Things We Dare Not Do. Dare Do.

First—We dare not lie about our business. By this we mean that we dare not misrepresent our goods or state our prices to be bargain prices unless we know them to be so.

Second—We dare not attempt to do business upon an incomplete stock. Too long the lines have been kept full, too long have the people been coming to Oak Hall and finding everything they ought reasonably to expect in a clothing house.

Third—We dare take no backward steps. Progress is the rule. Style and quality of cut and finish have never been so apparent in Oak Hall as now.

Fourth—We dare to spend a fortune every year in telling our story. We help the printers and the newspapers, we pile up clothing cheaper and better than you can get it any other way.

CAPICINE POROUS PLASTERS. NO USE FOR THEM. Concerning Certain Notices of the Past—Dogs that have had their Day.

George Stephenson's "Rocket," and the magnificent locomotives of to-day, are built upon the same general principle, yet the machine with which the great engineer astonished his age, is interesting now only as an illustration of the beginning of the invention.

There were plasters with holes in them long before BENSON'S CAPICINE POROUS PLASTER surprised both the public and the physicians, and the triumph of the Capicine is founded upon the partial success, or the total failure, of its predecessors. Everything of value in the old porous plaster is retained in the Capicine; but at this point all comparisons end and contrast begins. For example: The old plasters were slow in their action; the Capicine is quick and sure.

The old plasters lacked the power to do more than to impart slight, temporary relief to cases of easy treatment; the Capicine penetrates the system and permanently cures the troubles for which it is recommended.

The old plasters depended for any good results they might attain, upon an accident of their makers and the naked faith of their users; the Capicine reaches its ends by means of the scientific combination of its rare medicinal ingredients which it contains in brief, the old plasters, like Stephenson's discarded engine, are switched off the track, while the Capicine goes on its way winning golden opinions from all sorts of people.

Beware of swindles. The genuine have the word CAPICINE in the centre. Price 25 cents. Salsbery & Johnson, Chemists, New York.

PARKER'S TONIC. HIS SOUL AND HIS SILVER. I can't promise you that, mon, answered the minister, "but I advise you to try the experiment."

Laughing heartily at the story, Rev. F. E. Osborne, of No. 253 Tilden avenue, Jersey City, pastor of the First Baptist church, West Hoboken, continued: "That's what I did with Parker's Tonic; I tried the experiment, and I am very glad to testify to its excellence. It goes straight to the root of all digestive and nervous derangements so common among men of my profession. For women and chronic invalids I have had a perfect invigorant, and it is destined to supplant all other remedies for this purpose. A single dose produces a feeling of exhilaration and sense of life which eradicates disease. It seems to rouse every organ into activity, and as ginger is really an unalloyed stimulant, it is the liquor habit over the world."

This preparation, which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will liberate the system of all impurities, and all sorts of ailments, wrapped under the name of "PARKER'S GINGER TONIC." It is a simple medicine if the true signature of H. S. Parker & Co. is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

Prepared by H. S. PARKER & CO., 253 TILDEN AVENUE, JERSEY CITY, N. J.
