FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 18, 1883,

CHINESE BADLY BEATEN.

Their Comp Burned to the Ground, and Number of Them Seriously Injured. A dispatch from Victoria, B. C., says: Accounts from the mainland state that the conduct of the men who recently attacked the Chinese was cowardly and brutal. The white men, who had an altercation with the Chinese, beat them off with pick-handles. At night, when the Chinese were in bed, in their houses, their camp was attacked by a crowd of white men armed with clubs, with which they struck the Chinese as they rushed out of their cabins in the dark. Several were knocked down and some were unmercifully beaten. A good many escaped, but nine were left on the ground for dead, The mob then hastily set fire to the house and decamped. As soon as the white men left some of the Chinese hastened back to their camp and tried to put out the fire. But no water being at hand they were unsuccessful, and everything was burned. At daylight they gathered up the wounded and found that one man was speechless. He died at 5 o'clock in the morning. The Chinese sent to Lytton for wagons to bring the murdered man and the wounded to town. There being no white doctor willing to assist them the Chinese doctor at Yale was sent for, who gave it as his opinion that three more of the wounded men would die. An inquest was held, but it was found impossible to get a jury of twelve disinterested men, so strong was the feeling against them. After hearing all the evidence the jury returned a ver dict that the deceased had come to his death from violence at the hands of parties unknown. All of the nine Chinese had frightful wounds about the head, and in one severe case the brain appeared to be oozing from the skull. The coroner found it impossible to procure a medical examination of the murdered man. There is no evidence to justify the arrest of the suspected parties.

Fair on the runding Bill. A characteristic anecdote is related of Fair in his senatorial capacity. Soon after he took his seat, he one day met Mr. Dag gett the Republican congressman from Nevada, and said: "Daggett, this is a dull kind of a place. I don't hear any interest. ing talk here. I hear they are going to pass a funding bill. I don't much like that funding bill, because I have a bond or two myself." (He has $5,000,000 in government bonds.) "Well," said Daggett, "your Democratic friends would insist on pressing that bill. It has taken up time, and done a good deal of injury."
"Ididn't know that." "Oh, yes," said Daggett, "it comes from the Democratic "Well now, that is queer," said Fair; "that accounts for the singular look Senator Kernan gave me a few minutes ago." "What did Senator Kernan say?" asked Daggett." I did not know that it was a Democratic measure, and Senator Kernan said to me that the funding bill was up, and what did I think of it. I told him I thought it was a dishonest measure and nobody but a — thief would vote for it; and I thought that Senator Kernan
