DECORATION DAY.

COLSCOVILLE'S OBATION TO THE G.A.R.

A Eulogy of the Soldiers-Their Cause Their Victories and The Land They Fought For. When the members of Geo. H. Thomas

Post filed into the court house last evening to the music of the Millersville band they found that the Knights' Templar festivities had sadly interfered with much of a turn-out. By the time, however, that the Rev. James Crawford had delivered a prayer appropriate to the occasion and Major Reinoehl had risen to introduce the orator of the evening, Col. James M. Sco-ville, of Camden, N. J., about half of the seats in the room were filled. The oration occupied forty minutes in its delivery.

Colonel Scoville said that he had come from a sick room to fulfill an engagement on a day full of interest to soldiers and civilians; he had come to a place that in its wealth, fertility and intelligence bears to Pennsylvania the same relation as does the blue grass region of Kentucky to his native state. This was the home of three of the great men who figured most prominently in the stirring times immediately preceding and during the war-James Buchanan, who was president of the United States when the conflict burst upon us; Thaddeus Stevens, whose grave I visited this morning and found there inscribed in marble that noble sentiment so so worthy of a noble man; and General Reynolds, [applause] to whose name many a soldier has answered to day, "dead upon the field of honor" in a war of righteous strength. It is that these graves and the graves of all our dead shall be kept green that we meet to-day In the good old day of Roman power and glory, Scipio Africanus went to the temples once a year to thank God for victories won; we meet to strew May flowers on the graves of comrades whose death made victory and a re-united country possible.

No Sectionalism. To-day we know no section. We have put it aside. To the North, to the South, to the East, to the West we constitute one people united under one flag, "now and forever." Upon many a bloody field from Roanoke to Shiloh, through the thick honors of a civil strife, amid want, privation and exposure, with a courage no danger could appall, a resolution no impediment could overcome, and a gallantry no opposition could resist, the boys in blue proclaimed to a startled world the power, he prowess and the perpetuity of these United States; and the boys in gray have returned their allegiance to the old flag and say, "Not yet, not yet, shall the Republic die." So now we strew laurel on the graves of the blue and willow on the graves of the gray. As the poet says :

These in the robings of glory ; Those in the gloom of defeat ; All with the battle-blood gory,

In the dusk of eternity incet No more shall the war cry sever, or the winding river be red :

They banish our anger forever When they laurel the graves of our dead.

Under the sod and the dow, Waiting the judgment-day— Love and tears for the Blue; Tears and love for the Gray.

Doing Their Own Thinking.

The American people do their own political thinking, and then as now those who attempted to establish a government on a falsehood were silenced by popular will. Southern men said: "Give us a tying effects of Glenn's Sulphur Soap. government of the few, a government of the privileged class; we are the aristoccracy, you in the North are the labor states," and the poison thus thrown into our political system by the Calhouns and Pickenses and Davises will require two hundred years more to thoroughly expell. But the people thought for themselves. The more these men built their toy house on the back of the black, and the more Chief Justice Taney decided that a " black man had no rights which a white man was bound to respect," the more the untable foundation shook beneath the weight of the flimsy structure and finally carried it to the ground. Illustrative of how swift Nemesis sometimes is in dealing out retributive justice, Colonel Scoville said that when sent to England ty Lincoln in 1864, he found the soldiers of Queen Victoria singing "John Brown's Body" on the banks of the Thames.

What Made Our Heroes Possible. The two greatest efforts of modern times to enslave the human race culminated in disaster at Marston Moor and Gettysburg. And while this latter victory was fought and won on Pennsylvania soil and is therefore a great honor and famous victory for the old Keystone state, it must be remembered that the valor, the privations and the patriotism of the rug ged Continentals of one hundred years ago made possible victory at Gettysburg. Virginia and Massachusetts! Jefferson and Adams!—the one with his dying breath admonishing "Be on Guard," the other sinking to his long rest with "Independance forever." From such as these sprung that "still strong man in a blatant land, General George H. Thomas. Even Phil Kearney, whose memory we will keep for ever and aye, might not have been possible without the patriotism of our forefathers. The Cradle of Liberty.

The family and the home make the cradle of liberty. It was here in the bosom of home, in the midst of the family circle where our dead comrades' youth was here that the stars and bars of our ble the strength than any other similar prepa country's flag whose glorious beauty sprang from the tracery of woman's gentle hand, first excited the admiration and wonder of infancy's eye. And it was to the home of his youth and his early manhood that many of our comrades, wrapped in the embrace of this cherished banners returned to fight no more. To-day many a mother, the last of that home circle, whose halting limbs forbid a journey to the cemetery, is thinking of the little mound we decorated in memory of her son who died that this nation might live. Noble Women.

God gave the country to men who can defend it and to women whose virtues, as Richard Cobden puts it, give rise to our forces. There never was anything good or great that did not come from woman. "If woman lost us Paradise," said John Randolph, of Roanoke, "she gained us The man who gave up his business, who too himself from his young wife and his little babe and who faced death at his country's call is a greater hero than Grant or Sherman or Sheridan; but the gentle woman who said to her husband, "Go, it is your duty" and who through long and dreary years suffered untold cares, fears and sorrows, what of her? It has been said that "the finest fruit earth holds up to Heaven is a man; let it rather be, "the finest fruit earth holds up to heaven is a woman."

Did They Die in Vain? Oh! no, our soldiers did not die in vain. When bayonets begin to think despotism begins to die. Four hundred thousand men and Abraham Lincoln died for me For sale at II. B. Cochran's drug store 137 and for you, and the shedding of their blood gave us a country "redeemed, regenerated, disenthralled." While the Grand Army lives let it teach fraternity, charity, patriotism, and then our principles and government shall live the incarnation of freedom; they shall live the em. bodiment of power and the majesty of the a large number of fine floral pieces, which were placed on the soldiers' graves. Mr. Wilson made an empassioned and patriot ic address, in which he paid high tribute to the valor and self-sacrificing patriotism of the Union soldiers. The band played a dirge, and the procession returned to the village and was dismissed.

At Springville. There were no formal ceremonies, but a number of citizens formed a line and marched out to Camp Hill cemetery where they decorated the soldiers' graves with fresh flowers. There were no speeches made, but a feeling of deep respect for the memory of the defenders of the country was expressed by all present.

A Baltimore paper says: Dr. George Reuling of Baltimore, the well-known Occulist an Artist, removed yesterday a piece of steel from the interior chamber of the eye of G Helene, by the introduction of a pointed powerful magnet. The steel had been lodged in the cornea and pushed by the constant en deavors of a physician to extricate it into the interior chamber, from where the Doctor re moved it by inserting the magnet in the slightly enlarged wound.

Dr. Reuling is not unknown in this commu nity by reputation. He is the occulist who performed the delicate and highly successful operation on the eye of Hon. RESCUED FROM DEATH. The following statement of William J. Cough in, of Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our read ers. He says : "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half-dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report west around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a triend told me of DR. WM. Parents Inquiring For Children Supposed have Been Victims--Western Pistol Practice.

NEW YORK, May 31.-A number of persons inquired at the police headquarters to-day for children or friends supposed to have been on the bridge at the time of the accident yesterday. There was, however, in only one or two cases reason to suppose that the missing persons might have been on the bridge. Those who were injured in the disaster and are still at the hospitals are all doing well, and in no case is it thought that the injuries will result fatally.

HARRISBURG NEWS.

The Appropriations in the Senate. pecial Dispatch to the INTELLIGENCER. HARRISBURG, May 31.—The Senate had under consideration this morning the gen-eral appropriation bill on third reading. When the provision was reached providing for the payment to clerks and employes of the Senate pro-rata compensation for services beyond the hundred days, Gordon opposed it on the ground that the act allowing the pay was unconstitutional. He had Gov. Hoyt's objections of two years ago read in support of his position. Mr. Gordon offered an amendment to strike out the clause, but it was defeated. Mr. McKnight moved to increase the amount proposed to be appropriated to the public schools from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000. After a long discussion and at the reading of a communication from the auditor general's department showing a probable deficiency in the state treasury, if the Jenkins bill to divert tavern and other licenses from the state to the county treasuries were passed, the amendment was defeated. The consideration of the bill will be resumed this afternoon. The Senate insisted on its amendment to the congres sional apportionment bill. The resolution was finally adopted, authorizing the application of unexpended balance of fish. ery appropriation of 1879 to improvement of fishery at Columbia and construction of fishery at Clark's Ferry. In the House.

In the House the Pittsburgh city char ter passed finally—yeas, 129; nays, 13, with proviso of Weihl that it shall be submitted to a vote of the people before becoming operative. The free pipe bill was defeated on final passage of the rejection of several amendments offered by its enemies. The vote was 94 for, to 88 against it. The bill lacking seven votes to pass it, the vote will probably be reconsidered.

The Senate bill, giving power to the courts of Lancaster county to sentence prisoners either to the Eastern penitentiary or county prison, passed finally.

WESTERN WAYS.

Prompt Use of Weapons. Salida, Col. 31.-Two drunken miners last evening created a disturbance, and City Marshal Stingley attempted to arrest The smallest dose of arsenic safely ad the marshal with a knife, and the latter Phares W. Fry's shot and killed him. The other miner, Thomas Minemeyer, then shot the mar-shal, Deputy Marshal Bathurst and a man named Gunnon. He then started for the mountain with a party of citizens in pursuit, and before he was captured he shot and killed William H. Brown, one of SCREEN, shot and Killed William the pursuers. Gunnon has since died and the pursuers. Bathurst and Stingley are in a critical strong talk of lynchcondition. There is strong talk of lynching Minemeyer.

THE THOMPSON TRAGEDY.

Mrs Thompson Denies the Stories Against CINCINNATI, Ohio., May 31 .- A statement by Mrs. Philip B. Thompson, the first she has made for publication, of the matters that resulted in the killing of Wal ter Davis by her husband, appeared here this morning. She denies pointedly that she was drunk at the St. Clair hotel, and calls God to witness that Walter Davis was innocent of any wrong towards her when she went into his room that night." says that she could not waken Miss Buckner and therefore she went into Davis' room. Her story was told at Mrs. Davis' house and in her presence. Civil Service in Philadelphia. PHILADELPHIA, May 31.-Dorman B. Eaton and Dr. Gregory, of the civil ser vice reform commission, and E. W. Clark, an advisory member of the board, began an inspection of the custom house and post office here this morning. After consultation with Postmaster Huidekoper the board selected The Shenandoah Valley Kailroad, three of the department superintendents as a board of examiners, whose duty it will be to examine the quaitications of all applicants for places in the respective de partments of the postoffice, after July 16th. The commissioner then visited the custom house where they had a private conference with Collector Hartranft.

Indignant Workmen. CHICAGO, May 31.—The striking bricklayers claim that after the agreement between the committee of bricklayers and master builders was signed on Tuesday, the document was altered by the president of the Master Builders association. An indignation meeting was held last night. The men are very bitter and refuse to be bound by the agreement. They did not resume work this morning.

An Drunken Man's Deed. BOSTON, May 31.—Bartholomew Neaon attempted suicide last night by outting his throat, but was discovered and taken to the hospital. This morning the dead body of Nealon's wife was found in their apartments. She had been murdered by her husband in a drunken frenzy. Nealon then went to his father's house, where the attempt at suicide was made.

Thinning Garden Vegetables

Germantown Telegraph.

It is generally a fear with sowers that their seeds will not all grow, and many more are sown than necessary. This is all very well, only it requires so much after-cultivation in thinning out, which very few properly do, or if they do it is not done in time to be much benefit to the growing crop. Any one who sees a field of turnips in the autumn will understand what we mean. If the harrow were drawn through when young over one-half the turnip fields the final yield would be one-thing to the seed of the Thinning Garden Vegetables turnip fields the final yield would be onethird more. Beets, carrots, salsify, pars nips and similar garden crops should be

There is no question that Paris greer, properly used, may be employed to kill nearly all noxious insects which take their food in solid form. The precautions to be observed are, not to poison the wrong animals or human beings; not to injure the crop to which the poison is applied; to give enough to kill the depredators, and to allow time for the rains to wash it off One great advantage is that as the quantity of poison is nearly in proportion to the bulk of the animal, the minute portion which is fatal to small insects has no effect whatever on a man, who weighs a hundred thousand times as much. Yet we would not advise any one to swallow this minutest portion, and it is not indeed necessary in any case. m. A statement has been published in some of the papers, that a cultivator protected his grapevines from the rose bug by applying the same mixture of Paris green in water that he used for potatoes. A second application was made after the rain washed off the first. It completely cleared the vines of the rose bug and the vines were unburt. The same and the vines were unhurt. The same

There are two essential requisites to be observed, namely, to have the water at the right degree of heat, and to continue the showering just long enough. As a general rule we find it best to apply the water rather hot, and but for a moment. Some experience and judgment are required to make these two requisites meet, and by not doing so many persons fall in the use and pronounce the remedy of no value. What we want is a series of experiments, in connection with the use of the thermometer, to determine what temperatures, and for how many seconds, will be required to kill the different destructive insects, and to ascertain how high a degree of heat may be applied to plants without injuring them. Soft larvae may be more easily disposed of in this way, doubtless, than hard shelled beetles; and old, matured foliage and growth will be less sensitive to hot water than young and tender growth.

The Cabbage Post. For two or three years past the cabbage crop has greatly suffered from the worm, which has become a most destructive enemy of this valuable vegetable. Many attempts have been made to get rid of it by resorting to half a score of different appliances; but so dense are the leaves and bulky the head, that it is next to impossible to dislodge all the worms, con cealed as many of them are, in the compact layers. The best remedy-one indeed that seems to be as ef fectual as, under the circumstances, it can be-is to take a half pound each of hard soap and kerosene oil, dissolve in three gallons of water, with which to thoroughly sprinkle the heads. A single application may be sufficient, but as it may not always be, a second, and perhaps even a third, may be necessary. This preparation has been tested over and over in the most careful manner, and it is re garded, though very simple, as a positive remedy. We print it now in brief, in order that the cultivators of the cabbage may have ample time to be ready for the Breeding or Raising Poultry.

A Texas correspondent of the American Poultry Journal makes the following very pertinent remarks on the difference between breeding and simply raising poultry: "There is a wide difference between the breeder of poultry and the person who simply raises poultry. There are hundreds of persons raising thoroughbred poultry, who know nothing of the principles of mating their fowls; they make up, perhaps, who know nothing of the principles of mating their fowls; they make up, perhaps, their breeding pens with so many hens to a cock without any idea as to their affinity, or relative qualities, and yet they advertise themselves as breeders. Many make no selections at all, but put all to breeding, sell and hatch eggs from them Confederate soldiers were present at the promiscuously, from one year to another, memorial services here yesterday. Breeders as a rule will select what they consider the best specimens they have, but to give a reason why they place a certain cock or cockerell in a pen with a given lot of thems and pullets, not one in twenty can do it. They take chances of raising nice fowls out of a large number, and still they will claim in their advertise ments that they are mated for the best results. True they hope to have the best results, but are unable to give a reason for the faith within them." MARKE18. Philadelphia Market Philadelphia Market.

If it is found that the crop is smaller than was anticipated almost any of these will do transplanted. We have seen crops of parsnips and beets so set out that made better roots than those from seed in the regular way.
