PRESBYTERIANISM.

the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of a Pastor

As had been previously announced in these columns, the twenty-fifth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. C. W. Stewart, DD., at Union Presbyterian church, Colerain township, was celebrated yesterday by the preaching of an historical sermon significant of and appropriate to the occasion, and will be further commented on Wednesday, part by a congression. orated on Wednesday next by a congregational meeting and general celebration of the occasion. The exercises of yesterday called together a congregation which filled the spacious audience room of the church, probably the largest to be found in the county outside of the towns. It was a "perfect day in June ;" and to one who drove down to the place of celebration from this city early in the morning, the face of nature wore a most gracious and inspiring aspect. The odorous locust blossoms in many places were strewn upon the road like snow, the blooming sweet brier on the way side filled the air with the perfume of the wild rose, the blackberry bush held out its fleecy blossoms in rich profusion like tufts of wool caught on the brambles, all over the Black Rock hills the ferns flaunted in the breeze and laurel was bursting into white and pink bloom, the thickly set and fra graut clover covered the fields like a velvet carpet, and as the wind chased the sun across the tops of the wheat its surface shone like watered silk. In June, 1806, a traveler from Oxford to Lancaster saw not a single spear of clover on the lower side of the mine ridge. Yesterday he could have traveled theentire distance and seen no difference in the modes of cultivation or the perfection of tillage as he passed from the upper limestone region to what were once the "old fields" of Col erain, now blooming, fertile and productive lands—the change having been largely wrought by the thrift, the energy and enterprise of that Scotch Irish people whose virtues were commemorated by

In the devotional exercises of yesterday Rev. Dr. Stewart was assisted by Rev. Samuel J. Dickey, of Oxford, and after the usual prayers, singing and scripture reading the pastor began his discourse, based on the text, "And when they were come and had gathered the church together, they rehearsed all that God had done with them." Acts xiv: 27. Dr. Stewart traced the various lines of settlement of Pennsylvania and paid a just tribute to the Quakers, the Lutherans, Reformed, Mennonite and other German sects, but, of course, the Scotch Irish, and especially their settlements on the Octoraro and teachers, their pulpits and schools, was vividly set forth and the establish ment of the congregations of Chestnut Level, Fagg's Manor, Oxford and Octoraro, the distance from all of which for the peo ple around Union led to the movement in 1810 for the location of this church. Rev. Dr. Ebenezer Dickey, the Presbyterian preacher at Oxford, promoted the scheme and headed the list of subscribers with $40; and the paper dated June 22, 1811, bore the names of 127 subscribers, vary ing in amount from $40 to 50 cents; many of these names are those which remain familiar to the congregation. In 1812 a lot of 1 acre and 125 perches was bought for the church from Jos. Andrews, and though the edifice was so far completed in 1813 that Dr. Dickey preached in it, it was as late as 1831 before it was furnished with permanent pews. The bills and receipts, many of which were read by Dr. S, showed that it cost about $2,000, of which amount about $150 was yet owing In 1816 Mr. Dare was licensed to preach by the Newcastle presbytery, meeting in Columbia ; and, upon a call for half of his time at Doe Run and half at the Union, he was ordained as pastor of the Union, aud on Nov. 19, 1817, preached his ordination sermon from the text: "For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that though He was rich, yet for your sakes He became poor, that ye through His poverty might be rich;" 2 Corinthians, viii, 9 He continued in this joint pastorate until his death, Aug. 18, 1826 For two years the church had no pastor, when Alex. G. Morrison was called and served it until 1834. After another interval of three years, David McCarthy was called and re-mained pastor until 1844, when he was succeeded by Samuel Dickey, who continued in this relation until 1853. In 1850 the church building was enlarged and im proved. Between 1853 and 1855, the church was supplied, and in the latter year began the pastorate of G. Vanarsdale, which was a period of dissension, until he was suspended from the ministry and forbidden to preach in Union church. In 1857 at Columbia, like the first pastor of the church, the present pastor was ordained to preach and after Vanarsdale was ordered to cease. Mr. Stewart was directed to supply Union congregation, which he did until April 12, 1858, when he was called to the pastorate and on June 24, 1858, he was ordained pastor with a salary of $550. In 1859 the parsonage was built In June, 1865, the church experienced a great revival, when 140 members were added and the pastor's salary was raised to $1,000. In 1864 the absorption into this church and the return to it of the Free Presbyterian church, of Colorain, 18moved the last vestiges of discord and alienation. New demands for accomoda tions being created by the enlarged mem bership, the project of a new church was agitated, met with general favor and was resolved upon February, 1869. In May of that year the old church was torn down, the congregation meanwhile occupying temporary quarters. The new church was dedicated Dec. 16, of the same vear-and paid for. About this time Dr. Stewart had a call to Shippensburg and recognizing the needs of himself an family and the inability of his congregation to bear further strain he felt justified in accepting it and tendering his resigna tion, but upon the earnest appeal of his congregation to presbytery that body de clined to dissolve the pastoral relation and the congregation pledged itself to larger provision for the pastor. The parsonage was renovated and enlarged and the salary increased to $1,250. In 1882 another appeal for the improvement of the andience room was promptly responded to and not a dollar of debt rests on the property. Within these last twenty-five years 476 members have been admitted on profession of faith and 109 on letter; 289 adults and 229 children have been bap tized; 169 members have been buried; 149 have been dismissed to other congre gations; $43,000 have been raised for congregational purposes and $6,000 for benevolent objects; in 1859 $300 were raised for congregational purposes and $11 for benevolence, in 1863 the correspond ing amounts were $2,383 and $500. The above is a mere outline of an interesting resume of the historical facts of the church to the favor and blessing of God, the adornments and improvements put on the carnest cooperation of people and pastor, the absence of all discord in the little natural pride, it such a thing can be session and the intelligence, earnestness found in such a happy church that they and liberality of the trustees. With much have such a beautiful and comfortable feeling the pastor spoke of all these, and of the changes in the past quarter of a century, of the dead, and of the growth to manhood of the young and of all the incidents which mark the relation of pastor and pasons. The discourse which absorbed to be such a beautiful and comfortable building. And they have cause further to be proud and thankful that they can, in the words of one of the speakers present, "give the house back to God free of debt." and people. The discourse, which abounded in historical matter, deep feeling and a spirit of Christian devotion, will no doubt be published in full with an account of the entire celebration.

In the evening, to another large congregation, Rev. Dr. Stewart preached ver batim his introductory sermon of twenty five years ago on "For it is not a vain thing, for it is your light." On Wednes. day there will be a general celebration of the anniversary and many ministers and other visitors are expected to attend and participate in the exercises, one feature of which will be Rev. Dr. Alfred Nevin's recollections of old Donegal presbytery. June Meeting. At the regular June meeting of the Kirkwood Baptist church, Rev. J. B.

CHESTNUT LEVEL CHURCH. A New Tower-Various Improvements-Rev. Rutter's Memorial Window-The re-dedication of the Presbyterian church at Chestnut Level last Thursday, called out a very large congregation to attend the ceremonies, and see and pass judgment upon the many improvements just completed in, on and around the old familiar edifice. This church was one of the first churches in the state, and closely identified with the history, intellectual, spiritual and political, of our county, and, ndeed of the whole state, for it has been instrumental in moulding the character and sentiments of many of the strong and true men who aided in making our com munity and commonwealth what they are The first church at Chestnut Level stood about one mile south of the present one and was built previous to 1730. The second building stood at the foot of the hill from Chestnut Lovel to Fairfield near the "old graveyand."

One hundred and twenty years ago the present building was erected, large and commodious. Those who have tried or been in any way engaged in church building in these days of improvements, prosperity and liberality, can best appreciate the task undertaken by the old settlers who had no farms but clearings, and did not produce more than one bushel of grain where a hundred now grow. But had special reference to the occasion. The the possibilities of true hard work are built, the Word was preached, the children were baptized into the faith and taught to walk into the steps of the fathers and to venerate and subscribe to and exemplify by their walk and talk the traditions of their church. A great many of them were stiff-backed, it is true, as the world goes to day, but they were believed in sincerely, and none of us have a better creed than sincerity. When the church was built the pulpit stood at the side of the building instead of the end where it has been for many years. There were three doors, one in either end, and one in the south side, op posite the pulpit. An aisle, paved with bricks, ran from one end door to the other, intercepted in the middle by the one, similarly paved, coming from the west door. The pulpit was very high, claborately carved, with a large sounding board suspended over it. The pews were high backed, with doors at entrances, making all in all complete obstacles to the perfect enjoyments of new bonnets-but glorious places to sleep-if one could avoid the high up eye of the preacher.

During the pastorate of Rev. John Pat-ton, in 1833, or 1834, some repairs were made on the church; the pulpit and seats moved, and the congregation faced the east. The next alteration, which consisted of removing the pulpit to the west end, and toning down its height and elaborateness in a marked degree; the discarding of the high backs and pew doors, and other changes were made during the early part of the pastorate of Rev. L. C. Rutter, over 40 forty years ago.

Time's evolution had again put the church behind the period. About one year ago a congregational meeting was held and improvements and additions agreed upon. Messrs. A. S. Clark and James G. McSparran were appointed a committee to superintend the improvements. In their report to the church, on Thursday, they had the following figures to show: Total receipts from various sources $3,104 16, of which $2,389.03 were raised by subscription. Total expenditures, $3,103.79.

Notable among the improvements is the fine tower, which makes a large vestibule, and gives room in the church proper for ten more pews. A fine apartment is also arranged above t e vestibule, in the tower, for the accommodation of the choir, which room will be used for a ses sion room for the various church meetings also. The walls have been beautifully frescoed, the seats grained and the aisles newly carpeted. Stained glass adorn the windows and mellow the light most gratefully. One window is a beautiful memorial to the respected and beloved pastor, whose heart was wedded to the church, where be preached forty years, showering upon his devoted congregation such intellectual and spiritual manna as is seldom a congrega tion's privilege to receive. The memorial shows a fine sentiment in the church, and is a just and beautiful tribute to the dead pastor. The lettering is simply "In nemory of Rev. Lindley C. Rutter, 1835-1875"-the beginning and close of his charge as pastor.

The following ministers were present to take part in the exercises of the day, assisting the pastor, Rev. John Galbreath: Revs. Stewart, Davenport, Crawford, Clark, Turney, Randal, Anderson, Barbour and Cairns.

Rev. Dr. Stewart delivered the address. taking his text Ephesians iv, 11, 12, re counting his familiar acquaintance with the church for twenty-five years, his interest in its welfare during that time, his rejoicing at its prosperity and the pleasure it afforded him to see the present congregation perpetuating the interest in the church, and beautifying the grand old structure, erected by the hard work and self-denial of their forefathers.

In connection with his text Dr. Stewart gave the ministry some very plain talk regarding their duties, and offered some very good advice to the people as church

The formal dedicatory services were read by the pastor, followed by prayer by Rev. Crawford, after which a recess fo dinner was taken. The afternoon session was occupied by ministerial conference, with the thread of discussion the re dedication of Christians to the religion of Christ. The discussion was participated in by all the ministers church and his pasterate presented by Dr. present, and the sub Stewart. > A WUMAN'S EXPERIENCE. MRS. WILLIAM DOWNES, of Uxbridge, Mass writes on March 15, 1883, as follows:

" During the past three years I have been a great sufferer from a complication of diseases which baffled the skill of the most experienced loctors, as I could not obtain permanent reliet by their treatment and prescriptions; and I have also tried many so-called cures in the medicine line, but could get no relief. The pains, aches, and weckness increased so rapidly and constantly that I was so reduced in strength as to be unable to leave the bea, and the doctors informed me that there was no hope of grecovery. In this exhausted and di couraged condition a dear friend persuaded me to use Hunt's Remedy, and after taking it Soule, pastor, within a mile of Union, there was an immense attendance yesteronly three days I commenced to get better, and to my great joy and celight I have continued to improve constantly by its use, until now, after having taxen the remedy only a few weeks, I am able to be about my house again, and am now doing my housework. My lame back is cured, the severe pains have disappeared, and I am now in batter health than tor many years, and beg this privilege of gladrecommending Hunt's Remedy to all who are affected with any disease of the kidneys or liver; and I also highly recommend it for the attacks of sick headache. My husbanalso has experienced a very great benefit to his health by the use of this most valuable medicine, llunt's Remedy."

> "OUR FLAG IS STILL THERE." "MR S. B. Longrettow, Augusta, Me., eas side river, writes us under date of April 15,

> "To whom it may concern: This may cer lify that two years ago I was v ry badly afflicted with kidney and urinary difficulties which extended through the system and laid me up for weaks, so that I could do no work. I had the most skilful physician in town, who gave me no assistance. Hearing of Hunt's Remedy, I got a bottle, and half of it cured me entirely, so that I have been well ever since. The other half I gave to a neighbor who was afflicted much as I was, and it restored him to health. I can truly say Hunt's Remedy has been of great and inexpressible jll-lwdM,W&F&w

I will now state that I made a miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of akin diseases known. The patient is a man forty years old; had suffered fifteen years. His even scalp, and nearly his whole body presented a trightful appearance. Had had the attention of twelve different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodide potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment, with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use Curicura Rissouvent (blood purifier) internally, and the Curicura and Curicura Soar externally. He did so, and was completely sweed. The skin on his head, face, and many other parts of his body, which presented a most loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's, and no scar or trace of the disease left behind. He has now been cured twelve months. Keported by

VARIOUS QUACKS.

VARIOUS QUACKS

Who-Each with his own Pet Scheme -Curif

There have always been quacks:-legat quacks, theological quacks, scientific quacks and medical quacks. Some of them are bland, ofly fellows who argue and smile the world into believing in their favorite bit of humbug. Others pompous and pretentious parasites. But they make it pay. Men seem to love to be swindle I, stipu ating only that that it shall be neatly done. The dear public are equally liberal to the electric and magnetic frand This fellow is a genius in his line. He will put a magnetic belt around your waist, a magnetic necklace under jour chin, or fit you out with an entire suit of magnetic clothes, warranted to serve the purpose of ordinary garments, and at the same time to cure all diseases, from whooping cough to hasty consumption. Most of these tave no more sectric or magnetic power about them than resides I a woolen blankets or in girdles or sackcloth. Only when applied by an expert is electricity of the slightest use as a meticinal agent, and even the its value is grossly overstated What is the strongest possible presumptive evidence in savor of a particular remedy? Clearly that it should have prepa ed by responsible persons of ac'nowledged skill in the treatment of disease. Squarely on this foundation stands BEN-SON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER. Endorsed by 5,000 physicians, pharm icists, druggi ts and chemists, it needs no further apology nor introduction. It is the one and only true and tried external application. Quacks of all kinds pay the Capcine the complime t of their dislike, as Salan is said to hate holy Look in the middle of the plaster for the word " CAPCINE." Price 25 cents.

Seabury & Johnson, Chemists, New York. DENS 'N'S PLASTERS POR SALE AT B. B. Cochran's Drug Store, 137 and 139 North Quren street.
