate with the blood, purifying and strengthen-ing it, and thus drive disease from any part of the system, and it will and blacken the teeth, cause headache or constipation, and is positively not in Gents:-Upon the recommen dation of a friend, I tried Brown's Iron Bitters as a toule and restorative for my daughter, whom I was thoroughly convinced was wasting away with Consumption. Having lost three daughters by the terrible disease, under the care of eminent physicians. I was loth to believe that anything could arrest the progress of the disease, but, to my great surprise, before my daughter had taken one bottle of Brown's Iron Bitters, she gan to mend and now is quite restored to former health. A fifth daughter began to show signs of Consumption, and when the physician was consulted he quickly said "Tonics were required;" and when informed that the elder sister was taking Brown's Iron Bitters, responded "that is a good tonic, take it."
