PURE PAINT, AND WHERE TO BUY IT.

There is no advantage in buying and using the common mixed paints that are now flooding the markets. They can be bought at any price you offer for them, but you only waste your money and the work expended on putting them on Wadsworth, Martin & Longman's Paints cost more at first, but they go farther, look better and last longer than any other goods in the market. Don't buy paint till you have inquired into the merits of these goods.

TOSSED BY A MAD BULL.

PARKER'S LIFE AND DEATH STRUGGLE.

An Alderney That Did Not Mind Pitchfork Tines, and That Charged With Blood-shot Eyes and Foam.

N. Y. Sun.

A savage Alderney bull on the farm of William Parker, near Irvington, N. Y., four miles from Newark, attacked Mr. Parker, on Wednesday, both narrowly escaped death. Mr. Parker is 53 years old, and Sealander is 60. The former is a prosperous market gardener.

"Sealander is pretty badly hurt," said Mr. Parker yesterday. "He had no mind to go into the barnyard when that animal was there. The Alderney would follow any one of the family as gently as a puppy, but he was cross to strangers. We thought him when he was a little fellow, his color was a fawn, his eyes were bold and prominent as a bulldog's and his horns were long and stuck out straight forward. He was a beauty. In the center of the yard stood a large wagon in a mud puddle with soft bottom. It was the soft ground which was the cause of Sealander. He went alone into the yard, and the bull bounded at him while his back was turned. The animal's horns went on each side of the old man's body. One horn went nearly through his right arm. He was thrown against the wagon wheel and stunned, and he dropped unconscious into the puddle. While lying there the bull kept going him, but his body sunk so deep into the mud that the thrusts of the bull did not harm him except to keep the wind knocked out of him. For six minutes he lay motionless. He had no mind to get up until he was pulled out. He fell partly under the wagon he must have been trampled to death.

"A man whom I got from Castle Garden three days ago saw the whole affair from the beginning and, instead of trying to give the bull a kick, he ran to the house and told my wife what was going on. Her screams brought me and my son Walter from the field, and at the sound of our voices, as we ran up to him, the animal stopped and listened, and after seeming to look about him, he walked away. We carried Sealander to the house and restored him to consciousness. He is badly hurt internally.

"Then we tried to get the Alderney into an outhouse. I carried a long hickory-handled three-tined fork, and was circling about the brute when he turned square round in his tracks and flew at me. I didn't stir, but I let him have the fork the whole length of the times in the side of his head. Bill didn't mind it a bit more than if a straw had touched him. He tossed about a high pile of manure posts. I scrambled off, fork in hand, but before I could raise it Bill was on me again worse than before. He pitched me into the shed between the shafts of an old wagon and while was trying to climb into the wagon he kicked me and flung me against a solid board fence.

"It all happened quicker than you could say Jack Robinson. The fork was splintered in my hands and I dropped it. I thought my time had come, for he had caught me with his horns. He was tugging against dirt and mud, his eyes were bloodshot and foam dropped from his mouth. As I was about to shut my eyes in despair, my son Will, who had been chasing the animal all the time, ran up behind him and jabbed a long-tined fork into him three or four times. The bull's shoulder, dropped me to the ground and ran bellowing like the bull of Bashan to the other end of the yard. We got out pretty quickly. The next day we drove him away and had him killed at a slaughter house."

Mr. Parker is able to get out, but he cannot draw a deep breath without pain.

ANTI-DISCRIMINATION.

The Law Which Has Passed the State Senate.

SECTION 1. That any undue or unreasonable discrimination by any railroad company or any other common carrier, or any officer, superintendent, manager or agent thereof in charges for or in facilities for the transportation of freight within this state, of coming from or going to any other state, is hereby declared to be unlawful.

SEC. 2. No railroad company or other common carrier engaged in the transportation of property shall charge, demand or receive from any person, company or corporation for the transportation of property, or for any other service, a greater sum than that shall charge or receive from any other person, company or corporation for a like service from the same place upon like conditions and under similar circumstances, and no such company or corporation shall make any undue or unreasonable discrimination between individuals or between individuals and transportation companies in the furnishing of facilities for transportation upon like conditions and under similar circumstances. Any violation of this provision shall make the offending company or common carrier liable to the party injured for damages treble the amount of injury suffered.

SECTION 3. No president, director, officer, agent or employee of any railroad or canal company shall be interested, directly or indirectly, in the furnishing of the complete establishment of fraternal relations between the Northern and Southern churches. Rev. Dr. Herriek Johnson presented the report of the committee on bills and overtures. The assembly adopted an overture from the Cayuga presbytery recommending that the Presbyterian historical society and the general synods and presbyteries take measures to best observe the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of Martin Luther.

An overture from the Emporia (Nebraska) presbytery was adopted asking the assembly to grant the petition from one hundred and fifty Presbyterian members of Chief Joseph's band of Nez Perces Indians in Indian territory to return that band to the Nez Perces reservation in Idaho. Rev. George L. Spinning spoke in scathing terms of the injustice of the United States to the Nez Perces tribe—a tribe that never took a white scalp and never raised their arms till driven from their lands in violation of treaty. An overture was presented from several presbyteries regarding the Indian policy of the government; recommending that citizenship be conferred on all who ask for lands to be held in severalty; that intruders be kept from Indian territory and the reservations, and that inviolable faith be kept with the Indian in every respect. Rev. Dr. Johnson explained that the report was in unison with the action of the Episcopal general convention and the Methodist general conference. On motion of Dr. Howard Crosby the subject was referred back to the committee on overtures.

A resolution from the New Castle (Del.) presbytery asking the sanction of the assembly for a fund providing a memorial of the Rev. Francis Mackemie, the first Presbyterian pastor in the United States, in 1638, drew forth a statement from the Rev. Dr. Oakley, secretary of the historical society, that the Rev. Richard Denton, the ancestor of the Rev. Dr. John Woodbridge, a commissioner sitting in the assembly, was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Hempstead, L. I., at an earlier date. The matter was indefinitely postponed.

By unanimous consent, Captain R. H. Pratt, United States army, introduced six Indian students from the Carlisle (Pa.) school. They were two Crocks, a Comanche, a Kiowa, an Arapahoe and a Navajo, respectively. Coming upon the platform they sang, in good time, "My country, 'tis of thee," Robert Stewart, a Croek, made a brief address, asking why they could not live here and work at trades they had learned (he being a printer), instead of being forced back to reservations and a demoralizing idleness, when colored men and European immigrants could live where they pleased. A motion to take up the report of the committee on the Book of Discipline and to continue it until finished was carried. The work accordingly proceeded, and the most important of the amendments adopted were that ministers, elders and deacons suspended for immoral conduct shall not be restored, and that withdrawing members joining another church shall be dropped from the rolls without action unless charges have been presented and then prosecuted.

A Boy Attacked by a Catamount.

The inhabitants of Fountain Springs, a small village near Ashland are very much alarmed by the appearance of a large catamount, which has been roaming around the woods for some time past. About 9 o'clock, as a 3 year old boy named William Fetterman was returning from Ashland and when within five hundred yards of the Miners' hospital he was suddenly pounced upon by the catamount, which, he says, is fully ten feet long from tip to tip. It was a black catamount and was sinking its fangs into his leg when a teamster, named Westenhoffer, attracted by the boys screams, rushed to the scene and after a desperate struggle saved the boy. The catamount made its escape, and has not since been seen.

No Deception Used.

It is strange so many people will continue to suffer day after day from Liver Complaint, Constipation, Sour Stomach, general debility, when they can procure at our place, the famous STEARNS' LIVER OIL cured me. These are facts voluntarily given by a former patient of patient medicine. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

A Newspaper Editor.

G. M. Holcomb, of Bloomville, Ohio, writes to explain: "I had that terrible disease catarrh, for twenty years; couldn't taste or smell, and had to eat my food raw. Stearns' Liver Oil cured me. These are facts voluntarily given by a former patient of patient medicine. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

A Dangerous Counterfeit.

There are dangerous counterfeiters in circulation, who are selling a cheap imitation of Stearns' Liver Oil. The strongest evidence of its great value is the fact that parties knowing its great value try to induce the public to believe that Stearns' Liver Oil is a cheap imitation of a worthless water, which it possesses all properties necessary to restore the system, growth and color to the hair. Purchase only from responsible parties. Ask your druggist for it. Each bottle is warranted. STEARNS' LIVER OIL & STEARNS' PHOSPHATE, and HALL'S & RUCKEL'S New York. June-19th, 1883.

Depend Upon It.

Mother's Milk's prophetic and Lousiana election. Stearns' Liver Oil is the best thing. Let Thomas' Electric Oil can be depended on always. It cures all kinds of pains of every description. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.
