MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 4, 1865 BEEF TEA TOO TELN.

A scientific Physican Proves That it is bu Little Better than Bot Water.

N. Y. Herald. N. Y. Herald.

A Heidleberg graduate gave a reporter some facts and figures the other day that will surprise a majority of people. He said: "It is a thing most curious that almost everybody seems to regard beef tea as a kind of essence of all the nutritious and strengthening qualities of the mest. You will even beer some doctors talk about building up their patients on beef tea. Now, the fact is there is in a bowl of beef tea but little more nutriment than of beef tea but little more nutriment than there is in a glass of lemonade. How could there be? We know that the principal nutriment parts of beef, besides its 75 per cent. of water, are albumen and fat. Now albumen coagulates at 170 degrees Farenalbumen coagulates at 170 degrees Farenheit, and at 212, the boiling point, it becomes like eggs hard boiled. As a consequence, the albumen coatained in the meat becomes entangled in the meahes and is held there. Of course, then, the albumen does not find its way into the beef tea. As for the fat, the only remaining strengthening ingredient, that comes to the top and is always carefully skimmed off, for nothing is more disgusting to a sensitive of the cure of special diseases, as named, and for these diseases they are worthy of a trial by all intelligent sufferers. They are prepared expressly to and will cure sick headache, nerverties.

nothing is more disgusting to a sensitive appetite than greasy beef tea. And yet you will say that well made beef tea is very palatable and seems to do good in many cases of weak and disordered stom-By mail, two boxes for $1, or six boxes for achs, stimulating and nourishing.

"So it is and so it does. And yet beef tea is not nourishing. It is atimulating, however, and when we are sick and have no appetite we know that if we can get the stomach to retain a cup of beef tea it will not be long before the organ will call for something that is really substantial and nourishing. It has the same stimulating effect as a glass of brandy or whisky, without entailing the depressing after effect which alcohol produces. The ingre dient that gives to beef tea its strong, agreeable flavor is a fluid that is dissolved out of the white fibrous tissues of the meat, and which, as I said before, is no more nourishing than so much lemon juice. An experiment was made on three dogs, all as nearly alike as to age and size as we could get them. The dogs were all shut up in separate pens, side by side. For the first dog was ordered a diet of Leibig's extract of beef and all the water he wanted to drink. Dog No. 2 was restricted to water only, being allowed nothing whatever to eat, while the third animal was allowed neither food of any kind to eat nor water. Of course the dog that had no water was the first to die; but if you should guess which was the next to succumb you would probably make a mistake. It was not the dog that was allowed nothing to eat, but the one at the other end of the row, who died with a quantity of the meat extract within six inches of his nose. Nog No. 3, with nothing in his kennel but water, got along well enough for about a month and then died suddenly. We expected him to remain about six weeks, but I think the death of the other dogs had a distressing effect on him. Now, it is just as certain that the dog which died with the Leibig's extract under his nose was starved to death as it is that dog No. 2 died from the

How Much Will Do It. How much of Thomas' Eclectric Oil is re-quired to cure? Only a very little. A few drops will cure any kind of ache: and but a trifle more is needed for spains and lame-nesses. Rheumatism is not to readily affect ed; an ounce and sometimes two ounces are required. No medicine, however, is so sure to cure with the same number of applications. For sale by H. B. Cochran, druggist, 137 and 139 North Queen street.

First-Rate Evidence.
