

Lancaster Intelligencer.

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 12, 1893.

The Mormon Scare. There seems to be some perturbation felt and expressed in different religious quarters on account of a moderate degree of success that has attached to the efforts of Mormon missionaries...

Non-Partisan City Government. When the intelligent citizen and interested taxpayer of a municipality sits down and calmly reflects over the subjects of governmental interest that most closely concern him, those of his own city he can hardly fail to be impressed with the fact that they have no relation whatever to partisan politics.

As they can't get up a baseball club in Denver, Colorado, and the days of the pistol and bowie knife are fast passing away, the oldest inhabitants of the mushroom city of the prairies are lamenting the degeneration of this modern republic.

It is of universal interest, and yet may be a contribution to general popular knowledge, that the first ice cream ever made was by a French cook in Washington in the early part of this century, who when called upon to cater for one of the state dinners, said he would furnish a dish that had never been seen before, and he provided the dish known to day as ice cream.

A State Campaign. The campaign on the part of the Democracy in this state last fall was waged and won upon state issues. The party which carried the state by a plurality of nearly forty thousand protested against the long continued abuses of the Republican domination in the state and pledged itself to reform them.

It is very certain that Mr. John L. Sullivan, of pugilistic renown, has not torn himself away from the fascination of the prize ring. A few days ago his great son, thirteenth to bear the plaudits of spectators and his elephantine hands itched to fondle an antagonist.

There was a particularly terrible affair, in the opinion of the court of England, which recently occurred in Corunna, Spain. An English vessel lying in that harbor hoisted at her mainmast a Fenian flag, while at her foremast floated an English flag.

During a heavy storm that prevailed all over Northern Ohio last night and yesterday, Mrs. Helen Stratton, an old lady aged sixty-five, residing in Brooklynn village, Ohio, became so badly frightened by the heavy peals of thunder and the vivid lightning that she was taken with an attack of heart disease and died almost instantly.

LATE EVENTS.

THE NEWS IN CONGRESSIONAL PALMERS. Items That Reflect on the Affairs of the World in Every Direction.—Sensational, Caustic and True.

The strike at Blackstone, Rhode Island, ended yesterday, the speeder tenders at the mill resuming work. The grand lodge of Good Templars of the World opens its triennial session today.

The annual session of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers will be held to-day in Cleveland. The canker worms have appeared in large numbers in the vicinity of Concord, N. H., and the farmers say they fear the destruction of the fruit crops.

About fifty presidents, other officers and agents of as many fire insurance companies in Europe and America will hold a secret conference in Cleveland, Ohio, to-day. Its object has not yet been revealed.

A dispatch from Tombstone, Arizona, says that a prospecting party has netted gold to Guaymas from Lower California, and reports that there is no truth in the recent stories of gold discoveries in that region.

Judge Billings, in the U. S. circuit court yesterday, refused the application of the city of New Orleans, for a reduction of its appeal bond in the Gaines case. The bond is for $2,500,000.

A company has been organized in New York to lay two new cables between this country and Europe. It is said the enterprise is in strong hands, and that there is no doubt of its success.

Yesterday a session of the Star Route trial in Washington was devoted to hearing arguments upon the prayers for instructions to the jury. It is believed the charge to the jury may be delivered to-day.

During the month of May, the total increase in the Star mail service amounted to $39,615. During the same period the amount saved from decreased service was $30,025, making a net increase of service during the month of $9,590. In the steamboat service, the increase amounted to $129.

Thus far no open action has been taken by any of the trunk lines between New York and Chicago looking to the inauguration of a war in passenger rates, and opinions among railroad men as to the probabilities for the immediate future are very much divided.

THE STRIKERS' WAR.

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED. Fatal Shots Were Shot in Excited and Furious Struggle Between the Malleable Iron Workers and the Police Force on Duty.

The long strike between the union and non-union moulderers at the Malleable Iron works, in Troy, N. Y., culminated Monday evening in a bloody riot, in which Wm. Hutchison, an Irishman, was fatally wounded, and Arthur, a non-union moulder, was seriously wounded.

The riot, which resulted so seriously, began on Saturday night, when several shots were fired from a non-union boarding house near the works. Little attention was paid to the matter at the time.

Yesterday afternoon, however, several non-union men paraded up and down in front of Wm. Mahan's saloon, on Congress street, a resort frequented by union men, and acted in an aggravating manner.

About 8 o'clock, however, several union and non-union men met near Mahan's. Some on each side had been drinking, and in a short time a general row was in progress.

The non-union men, who had been armed since the beginning of the strike, several weeks ago, immediately drew their revolvers, and the union men followed suit. A ball having passed through his chest, killing him instantly, a half-minute later Joseph Weston fell with a bullet through his head.

He cannot live until morning. Then a man fell with two bullets in his leg, one of them inflicting a dangerous wound. The special policemen at the works and a large force of regular men under Superintendent Quigley soon arrived on the scene and experienced great trouble in saving the non-union men from the fury of the crowd.

One party appeared, headed by a man carrying a rope and shouting "lynch them!" The man who did the shouting was Sanford C. White, aged eighteen years, and Thomas Canfield, aged nineteen years. They were immediately taken into custody.

They were immediately taken into custody, surrounded them and had to fight desperately to prevent the infuriated crowd from taking them away. Theodore and John Jones, two apprentices at the works, who loudly manifested their indignation at the shooting, were arrested by direction of Superintendent Quigley.

SHOOTING AT A CONGRESSMAN.

An Attempt at Murder Growing Out of a Lineal Suit. Terre Haute, Ind., was set wild with excitement Monday afternoon by the attempted murder of John E. Lamb, congressman from this district, by Stephen Lamb, an attorney of that city.

John E. Lamb, congressman from this district, by Stephen Lamb, an attorney of that city, was stationed at the entrance to Lamb's office, when the latter approached and saluted him with "How are you?"

"Don't you speak to me," said Davis. "I will speak to you, I want to talk to you," said Davis, rounding off the sentence with epithets and immediately drawing a revolver and almost immediately firing at Lamb's breast.

The congressman threw up the weapon with one hand and dodged with the other, and passed over his shoulder and through a passing wagon, lodging in the driver's foot, and inflicting a painful wound. Lamb went into the store next door and Davis was taken in charge by the bystanders.

The cause of the attempt is attributed to a quarrel growing out of a lineal suit against the Eggers, in which Davis appears for the prosecution and Lamb for the defense.

Eight Days in a Stove. A Young Woman Becomes Unconscious and is Taken to the Hospital. The case of Miss Annie C. Chain, who has been lying in what is supposed to be a trance for the past eight days, is exciting considerable interest in the borough of Womelsdorf, a few miles from Reading.

The young lady is about 22 years of age, is quite pretty, and was a member of a good family. Up to Sunday afternoon, June 3, she was in apparent excellent health and spirits. She suddenly complained of giddiness and went to her room, where she dropped off into a swoon.

From that day to this she has not spoken a word, and her condition is such that she is supposed to be in a permanent trance. An electric battery was applied without any success. She lies perfectly still and is, apparently, unconscious of everything about her.

During the eight days of her strange affliction she has considerably fallen away. There is a small pulse and occasionally the extremities are cold.

Two Hundred and Thirty Hostile Indians Surrender to General Crook. An arrival Monday morning at Tombstone, A. T., from the Chiricahua, brings information that the Epitaph, that host of Indians, has returned to his expedition and is encamped on Silver creek, at the south end of the Chiricahua, where he arrived Sunday afternoon.

THE STRIKERS' WAR.

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED. Fatal Shots Were Shot in Excited and Furious Struggle Between the Malleable Iron Workers and the Police Force on Duty.

The long strike between the union and non-union moulderers at the Malleable Iron works, in Troy, N. Y., culminated Monday evening in a bloody riot, in which Wm. Hutchison, an Irishman, was fatally wounded, and Arthur, a non-union moulder, was seriously wounded.

The riot, which resulted so seriously, began on Saturday night, when several shots were fired from a non-union boarding house near the works. Little attention was paid to the matter at the time.

Yesterday afternoon, however, several non-union men paraded up and down in front of Wm. Mahan's saloon, on Congress street, a resort frequented by union men, and acted in an aggravating manner.

About 8 o'clock, however, several union and non-union men met near Mahan's. Some on each side had been drinking, and in a short time a general row was in progress.

The non-union men, who had been armed since the beginning of the strike, several weeks ago, immediately drew their revolvers, and the union men followed suit. A ball having passed through his chest, killing him instantly, a half-minute later Joseph Weston fell with a bullet through his head.

He cannot live until morning. Then a man fell with two bullets in his leg, one of them inflicting a dangerous wound. The special policemen at the works and a large force of regular men under Superintendent Quigley soon arrived on the scene and experienced great trouble in saving the non-union men from the fury of the crowd.

One party appeared, headed by a man carrying a rope and shouting "lynch them!" The man who did the shouting was Sanford C. White, aged eighteen years, and Thomas Canfield, aged nineteen years. They were immediately taken into custody.

They were immediately taken into custody, surrounded them and had to fight desperately to prevent the infuriated crowd from taking them away. Theodore and John Jones, two apprentices at the works, who loudly manifested their indignation at the shooting, were arrested by direction of Superintendent Quigley.

The cause of the attempt is attributed to a quarrel growing out of a lineal suit against the Eggers, in which Davis appears for the prosecution and Lamb for the defense.

THE STRIKERS' WAR.

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED. Fatal Shots Were Shot in Excited and Furious Struggle Between the Malleable Iron Workers and the Police Force on Duty.

The long strike between the union and non-union moulderers at the Malleable Iron works, in Troy, N. Y., culminated Monday evening in a bloody riot, in which Wm. Hutchison, an Irishman, was fatally wounded, and Arthur, a non-union moulder, was seriously wounded.

The riot, which resulted so seriously, began on Saturday night, when several shots were fired from a non-union boarding house near the works. Little attention was paid to the matter at the time.

Yesterday afternoon, however, several non-union men paraded up and down in front of Wm. Mahan's saloon, on Congress street, a resort frequented by union men, and acted in an aggravating manner.

About 8 o'clock, however, several union and non-union men met near Mahan's. Some on each side had been drinking, and in a short time a general row was in progress.

The non-union men, who had been armed since the beginning of the strike, several weeks ago, immediately drew their revolvers, and the union men followed suit. A ball having passed through his chest, killing him instantly, a half-minute later Joseph Weston fell with a bullet through his head.

He cannot live until morning. Then a man fell with two bullets in his leg, one of them inflicting a dangerous wound. The special policemen at the works and a large force of regular men under Superintendent Quigley soon arrived on the scene and experienced great trouble in saving the non-union men from the fury of the crowd.

One party appeared, headed by a man carrying a rope and shouting "lynch them!" The man who did the shouting was Sanford C. White, aged eighteen years, and Thomas Canfield, aged nineteen years. They were immediately taken into custody.

They were immediately taken into custody, surrounded them and had to fight desperately to prevent the infuriated crowd from taking them away. Theodore and John Jones, two apprentices at the works, who loudly manifested their indignation at the shooting, were arrested by direction of Superintendent Quigley.

The cause of the attempt is attributed to a quarrel growing out of a lineal suit against the Eggers, in which Davis appears for the prosecution and Lamb for the defense.

JOHN BRIGHT.

Commemorating His Quarter of a Century in Parliament. The celebration to commemorate the services of Right Hon. John Bright, as representative in Parliament for Birmingham for over a quarter of a century, was begun at Birmingham, England, Monday.

A procession of delegates from various liberal societies, a mile and a half in length, passed in review before Mr. Bright and saluted him. One of the chief features of the celebration was the presentation of a gold medal to Mr. Bright. The demonstrations at the railway station where Mr. Bright arrived in the morning and throughout the line of march resembled a royal progress. The route, which was five miles long, was densely crowded with people.

Mr. Bright has always had the kindest feelings. His attitude during the war of the Rebellion, when he stood for some time almost alone among eminent Englishmen, is remembered both in England and the United States. When President Lincoln died his gold-headed cane was given by the family to Dr. Smith, and he at his death bequeathed it to Mr. Bright, "as a token of esteem which the late president felt for him."

Events Near and Across the County Lines. John S. Bear, whose residence is unknown, was instantly killed by cars near Phoenixville yesterday. John Page, of North East, Erie county, aged 70 years, was recently married to Miss Elizabeth Williams, who had been his bride's brother recently married the groom's daughter.

The body of John Nelliker, who disappeared from Norristown on Saturday, was found in Indian creek, near that place, yesterday. He is supposed to have been accidentally killed when he stepped from a bridge's railing recently married the groom's daughter.

The body of John Nelliker, who disappeared from Norristown on Saturday, was found in Indian creek, near that place, yesterday. He is supposed to have been accidentally killed when he stepped from a bridge's railing recently married the groom's daughter.

Last evening the Philadelphia conference of the Evangelical Lutheran synod of East Pennsylvania met in the Whitehart church, Montgomery county. The sessions will be resumed this morning. The national convention of the Grand Order of United American Mechanics will hold its annual session in Philadelphia, beginning on the 19th inst.

The burning of a straw pile at the Codorus paper mills, at York, caused an alarm of fire to be sounded Monday afternoon. The fire, which broke out about 4 o'clock, was extinguished by the fire department. The straw pile, which was used for fuel, was completely destroyed.

For some time past the Philadelphia & Reading railroad company has been laying tracks through an area across the streets of Reading, Pa., ostensibly to keep the Pennsylvania railroad company out. The select council last night directed the city officials to tear up three of the tracks, if not removed by the company within fifteen days.

The unpaid Italian laborers on the Philadelphia & Chester county railroad at Haverton, Delaware county, Pa., are reported to have been "rioting for two days over the removal of some personal property." Yesterday morning the rioting broke out in the streets of Reading, Pa., ostensibly to keep the Pennsylvania railroad company out.

THE STRIKERS' WAR.

ONE MAN KILLED AND TWO WOUNDED. Fatal Shots Were Shot in Excited and Furious Struggle Between the Malleable Iron Workers and the Police Force on Duty.

The long strike between the union and non-union moulderers at the Malleable Iron works, in Troy, N. Y., culminated Monday evening in a bloody riot, in which Wm. Hutchison, an Irishman, was fatally wounded, and Arthur, a non-union moulder, was seriously wounded.

The riot, which resulted so seriously, began on Saturday night, when several shots were fired from a non-union boarding house near the works. Little attention was paid to the matter at the time.

Yesterday afternoon, however, several non-union men paraded up and down in front of Wm. Mahan's saloon, on Congress street, a resort frequented by union men, and acted in an aggravating manner.

About 8 o'clock, however, several union and non-union men met near Mahan's. Some on each side had been drinking, and in a short time a general row was in progress.

The non-union men, who had been armed since the beginning of the strike, several weeks ago, immediately drew their revolvers, and the union men followed suit. A ball having passed through his chest, killing him instantly, a half-minute later Joseph Weston fell with a bullet through his head.

He cannot live until morning. Then a man fell with two bullets in his leg, one of them inflicting a dangerous wound. The special policemen at the works and a large force of regular men under Superintendent Quigley soon arrived on the scene and experienced great trouble in saving the non-union men from the fury of the crowd.

One party appeared, headed by a man carrying a rope and shouting "lynch them!" The man who did the shouting was Sanford C. White, aged eighteen years, and Thomas Canfield, aged nineteen years. They were immediately taken into custody.

They were immediately taken into custody, surrounded them and had to fight desperately to prevent the infuriated crowd from taking them away. Theodore and John Jones, two apprentices at the works, who loudly manifested their indignation at the shooting, were arrested by direction of Superintendent Quigley.

The cause of the attempt is attributed to a quarrel growing out of a lineal suit against the Eggers, in which Davis appears for the prosecution and Lamb for the defense.