OBITUARY.

John Shippen, formerly President of the Lancaster Association, died in Pottsville on Saturday in his eighty-seventh year. He was born in Chester county on the 18th of August, 1796, springing from old English Quaker stock. Though a pious holder in the Episcopal church, he always adhered to the old Quaker doctrine, and while he made no boast of his lineage, referred frequently with pride to the honored name of his ancestor, particularly Chief Justice Shippen. He always, in speaking of them, felt called upon to make some eulogistic remark concerning the life of Benedict Arnold, who was a Miss Shippen. At a banquet years ago he complimented Charles Sumner in a playful way to apologize because he said, "Your ancestor, the Puritans, whipped me at Boston."

GOVERNOR WASHBURN'S DEATH.

The Maine Statesman Dies Suddenly—His Public Career. Ex-Governor Israel Washburn, jr., of Maine, who has been in Philadelphia since April 20, died at the Lafayette hotel Saturday. The object of his visit was to obtain medical treatment for the ailments which the rigorous climate of Maine only seemed to aggravate. These were pleurisy and inflammation of the covering of the heart. Under the treatment of Dr. S. Weir Mitchell and John H. Bryant, he seemed to be in a fair way to recovery. On Friday he had lithered about the hotel office, seemingly in excellent health and in even jovial spirits. His demise at half past 12 o'clock was an unexpected shock to both his wife and his brother, W. D. Washburn, who had arrived a few days previously, and his physician. Since his arrival Mr. Washburn had suffered relapses at intervals, but these had succeeded each other at greater lapses of time from each other until a confident hope of his ultimate recovery was aroused. He was 71 years of age.

Mr. Washburn was a son of Israel Washburn, and was born at "The Norlands," Livermore, Me. He was mainly educated by private tutors, and was admitted to the bar in October, 1824. Shortly afterwards he settled at Orono, Penobscot county, where he acquired a large practice. In 1850 he was elected to Congress, and re-elected for the four succeeding terms. During the exciting period immediately preceding the civil war, he took a prominent part in the discussion in Congress, and was largely influential in opposing the demands of slave holders and in arousing a strong anti-slavery sentiment. In 1860 he became governor of Maine and in 1861 he was re-elected. He declined a reelection in 1868 and was appointed collector of customs for the port of Portland, a position he retained until a few years ago. He was president of the board of trustees of Tufts' college, Massachusetts, and was elected president of the college in 1875, but declined the honor. He was contributor to several of the periodicals, and in 1874 published a volume of historical, descriptive and personal notes on Livermore, Maine.
