No Trouble Feared. For some time the newspaper reporters and other well-informed persons of the city have known that a modified form of smallpox had appeared in the prison, but in deference to the wishes of the management and out of a desire to prevent any undue popular excitement over the matter, a full publication of the state of the case has been withheld. As exaggerated reports thereof are now in free circulation it is proper that the public be reliably informed as to the actual condition of affairs there, which in brief is,

1. One inmate of the prison, a man named Mohn, died recently of small pox, and not varioloid, as was reported. 2. There are now in the prison five men and one girl affected by varioloid, of varying degree, the case of the girl being most dangerous. 3. Besides these there are a number of other persons who have shown some of the preliminary symptoms of varioloid. 4. These patients are isolated from the rest of the prison inmater, but must be kept in the main building, as there is no other place for them. Disinfectants in large quantities are freely used; visiting at the prison is not allowed and all the prisoners are vaccinated. The prison authorities complain that some of the members of the board of inspectors who are opposed to Prisan Keeper Burkholder and Prison Physician Shirk have circulated exaggerated statements and sensational reports of the number of cases and the character of the dis ease. But the above summary of facts was obtained in an interview with Dr. J. K Shirk, the prison physician himself and one of the underkeepers, and there is no reason to question its accuracy.

The management of the prison is utterly at a loss to account for the introduction of the disease unless through carpet rags brought to the jail. When of the two cases which appeared some time ago, one proved fatal, the fact was communicated to the board of health, with the assurance that the prison authorities felt confident that they could prevent the spread of the pest. Since then these cases of varioloid have appeared, and Dr. J. A E. Reed, one of the members of the board, will visit the prison to day to report to his colleagues this evening the actual condition of affairs, and, at a special meeting then to be held, they will determine what is best to be done, and probably make an an nouncement to the public of what is necessary for ample protection.

Besides Dr. Reed the board consists of Dr. Levergood, M. H. Steigerwalt, H. R. Fulton, president, and Dr. C. H. Brown, secretary.

Dr. Shirk reports a number of cases of chills among the inmates, which he has reason to apprehend are the preliminary symptoms of varioloid. Nothing worse than this form of the disease, he says, can ensue, as all of the 106 inmates have been vaccinated, and varioloid is not fatal. The sick are put into separate cells, in pairs, away from all others and disinfectants are lavishly used, but there can be no removal of them from the main building, as there is no other place of confinement within the taken elsewhere. No visitors, not even policemen, are admitted within the prison doors, but the authorities cannot prevent persons whose terms have expired from leaving the jail and going out into the community. It remains to be seen what the board of health can do about it.

A Stop Blown Out.

The crown of the stop in the 24 inch water main near the city water works was blown out by the pressure upon it, and there was a very considerable loss of water from the reservoirs before the other stop just east of the reservoirs could be closed. There was a report circulated in connection with the accident that Wilson J. Fisher, an employee at the water works, had been killed, but there is no truth in the story. Neither he nor anyone

In May, 1856, he was commissioned by Gov. Pollock associate judge for the courts of Chester county, to fill the unexpired term caused by the death of Hon. Samuel Shafer. In October, 1858, he was again elected to the position in opposition to Hon. John Baily, and took his seat on Dec. 6, 1858.

" 11-" The Carlisle Sentenel, in its account of the game of baseball between the Dickinson and the Franklin and Marshall college nines, tells a plaintive tale of what might have been if the Carlisle boys had played better. They always had the game in their hands-and let it slip. The same report calls Heisler, of the Lancaster club, "a professional growler" simply because he insisted on fair umpiring. Manifestly the defeat of the Dickinson boys rubbed them in a raw place.

Runaway. Last evening a horse belonging to Watt & Shand was standing in front of Mr. Watt's house on Duke street during the storm. He frightened at the lightning and tors loose, breaking the iron post to which he was tied. He ran down Duke street with the carriage and struck a beer wagon, tearing the harness. He became loose from the wagon and ran to Swain' livery stable, where he boards. The carriage was damaged but very little.
