Interest In and Around the Borough Picked up by the Intelligencer Reporter. The river has fallen several inches since last evening at 8 o'clock. The R. & C coal wharf was partly covered by the water yesterday, as was also low lying parts of the shore. Many low islands below the dam are covered by the swollen river. The fishermen's fishing batteries have received damage to some extent, and a number of their fishing stands have been washed away. The borough alleys were all cleaned.

Bicycles and horseback exercising will begin again, now that the weather bids far to be a little more settled again. Boating will not become popular again until the river has less of a current than at present. Rowing now is hard work rather than pleasure.

ORANGE BLOSOMS

Brilliant Wedding at Mount Joy. A more brilliant assembly never graced Mount Joy than that which gathered at "Sunnyside," the pleasant home of Mr. J. E. Cassell, on Thursday evening, the oc easion being the marriage of his daughter, Miss Ella M. Cassell, to Mr. Charles S. Sayder of the firm of P. C. Snyder & Bro., of this city. There were about two hundred guests present including the elite of Mount Joy, scores of friends from Lancaster, and smaller parties from adjacent towns, as well as from Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Baltimore and other cities. The spacious mansien was profusely and clegantly decorated with flowers and vines and gorgeous foliage plants, while the lawn and gardens were illuminated with many Chinese lauterus. The marriage service took place at 9 o'clock in the evening and was conducted by Rev. C. Whitcomb, of Mt. Joy, assisted by Rev. Charles L. Fry, of Trinity church, this city. The bride, who was elegantly costumed, was attended by Miss Edith Johnston, of this city, as bridesmaid, the groom being attended by his brother, Mr. Edw. Snyder as groomsman. Messrs. Em'i Cassel, of Mt. Joy, and James Miller, Wm. Harkins and John E. Musselman, of Laucaster, officiated as ushers. Prof. F. W. Haas performed a grand wedding march on the piano. Many of the ladies in attendance were elegantly attired, and the scene was brilliant beyond descrip-

Drachbar, immerman, Bausman and Mellinger, singing some of their best pieces. Mr Howard Eberly, of Mount Joy, rendered some fine cornet music, and Mr. Charles Mowery, of this city, some fine pieces on the violin. A season of waltzing followed, and between 12 and 1 o'clock many of the guests took leave, returning to their homes. Many others remained an hour later, and accompanied the bride and groom to the railroad sta tion, wishing them godspeed on their wed ding tour, which embraces a trip to Harri-burg, Pa., Frederick, Baltimore, and Hagerstown, Md., the Luray caverns and Natural Bridge in Virginia, Washing-ton, Long Branch and Philadelphia, returning to Lancaster in about a month. The bride was made the recipient of hundreds of elegant and costly presents, including a full silver service, the gift of Miss Serena Snyder, the groom's sister, a magnificent pair of vases by Miss Dresher, of Norristown, and scores of others no less beautiful nor scarcely less valuable. There was but one drawback to the happy occasion : the absence of the bride's brother, Mr. J. C. Cassell, who expected to act as one of the groomsmen, but who being train master and gereral superinten dent of the telegraph department of the Shenandoah Valley railroad, was necessarily on duty on acpassengers on the road cousequent upon the unveiling of the Lee monument at Lexington, Va. The beau tiful and accomplished Miss Dresher, of Norristown, who expected to officiate as one of the bridesmaids, was also absent by reason of serious illness. But the kind tokens of remembrance and kinder words sent by the absent ones, in some measure compensated for their enforced absence.

To the Honorable the Select and Common Councils of the City of Lancaster:

"The petition of the undersigned Board of Health, of the city of Lancaster, respect fully represents that the laws and ordinances regulating the duties and fixing the powers of the Board of Health are found so deficient and lame that during the present prevalence of smallpox in the city, it is impossible to compel obedience to our rules and resolutions, and, therefore, cannot perform our duty to the expectations of the community in preserving the public health. The board, therefore, M. Bachenheimer and family have gone to have, by great labor and care, compiled an ordinance, as the law on the subject for the Board of Health and the citizens of the city, and believe that it is as perfect as can be arranged at present, and that its immedia e passage by councils will enable the Board of Health to perform its duties effectually and with great good to the

A Cree in Mystery. West Chester Local News.

On Sunday last a Mr. Supplee, residing on the Barry farm, in East Whiteland township, went to Lancaster county with his family, leaving at home a little girl Mary, daughter of Wm Quay, and a young lad a trifle older. On the return of the family, Sunday evening, they found the boy at home, but the little girl was missing. The boy professed to know nothing about her whereabouts. Search was made throughout the neighborhood and on the place nearly all night, but nothing could be seen or heard of her until late Monday afternoon, when she was found under a cherry tree and in an unconscious state. She was at once removed to the house, and Dr. Carey, of Glenloch, was sent for. An examination of her person was made, but nothing could be found to show that she had been assaulted, as was at first thought, and the supposition now is that she had been in the tree picking cherries and had fallen and injured her self. Our informant states that the child was still unconscious on Tuesday.

When a man is injured by another, intentionally, he usually brings a suit for assault and battery in the criminal court. Harry Slegel, of this city, has adopted another method, and has brought a civil suit in common pleas court against Jos. J. Doesch, the North Queen street saloon keeper. Slegel alleges that a few evenings ago he went into the saloon of Doesch's, with whom he got into an altercation. Doesch finally picked up a piece of gum hose, striking him on the hand several times and breaking the limb in two places. He wants $500 dam-

After sending telegrams and letters and all kinds of messages to the York baseball club, in reference to a game here on Saturday, and receiving no replies, Manager Speece, of the Ironsides club, went over to York yesterday. After considerable difficulty he managed to see a man who said he belonged to the club. When asked why he d d not answer the telegrams he could not tell. He promised to have the club hold a meeting last night and consider this matter. Mr. Speece returned to this city last night and has since received a dispatch that the club will not come to morrow. By the fooling around of the York club (if there really is an organized club there) the Ironsides have been put to considerable trouble and annoyance, as they were compelled to wait several days without receiving any reply to their inquirics. No game will be played to-morrow, unless arrangements can be made with the Molineaux club of Philadelphia, which is one of the best in the city, outside of the professional teams. If the York team had come here they would have been well paid and it would have been little trouble

THE TRAIL OF DASTABOLY CRIME.

A Quarrel Between two Families in Virginia Results in Murder-Other Phases of Wickedness—On the Gallows.

DANVILLE, Va., June 29.—A few days ago a quarrel arose between the Grant and Manning families, residents of the northern part of Pittsylvania county about some fowl which J. W. Manning was accused of killing. It is stated that Geo. F. Grant was thereupon urged by his mother to kill Manning, and that he crept on him while he was at work in a field, and shot him five times and afterwards beat him with his fist and stamped upon him, saying, "Now, d—m you, die." Manning died the following day, and Grant escaped.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. PRIDAY-FAIR AND WARM.

A daily ramble through the store discovers some new thing of interest somewhere. In summer and winter, at "the height of the season" or when business lags, there is still a steady stream of new goods coming in that keeps every point fresh. Many of the hotels on the con-Saison," or Hotel of the Four Seasons, and this store might fitly be called the store of all seasons, inasmuch as the stocks are not suffered to run down, though unexpected sales often clean out certain things entirely before we can duplicate them. Our constant aim and effort is to foresee the movements of trade and keep up the stock every day alike, so that customers may rely on finding at all times what is wanted. Each department is under strict command to keep up a perfect assortment, and if it is not at the counters somebody's at fault. Our customers could not do us a better service than to drop a postal to us at their convenience when they find our stocks

JOHN WANAMAKER.

Mr. Barnes, the head of the Lace stock, sailed in the "Werra" yesterday to make personal selection of Laces for the autumn. Selling Laces at moderate profits has built up a wonderful business in this department, and yet we have sufficient, when we go direct to the makers in Brussels, Paris and elsewhere for their productions. Lace Department, main assle, near centre.
