

COLUMBIA NEWS.

REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE

Events Along the Susquehanna—Items of Interest In and Around the Borough Picked up by the Intelli-

Two box cars and a coal dump of east bound C. D. local freight were thrown from the track at Chiques yesterday, at 2:30 p. m. The accident was caused by the sudden opening of a defective switch. The Columbia wreckers replaced the cars on the rails, and the train had just started again when the same switch opened the second time and wrecked the same cars. The wreckers were obliged to repeat their operations. A number of accidents have of late occurred on this railroad, caused by defective switches.

The building of the new Reading & Columbia railroad depot is being rapidly pushed forward. A number of door and window frames have been put in place already in position and the brick work is slowly creeping up around them. Other building operations are also going on in various parts of town.

Isaiah Deany, extra brakeman of a freight train, while being made up in the yard last night, fell from the third and fingers of his right hand crushed between the bull-ropes while effecting the coupling of two cars. He resides on 21 street.

The firemen were called out by another false alarm of the late evening. The story originated in the blowing of a Reading & Columbia railroad engine, which was accidentally off steam. A slight ripple of excitement was caused by the event. Almost anything would have caused excitement last evening, for there was nothing of interest transpiring.

The colored population. A large crowd of participants and spectators attended the colored people's cake walk in the armory last night. A neat sum of money was realized by the church which gave it. The story is that the Rev. Mr. Wright, of the church, and John Smellie, of Columbia, with their partners, carried off the honors of the first and second walks.

Mrs. Maria Hoisinger, colored, was committed to the county jail for the non-payment of her taxes this morning on complaint of her husband, who accused her of drunk and disorderly conduct.

The borough budget. The body which a number of persons saw being carried up street late last night still had symptoms of life about it at last reports. Signs of a revival of life were seen in the body.

About the first of June the Ironville hand will open a fair in that place. At their last one they realized a large sum of money. The band is one of the best in the county and deserves to be well supported.

Benj. Barr's new cream parlors have a seating capacity of 30 couples—the largest in town.

Isaiah Sneath, of Yale college, is the guest of his father, the chief burglar.

RAILROAD ACCIDENTS. A Train Fatally Injured by the Cars. This morning at 7 o'clock, a train, by the name of George W. Roberts, was fatally injured by the cars at Melvin's line kins, just east of Leaman Place.

He was walking on the track when struck by extra engine No. 593. He was picked up and it was found that the engine had been badly crushed and there was an ery cut under the chin. His internal injuries are the most serious, however. Dr. Leaman attended the man and he says that his injuries will prove fatal and he cannot live long. He was brought to the county hospital. The man looks very much like an Italian, his skin being very dark. He has no home nor relations in this county and no occupation.

The Week Beyond Ephrata. The Reading & Columbia railroad track at the place where the big wreck occurred on Wednesday was cleared by yesterday noon, and soon afterwards the first train passed over. The broken cars, etc., are still lying around and they will not be cleared away for some days. There is no class as yet to the persons who were on the plank on the track, causing the accident. The passenger train coming towards Reading had just passed a short time before, and found the track clear; so that the obstruction must have been arranged but a short time before the engine struck it with such disastrous results.

This morning a man, with a reservoir of whisky in him, went into the mayor's office and stated that he desired to have two men arrested, on suspicion of being the ones who caused the wreck. He was being asked who he knew about the men he said that they wore light hats with pearl buttons on their clothing and carried canes. He could not tell what evidence he had against them except that they were seen in Manchester on the day of the wreck. He said he had the office promising to come back and bring some one with him who knew more about the men and their "mysterious" movements.

The funeral of Master McChane Hain will take place in Reading on Saturday morning, at 10 o'clock. The service will be attended. That he was a brave sufferer appears from the account that as he lay under the engine, with the firebox against the lower part of his body crushed and mangled, with only his head and hands visible in the open air, he was perfectly sensible of his position, he gave the men seeking to relieve him directions as to how they should proceed, and directed them how to insert a board between his body and the fire box, so as to prevent his being burned. A physician was summoned who gave him something to keep up his strength. Mr. Hain took it but said it was no use, that it was all up with him. After being in this dreadful position for about three-quarters of an hour death put an end to his sufferings. Shortly after his death a freight train arrived and after considerable work succeeded in extricating Mr. Hain's body. When he was taken out the body was besmeared with grease and dirt, crushed and mangled, and the lower part burned and charred beyond recognition. One of the legs being partly buried off.

It was said by some of the crew that there were a couple of tramps stealing a ride on the train. One was seen running away after the accident, and it was thought that the other was under the wreck, but it proved not so.

Underwood murdered his brother-in-law, Winfield Scott Goss, and cutting the body in two buried the head and trunk at the foot of a tree and the legs in another spot a short distance away, are being cut down.

CURLEY EXECUTED.

A SECOND FARE MURDERER HANGED. He executed his Fate Calmly—A Big Concourse of Sympathizers, Many No Unlawful Demonstrations.

DUBLIN, May 18.—Daniel Curley, the second man convicted of participation in the murder of Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke, was hanged in Kilmahon jail at 5 o'clock this morning. The jail was guarded by a force of military. After the priests had prayed privately with the condemned man in his cell, mass was performed in the prison chapel in presence of the governor and warden of the jail, where Curley received the sacrament. Meanwhile a group of women, which had gathered outside of the prison were on their knees saying the litany for the dying.

Curley walked to the scaffold with but little assistance. He seemed to be resigned to his fate but was hardly firm. He declined to make any statement, leaving his connection with the crime for which he was executed. Death was instantaneous.

When the black flag, announcing that the execution had taken place, was hoisted over the prison, every man in the crowd outside, which numbered barely a thousand, and uncovered his head and murmurs of sympathy with Curley were uttered. A rush was then made for a garden near by, where Curley's relatives had assembled and where his father was kneeling and praying for the repose of the soul of his son. The people soon dispersed quietly.

HARRISBURG NEWS. Hopes for a Congressional Apportionment. Special Dispatch to the INTELLIGENCER.

HARRISBURG, May 18.—The congressional apportionment bill was to have been considered in the Senate this morning, but it was indefinitely postponed. CROWLEY ON ARTHUR. A Eulogistic Endorsement of the President. BUFFALO, May 18.—At the banquet of the engineers of the American water-works, last night, the Hon. Richard D. Crowley, regarding to the late President, said: "When Gen. Arthur came to the presidency he was surrounded by more difficult and embarrassing circumstances than perhaps any other chief magistrate, not even excepting Lincoln. He was elected against the great North to help him in his work, but when Gen. Arthur went in there was doubt and distrust among many and fear and trembling among others. Those who knew him best had faith in his integrity and ability to conduct the affairs of the government safely. I venture the prediction that when he has laid down the reins of office, right thinking men of both parties will say his administration has been not only a success, but that it has been wise, clear-headed and conservative."
