THE TRACK OF DEATH,

The Cyclone strikes the Lakes. gan during Sunday night. The schooner Jennie Linn, from Muskegon, capsized near Chicago, and her captain and three sailors were drowned. The schooner Mary Ellen Cook was driven over the outer breakwater at Chicago, the light having been extinguished by the tempest, and became water logged. Her crew were saved, except a boy, who jumped over board and was lost. The schooner Henry Berger, from Ludington, was driven against the breakwater and wrecked, but all on board was saved. The schooner all on board were saved. The schooner Lillie F., from Manistee, with a cargo of lumber, was driven ashore near the life saving station at the same port, but no lives were lost.—Off Milwaukee on Sunday night six of the crew of the schooner Petrel, thinking she would founder, deserted the captain and attempted to reach the shore in a yawl boat. The schooner kept affoat, but the yawl capsized, and three of the deserters were drowned. The others and the captain were picked up riam, Blue Hill yesterday. Other Marine disasters are per package. reported, with probable loss of life in

The steamer City Point, from Annapolis, Nova Scotia, for Boston, went ashere on Ispwich bar yesterday morning, filled with water and began to break up under a heavy sea. She carried 15 passengers, who, with the crew, were all rescued. The City Point was 18 years old, of 800 tons burthen, and was owned by the Hathaway steamship company of Boston, who esti-mate their loss at $250,000. Her cargo consisted of potatoes, eggs and fish.

After two days' rain in Ohio and Indiana, the storm extending from the Ohio river to the lakes, snow began to fall yesterday and last night. It melted quickly in most places, but in Toledo the fall was threes inches from noon to 3 p. m., with no abatement at the latter hour. At Cincinnati the temperature was 43 degrees against 75 on Saturday.

During a thunder storm near Yadkinvil'e, South Carolina, on Sunday, three plough men, who took shelter under a tree, were killed by lightning. Two boys were also killed by lightning near Newberne, North Carolina, the same day.

The death of Mrs. Griffin, at Sister,

Illinois, was reported yesterday morning, making the tenth victim at that place of the recent tornado. Dr. Griffin is still unconscious, and cannot recover. Two other persons are expected to die.

The Chicago Farmer's Review, in its crop returns from the entire northwest and southwest, says: "Winter wheat shows no improvement. In fact, its general coudition is not as promising as thirty days ago. Reports of poor seed and corn not coming up still continue quite general and the present season promises to be a repetition of that of 1882. The spring wheat areas are all doing well."

Recent Calamities James Colleran and Gower Evans, driver boys, entered an abandoned portion of the Mineral Spring mine, at Wilkes of the former was recovered last evening .- A botler in the Woolvaine paper mill, in Detroit, ex-ploded Monday, killing William Thompson, the engineer, and fatally injuring Peter Frank, the fireman. The building was damaged to the extent of about $55,000 .- A boy in the Reform school at Trenton, New Jersey, 17 years old, who was known by the name of Alphonso Linden, committed suicide on Sunday by hanging himself in his cell with a handkerchief .- John Matter and wife, three months married, were drowned at Lake City, Minnesota, on Sunday, by the upsetting of a sail boat -C, F. A FAMOUS MINSTREL. Who is an American Although Living in

"Pony" Moore, the London minstrel manager, who is the head of the firm of Moore & Burgess, is now in this country. Last week he spent some time in Phila delphia with Charlie Mitchell, the English pugilist, and the Times says of him : For a quarter of a century he has been one of the best known and most hospitable Americans living in London. He is the man that on July 4, 1876, drove his trotters and an American buggy at a three minute gait through one of the most crowded thoroughfares in London. He ran over a score of people and when arrested expressed no regret, but said that as he was an American citizen he thought he had a right to do as he liked on the glorious Fourth. This rabid kind of patriotism has on many occasions cost "Pony" much annoyance and a great deal of money. One of his first acts after becoming a partner of Mr. Burgess was to cover the matronly physiognomy of Queen Victoria which ornamented the centre of the drop curtain with a monster portrait of George Washington. For a time the English patrons of the place were displeased with this, and Mr. Burgess en-deavored to persuade his patriotic partner to have a picture of the queen hung be-side Washington. "Pony," however, wouldn't agree to anything of the kind and to make matters worse he decorated the interior of the place with American instead of English flags.

That there was a certain amount of method in his extravagant patriotism was known by the trouble he took to convince people that his was the only house of American minstrelsy in all Europe. He succeeded, and for years the place has been a small gold mine, from which Burgess and he has drawn three or four fortunes. Except on Sundays, the place has not been closed for eighteen years. In appearance "Pony' Moore is a cross between Edwin Forrest and an old time Bowery boy. He wears a half mourning silk hat, cocked jauntily on the right side of his head, and the dark hair on the side of his head is brushed forward carefully in locks. His purply black moustache is a triumph of tonsorial art. Forty odd karats of diamonds, divided into three stones and set an inch apart down the bosom of his shirt. give that part of his makeup quite a daz. zling appearance. Yesterday he wore dark clothes and carried a gold headed cane. "Pony's" long residence in London has given him a slight English accent, and his command of native and foreign slang is nearly perfect.
