Oration-" The Champion of French Liberty "-Ed. S. Johnson, Lancaster. In the darkest epochs of history liberty has made her greatest efforts By the discords of warring nations creeds have been formulated and magna chartas have been secured. Great convulsions have been necessary ; deprive the pages of history of these and we rob from liberty the reasons that have made men worship her. The cause of liberty has given to history our martyrs and our greatest benefactors. On the hills of Scotland is yet cherished the memory of Bruce, and France still honors are unlimited, and he should take every the name of her great men who have advantage of them. Oration-"Compulsory Education' Geo. K Musselman, New Mahoning, Pa. marble of the sculptor, Among the In our country religion and intelligence have made great progress, but notwith standing there is a class of people who have no desire for the acquisition of knowledge. The question is, how are they to be checked? The law of compulsion at present is the only remedy. It has been tried with good effect. England has tried it and has found it a success. The word "compulsion" grates harshly upon our ears, but does not that law reign in harm the modesty of humanity. Which is the family, and is not the republic a the greater, those men who in our day family? The speaker argued that by the stand in the pulpit and pander to the enforcement of compulsory education great would be the results obtained. The ignorant are the ones who suffer ; it will alleviate their misery. It is estimated that every healthy and educated man is worth $27,000 to the state, and with compulsory education in force we shall have this increased, and find in every way that the attainments by its enforcement will be incalculable.

Oration-"Our Political Dangers."-Ezra II. Hottenstein, Kutztown, Pa.. In looking over the history of our country, we see that we have gone through many the true stands alone. Good manners are political dangers. The men who, inspired with the zeal of liberty and love of coun the simplest, good morals are the best and try, founded the nation, have left an in-heritance which they would not have lost. The orator then showed how, as the country widened and the population increased; political parties aross and in course of time became involved in partisan hostili ties. It is from this that we have need to fear for the safety of the country. There are yet dangers being every day made ap parent from which the country has much to fear ; the still rife spirit of party is de rogatory to our welfare, and it behooves all to watch carefully the daugers that simplicity. beset us. The Convention Gets to Work-John Mc Sweeney in the Chair-Waiting for the Gabernatorial Nomination.

COLUMBUS, June, 21 .- The Democratic state convention met at ten o'clock this morning. A large crowd was present. All preliminary organization was dispen-sed with and John McSweeney was made permanent chairman. The committee on resolutions not being ready to report, nom. inations for governor were proceeded with.

Naming the Entries

Efforts were made to proceed to balloting without names, but after a ong wait Senator Thurman crowded on to the stage amid the wildest enthusiasm. He followed T. E. Powell and seconded the nomination of General Durbin Ward. He made an able plea for recognition of the services of General Ward, warned the convention about tying themselves to any one issue and an-nounced that the party had always been against sumptuary legislation and should continue in that way. The names of Messrs. Hoadley and Geddes were then presented in order.

Preliminary Matters.

COLUMBUS, June 21 .- The several committees of the Democratic state convention, which meets here to day held sessions last night. Hon. John McSweeney, of Wooster, was chosen permanent chairman of the convention. This selection is hyorable to Hoadley. It was decided not to abolish the unit rule, and counties will vote as instructed. peasant poet of his country, has enshrined eloquence and wit sped the time until the himself in the hearts of his countrymen. Nothing was too humble, too weak for him to weave around it his genius, and in the songs which he sang he won the hearts and received the sincerest deference of his tellow-citizens. He was true to nature and found his delights in that which she offered for him. His letters do not show the beauty and simplicity of his poetry. They are often strained and affected ; but his poems are the embodiment of lowli ness, beauty and happiness. "Tam O' Shanter " and " The Cotter's Saturday Night" are the greatest of his produe tions, and in the whole English language nothing can compare, said the orator, with the former. The speaker then spoke of the instimable gifts Burns left his country, in the unadorned pearls and paintings of his imagination.

Oration-" The Fatality of Genius "-John W. Brown, Lancaster. When we remember how Byron, Burns and Johnson blasted their lives we must come to the conclusion that there is fatality in genius, and their failings touch our hearts and made us feel for them and pity them. The orator cited others who have fallen vic tims to their passions and from this fall suffered untold miseries. Do Quincy, with his horrible appetite for opium, Poe's career, cursed with this strange fa tality, were mentioned as prominent char-acters who had blasted their glorious aspirations and weakened, perhaps, the confidence of the world in them. Still we cannot blame them. 'Let us forget their failing ; let us pity them. They have given us superb gifts and we can only let them with their God.

Oration .- "Roman Slavery."-Maurice W. Manch, Hellertown, Pa. The greatness and strength of the Roman empire were dilated upon by the speaker, and the growth of slavery in the country portrayed. This evil launched the Roman empire into wars and their sufferings. Slavery occupies the most prominent place among the luxurious, and brings most terrible results The condition of the Roman slave was horrible indeed. In comparison with them the slaves of the South in America, can unhesitatingly be called gentiemen. The slaves of Rome were taken from her vanquished enemies and numbered among them bright mea of these peoples. But the time came when the iu ignities, the sufferings and the death of the slaves would no longer be brooked by them, and they rose like wild beasts to overthrow their keepers. The speaker drew a deplorable picture of slavery, and showed how terribly disastrous were its ffects upon the Roman empire, which at length fell by its captives.

that have disturbed the public it becomes apparent what are the true and necessary doctrines of the citizen Labor and capi tal are two factors from which society has much to apprehend. The partyism of political organizations has too much to do with the settlement of the questions by labor and capital, and should be eradica ted. It is the monopolist who is also one of those of our citizens who are trying to drown the spirit of patriotism. It is the duty of every American citizen to put down self-constituted bosses and use : nice discrimination as regards what is right for the country and the good and salety of society. They Took their Little Weapons to Mt Joy. Last evening a party of colored boys, who composed a singing club in this city visited Mt. Joy for the purpose of serenading some friends. Everything went quietly for a while after their arrival in that town, but finally several members of the club began growling and talking loud ly. "Sime" Book, a yellow fellow, seemed to be the principal in the disorder and Le directed his remarks specially to "Buz" Holsinger, the stout looking basso of the party. The men finally came together when Book drew a knife and cut . Holsinger two terrible gashes, one across the forehead and the other in the cheek. mence. The friends of the men finally separated them but Holsinger was severely injured. "Buz" had a revolver but did not use it. No suits have been brought as yet.

CONTRACT AWARDED.

Forniture for the Ann Street School. The committee of the Lancaster school coard on school furniture and apparatus, met Wednesday evening and opened the bids for inraishing the new Ann street school building with seats and desks. There were four bids made respectively by the agents of the "Peerless," the "Automatic," the "Paragon" and the " Triumph" desks and the contract was awarded to the Keystone school and church furniture company (the manufacturers of the "Tri umph" desk) of which L C. Eaby is agent. The prices asked by the Keystone and Buffalo companies wero almost identical, but as the furniture heretofore supplied by the Keystone has given such entire satisfaction to the board, the teachers and the pupils, the committee resolved to award the contract to that company. The new school building will require 54 single secondary desks, 6 secondary rear seats, 48 first primary desks, 72 second primary desks, 32 first and 24 second primary with ink wells, 10 first and 11 second primary seats, 4 secondary and 12 primary recitation settees each 8 feet long, 4 teachers' lesks, 4 blackboard pointers with lineal measures. The body of John Benhower, aged 15 years, who was drowned in the canal on the Sixteen Mile Level, east of Nanticoke, on Saturday evening last, was received by his parents at Bainbridge last evening, and was interred in the River View cometery with the usual ceremonies. This boy was employed as a driver on boats run by Captain Baker Kurtze, of Bainbridge. While coming through this level on Saturday evening, at a point west of Shickshinney, Captain Kurtze stopped his team for the purpose of feeding, and allowed the boats to drift along. Kurtze got out to feed the team, and told the boy, wlo was driving to drop from a bridge per. The boy followed his instruction, but in letting himself drop he mistook the positions of the boats owing to the darkness and fell into the canal. Kur ze heard his cries and quickly ran to the rescue, but owing to the darkness could not find him. The boy being unable to swim was drowned. The body was re-
