

Lancaster Intelligencer.

TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 3, 1893.

The Apportionment. The indecency of the Republican demand at Harrisburg for an unfair apportionment is so naked that it appears with marked force to the sense of justice in every intelligent minded man and journal in the state, not blinded by partisan greed and rancor.

It is a question whether in thus falling in with the purposes of Quay, Cooper, Mace and the other bosses the late Independents are not doing themselves and their pretended cause far more harm than they can effect good for the party to which their return is so loudly vaunted.

The Philadelphia Evening Telegraph calls upon Stewart to explain his extraordinary record in now supporting the McCracken congressional gerrymander which during the regular session he openly and firmly refused to support.

It is not so certain that the trade dollar must go. The York Age "trusts in God and a Democratic Congress," and will, therefore, take trade dollars same as any other dollars.

Judge Hoadley ought to take hope for his election as governor of Ohio from Keifer's prediction that he will be a weak candidate. Keifer never hurt anything that he did not help.

It is generally conceded that Edison knows as much as anybody about electricity, but most people are ready to agree with him that "electricity is a ten-acre lot, with a very high, close fence around it. All we know about it, so far, we have gained by peeping through the cracks in the boards."

There are 27 districts formed of single counties or their division, with an aggregate population of 2,474,887 under the 1890 census. The remaining 23 districts are composed of two or more counties whose aggregate population is 1,807,899, or averaging the districts into large and small, one half the number of districts have an aggregate population of 1,710,282, the other half an aggregate of 2,572,505.

STATE POLITICS.

THE WORK OF THE DEMOCRACY. The Work of the Democracy—The Probable Issues of the Coming Campaign. Staff Correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

When I came upon W. U. Hensel, chairman last year and this of the Democratic state committee, on a Pennsylvania Railroad train between Philadelphia and Lancaster the other day, he was reading "Dr. Claudius" instead of studying the map of the state to see how 15 Democratic congressional districts could be carved out without a gerrymander.

"What's new in politics?" repeated the field marshal after me. "I don't expect, no to know. I have been in Harrisburg very little this winter, and scarcely ever except when business called me there. The Democratic party elected a governor and a majority of the House to vindicate its pledges of administrative reform, and I think if the politics of the year, if I am classed among them, have been satisfied to let them do their work without much outside interference. After the House had organized and the governor's chief appointments were announced there was a notable absence during the winter from Harrisburg of Democratic politicians, and no appearance of any attempt on their part to boss the officials who had helped to elect. This strikes me as an auspicious. It has left the Democratic state administration and the House free to pursue that policy which best serves the general public good and, after all, that in the end serves their party best."

"To what extent have they succeeded?" "To a very great extent. The administration has certainly materially strengthened its own leadership, no man can doubt the fact that the personal relations of the governor and his small circle of confidential counselors with the party leaders in the Legislature and the state are not so good as they were a year ago. It is not so certain that the trade dollar must go. The York Age "trusts in God and a Democratic Congress," and will, therefore, take trade dollars same as any other dollars.

Judge Hoadley ought to take hope for his election as governor of Ohio from Keifer's prediction that he will be a weak candidate. Keifer never hurt anything that he did not help. The reduction in the public debt for June was over $18,000,000, and for the 12 months nearly $138,000,000. The reduction for last month is the largest ever made in a single month by the ordinary methods of business.

OVER one hundred of the Philadelphia school marms will marry during the present vacation and when school reopens the places that lately knew them will know them no more. They drew their pay for vacation before proclaiming the bans. It is generally conceded that Edison knows as much as anybody about electricity, but most people are ready to agree with him that "electricity is a ten-acre lot, with a very high, close fence around it. All we know about it, so far, we have gained by peeping through the cracks in the boards."

COMMON matches with a penny stamp on each box sold three for five—or two cents for the matches. Without the stamp they sell at two for three, or 1 1/2 cent per box against 3 of a cent per box before. Profit for the matchmakers by the new deal 125 per cent. Get out the tinder and boycott the monopoly. It is easy enough for the treasury officials to say the trade dollar "was not intended for circulation in the United States, but for export to China." But it bears the name, and mark and pious motto of our governmental coinage and hence was calculated to deceive. No cheap Chinese tricks on the Great American People.

THE Philadelphia Evening News presented its initial number yesterday as a one cent daily with a double sheet issue and a general typographical revocation, which greatly enhances its appearance; while the first number of the Wilkesbarre Daily Record came out yesterday under the new management of Messrs. Charles B. Snyder, Dr. Frederick C. Johnson and Joseph C. Powell, who have purchased the controlling interest in the Record. BUTLER keeps on roasting the Massachusetts Legislature. He has vetoed the two million tax bill, because he thinks one billion sufficient and a million and a half ample. He declines to adjourn the Legislature until fall, but declares a willingness to prorogue it anytime until next January. The people are looking at the Massachusetts fight very much in the frame of mind in which the old man regarded the conflict of Betsy and the bear. JOHN WANAMAKER came up smiling at Harrisburg yesterday and it was a cold day for the roosters who have been capturing the award of state supplies. He bid lowest and got the contract for House and Senate stationery, and for supplies for the departments and Legislature. With a responsible and reliable house furnishing these goods, and the intelligent and honest scrutiny of Secretary Stenger, the state will for once get the worth of its money. MR. CHARLES FRANCIS ADAMS, JR., has created some sensation by boldly attacking the study of the ancient classics as an essential to a college education in his Phi Beta Kappa oration at Harvard. The address likely occasions more comment because it was unexpected from that source, than from any novelty of the argument, which is the old presentation of one side of a very old question. So far as Mr. Adams' onslaught upon Greek goes, the Sun makes a good point when it says his own confession of utter ignorance of Greek—having forgotten even its alphabet—disqualifies him to criticize the beauty or utility of that language. As to some of his other points, the Tribune, in an extract which we reprint, seems to very nearly answer him.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

A LATE MISCELLANEOUS ASSORTMENT. The Varied Happenings Which Occurred Yesterday—A Prohibition Party's Action in Philadelphia. The Prohibition Home Protection party of the county assembly of Philadelphia, held its yesterday assembly building yesterday. There were present twenty men and three women. Dr. A. C. Pettit was elected permanent chairman. The nominees for state officers chosen at the Pittsburgh convention, May 30th, were endorsed, as follows: State treasurer, Ira B. Howard, of Venango; state auditor, J. R. Fordham, of Lackawanna. For the municipal offices to be filled in November next, the convention nominated Hiram De Walt for controller, Dr. Samuel H. Spruner, E. M. Cline for clerk of quarter sessions and T. Warren O'Neill for district attorney. The platform adopted declared that the movement is made to effect a reform that other parties have proved themselves inadequate to perform, and favored such a reform in its inception as would inculcate the children in the principles of total abstinence and prohibition. The Home Protection party of Camden yesterday nominated E. Ambler Armstrong for Assembly in the First district, and Robert Bingham of the Second. Both nominees are from the Republican party. Enoch Pratt Monday afternoon executed a deed of the property of the Pratt free library, on Mulberry street, Baltimore, to that city, and gave his check for $833,333.33 to be invested in city bonds for the support of the library. The building is nearly finished and the books will be ready to use as soon as the interior is ready to receive them. William H. Vanderbil has added $100,000 to the endowment fund of the Vanderbilt university at Nashville, making the total $700,000. The annual interest of the last donation will be applied to the support of a technical school in connection with the school of mining and education. Bids for the construction of the new naval cruisers were opened Monday at the Philadelphia office. There were only four bidders for such vessel. The contract will probably be awarded to John Roach, who is the lowest bidder at the following figures: For the Chicago, $850,000; Boston, $819,000; Albatross, $617,000; and the Dolphin (to be armed), $515,000. Forty seven bicyclists started Monday morning from Windsor, Ontario, on a tour through Canada via St. Thomas, Goderich, Stratford, Brantford and Toronto to Niagara Falls. The party includes wheelmen from Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Louisville and other American cities. Baseball yesterday: At St. Louis: St. Louis 1, Athletic 9; Brooklyn: Brooklyn 3, Yale college 2; Boston: Boston 6, Providence 1; Detroit: Detroit 3, Cleveland 15; Cincinnati: Metropolitan 4, Allegheny 4; Echelon 10; Philadelphia: New York 7, Philadelphia 6. Articles of association of the "People's Railway Company of America," were filed Monday with the secretary of state at Lancaster, and will, it is said, be filed with the secretary of the interior at Washington. The capital of the concern is stated at $175,000.00. Sunday was the 16th anniversary of the confederation of the British North American provinces. Yesterday was set apart for patriotic observance, and observed as Confirmation Day through the Dominion. It is said that the Bethlehem steel mill will be started next Monday and only workmen will be employed who will sever their connection with the Amalgamated association. KILLING HIS OWN SISTER. A Murder Quickly Followed by Suicide—An Exciting Story from the West. The people of Throg's neck, in Westchester township, N. Y., are excited over a murder and suicide. Miss Fanny Seaman, 28 years of age, whose father and mother are now residing with the family of Mr. William Ferris, a wealthy Quaker, who is related to the Seamans, her brother, William K. Seaman, 24 years of age, who was a frequent visitor at the house, had it appears, been engaged to marry a young lady of New York. She, however, had become attached to a man in the sister of her betrothed, broke her engagement with him. Young Seaman, who was not expected at the Ferris residence until the Fourth, took the train for Throg's Neck Sunday afternoon. On reaching the station, instead of taking Mr. Ferris' carriage, which was there in waiting, as usual, he proceeded on foot to the house, which is at some distance from the depot. On reaching the house it appears that he entered by a window, unseen by any members of the family, and wrote his way to a sleeping room in which his sister lay in bed. Suddenly the report of a pistol was heard. The household was at once thrown into a state of terrible consternation and before any one was certain as to whence the report came the body of the young man was lying through the doorway and the body of the young woman was lying in the room. It was now evident that a fearful tragedy was being enacted there. In an instant all the members of the household had gathered in the room. There was a horrible sight presented to their view. On the bed, with the blood streaming over the pillow from a wound in the head, lay the lifeless form of Fanny Seaman and on the floor lay the body of her brother, with the blood running from a similar wound. He was in the last stage of death, and near him was a revolver which had done the terrible work. He had evidently, immediately on entering the room, shot his sister, whose death had apparently been instantaneous, and had then fired a like fate to himself. He had a few minutes before the members of the family entered the room. At the office of the Lackawanna Iron and Coal company, No. 53 Wall street, it was learned that the name W. K. Seaman is on their rolls as that of an employee of the company at Seaman. It was said that he had been very hard at work with inventions, and it is believed that the strain caused by overwork had, together with other troubles, brought on mental derangement. WRECK AND RUIN. The Reign of Violence and Wrong. Violent thunder storms, accompanied by high winds and, in some cases, hail, yesterday afternoon visited many portions of New York and England. Much damage was done to property at Port Jervis, Binghamton and Hancock, in New York; Hartford and Waterbury, in Connecticut; and the Williamstown Valley, in Massachusetts. At Williamstown the new college gymnasium, which the alumni dinner was to have been eaten to-morrow was wrecked.—An outgoing Kansas City express train ran into a street car at a street crossing in Chicago, on Sunday night, smashing the vehicle to pieces. The lamps in the cars exploded, setting fire to the wrecked cars, and the result, in the car, only one escaped injury, and it is feared that two or three of the injured cannot survive. The driver of the car misunderstood the signal of the man stationed at the crossings. Mrs. Crover was dangerously ill not fatally shot by some boy who was yesterday playing with a toy cannon in an alleyway in the rear of her house in Newark, New Jersey. A minnie ball entered her back below the left shoulder and came out in front near the breast.—During the trial of a large engine on the summit of the Sierra Nevada, near Truckee, California, Monday, an accident occurred by which the engineer and a number of train men were injured, though none fatally. As before named, Mr. Powell, who had a long and distinguished career, was fatally shot by a bullet which was fired from the engine. He was taken from the jail at Bowling Green, Kentucky, Monday morning, and lynched by a mob of masked men.—Wiley Johnson shot Smith Stanley through the heart at Crofton, Kentucky, on Sunday. Both were drunk.—Valentine Dockweiler, was killed and Robert Reed severely injured by the fall of a shed while piling lumber yesterday in Pottsville. An Accident on the Beach. At Atlantic City, N. J., about 3:30 Monday afternoon, a carriage containing six persons, driven by Mr. J. M. Dorland, of the Evening News of Philadelphia, ran over Bertha Bair, a child 9 years of age. The little girl was standing near the edge of the surf by a playmate, who was lying in the seaweed. The feet of the off horse struck and knocked Bertha down, breaking a bone in her leg. Injustice to the result of which cannot be determined. In justice to Mr. Dorland, it is said that the vehicle was being driven at a moderate rate of speed and there was room for the little girl to get easily out of the way. Mr. Dorland was bound over by Justice of the Peace Zorn, in the sum of $500, to answer at the next term of court the charge of reckless driving. PERSONAL. GEO. M. KLINE, esq., and family are summering at Rehoboth Beach, Del. REV. C. F. KNIGHT, D. D., and family have gone to Saybrook Point, Conn. J. W. F. SWIFT has gone to Long Beach, N. W. J. T. W. HALL and RICHARD M. KELLY left this morning on a trip to the Thousand Isles, in the St. Lawrence river. DR. HARK, father of Rev. J. Max Hark, of the Moravian church, this city, is spending the summer in Lancaster. MR. JAMES P. BOYD, a well known Philadelphia journalist, formerly of this city, is also spending the heated term here. HARRISON HAMLIN to "Gath," who went to see him up in Maine: "My Lord! haven't you got more sense than to come here just as I am playing with a trout?" REV. STEPHEN H. TYNG, SR., who is 84 years old, has no recollection of anything occurring in the past 50 years, but as to events in 1830 and before he is perfectly clear. CAPT. FRANK GEISE, of York, denies that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination of auditor general, but Geo. W. McElroy announces himself for district attorney over there. MR. C. H. HECKERT, formerly of the Examiner of this city and now of the Bradford Era, is on a visit to his relatives in this city. Since he has been in the "northwest" his avowal of income has increased from 140 to 170. JOE JEFFERSON'S hobby now is fine cattle. He took a lot of valuable Alderneys down to his Louisiana farm in May, and it is estimated that his herd is now worth $75,000. He is painting a picture of a lovely field, in fact, which he has been offered $25,000 for. ADJUTANT GENERAL GUTHRIE, at Harrisburg has made the following appointments of aides-de-camp to his staff: Lieutenant Colonel Wm. Rose Harshbarger, Lieutenant Colonel Frederick E. Embick, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas J. Hudson, and Lieutenant Colonel Henry B. Plummer. Other appointments will be made. PROF. SEIDENSTICKER, of the university of Pennsylvania, an accomplished scholar, is visiting this city at present, the guest of E. K. Martin, esq. To-day he visits the historic community of Ephrata, of whose remarkable publications he is the historian in a series of papers running through the Power, a German publication at Cincinnati. BASEBALL. The Inter-State Association. At a meeting of the Inter-State Baseball association in Philadelphia yesterday a number of resolutions were adopted. Under the old one arranged at the beginning of the season, six games were to be played at home and six abroad, but, according to the new rule, which goes into effect to-day, each club will have to play during the next three months thirty games at home and thirty abroad, making sixty in the aggregate. The following umpires were appointed on the American association plan, and will travel with the clubs: John Holland, Reading; E. A. Griffith, Pottsville; Frank Bond, Camden, N. J., and Daly, Brooklyn, N. Y. The board of directors, composed of Messrs. Fox, Fields, Rodarmel and Weiss, rendered decisions in four cases of protest against the judgments of umpires. The first case called was that of the Active who appealed from the decision of the umpire in declaring a game favored of the Trenton club. Mr. Fox claimed that one of the Actives had made a home run, but that the umpire refused to allow it on the ground that the runner had not touched the bases. The umpire had ordered the game to be played over again. The next case was that of the Harrisburg club, who alleged that during the last half of the fifth inning in a game with the Trenton club it commenced to rain, and the umpire gave the game to the latter because the Harrisburg team stopped playing before the umpire called time. Mr. Rodarmel stated that according to the rules of the American association, the umpire was compelled to declare it "No game, unless five innings had been completed on each side, and postponement of the hearing of the case was refused, the decision of the umpire was sustained, and a request for a reconsideration was also refused, but permission was granted to take an appeal from the decision of the umpire to the board of directors. The protest of the Brooklyn club against the decision of the umpire in giving a game to the Actives was dismissed, as was also that of the Harrisburg club against the Wilmington club. Celebrating the Killing of From Slump Tax. Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock Dr. John R. Morris, manufacturer of Miesher's herb bitters, celebrated the abolition of the revenue stamp tax by giving a grand set out to his many friends. The collation was spread in the large room of his laboratory on Millin street, and around the board were gathered about one hundred of the doctor's friends. On a large tank at the south end of the room was the following: "Saeed to the Memory of U. S. R. T. Died July 1, 1893. Gone but not forgotten. Committee on Congressional Legislation. The People's Committee on Congressional Legislation: Rollins, Delano, Haun, R. I. P." The affair lasted about three hours, and was highly enjoyed by all who participated in the festivities. Faid His Oath. The mayor had but one customer this morning, and that was Jimmy Kelly, an old offender. He was found on West King street suffering from a sun and whisky stroke, with a bowl of cracked ice at his head; he recovered at the station house, and this morning found two five dollar bills in his pocket, with which he paid his costs and proudly took his departure. A Lady Knocked Down. This morning about 6 o'clock Mrs. Kaufman, lady of the Three Mile Tavern on the Harrisburg turnpike, was crossing East King street, was run against and knocked down by a butcher wagon and thrown under another wagon which was passing. She was not much hurt, but some packages of groceries she was carrying were broken and the contents lost. No Trade Dollars. The county treasurer has notified the tax collectors in the county that he will receive no trade dollars for taxes, so they can make their arrangements accordingly with those who pay taxes. There is a great deal of talk about the trade dollar and at nearly every place they are refused unless a reduction is made. A number of stores they are taken for five cents, provided goods are purchased in full. Condition of a Wounded Man. The condition of M. V. B. Keller, who had his leg cut off on Sunday, is quite encouraging today. The patient is a good natured fellow, and has a great deal of pain. The prospects are that he will get along well.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED. An Almshouse in Ashes—The Dauphin County House Burned—A Lively Chase After Lunatics. The burning of the Dauphin county almshouse, and insane department connected with the institution, Monday, was a calamity entailing a loss of $100,000, on which there is but an insurance of $24,000. The almshouse, to which is attached about one hundred acres of land, is on the Reading pike 2 1/2 miles east of Harrisburg. About noon, fire was discovered in the barn belonging to the almshouse across the road, in front of the main building, and in consequence of a scarcity of water and absence of the fire apparatus it was soon smothered, together with some of the early gathered inmates. The main almshouse building, built within the last ten years, at a cost of $70,000 was of brick and three stories high, and 50 by 150 feet. The flames from the barn set fire on fire, and a being evident that nothing could be done to avert the destruction, attention was turned to saving the inmates, and fortunately all were rescued in safety, though four or five were somewhat burned after getting out by their clothing taking fire. The insane department, which originally was the almshouse, was the rear of the main building, and in a short time was also on fire and destroyed. Nothing has been left of either of them but the bare walls. The firemen from Harrisburg tried to save the property, but the water was too scarce. The school-house and laundry building were, however, saved, and may be utilized in a measure to harbor and care for the paupers, who after the fire were huddled together in the fields and kept together and protected by a detachment of police sent by Mayor White of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose.

NEWS IN BRIEF.

A LATE MISCELLANEOUS ASSORTMENT. The Varied Happenings Which Occurred Yesterday—A Prohibition Party's Action in Philadelphia. The Prohibition Home Protection party of the county assembly of Philadelphia, held its yesterday assembly building yesterday. There were present twenty men and three women. Dr. A. C. Pettit was elected permanent chairman. The nominees for state officers chosen at the Pittsburgh convention, May 30th, were endorsed, as follows: State treasurer, Ira B. Howard, of Venango; state auditor, J. R. Fordham, of Lackawanna. For the municipal offices to be filled in November next, the convention nominated Hiram De Walt for controller, Dr. Samuel H. Spruner, E. M. Cline for clerk of quarter sessions and T. Warren O'Neill for district attorney. The platform adopted declared that the movement is made to effect a reform that other parties have proved themselves inadequate to perform, and favored such a reform in its inception as would inculcate the children in the principles of total abstinence and prohibition. The Home Protection party of Camden yesterday nominated E. Ambler Armstrong for Assembly in the First district, and Robert Bingham of the Second. Both nominees are from the Republican party. Enoch Pratt Monday afternoon executed a deed of the property of the Pratt free library, on Mulberry street, Baltimore, to that city, and gave his check for $833,333.33 to be invested in city bonds for the support of the library. The building is nearly finished and the books will be ready to use as soon as the interior is ready to receive them. William H. Vanderbil has added $100,000 to the endowment fund of the Vanderbilt university at Nashville, making the total $700,000. The annual interest of the last donation will be applied to the support of a technical school in connection with the school of mining and education. Bids for the construction of the new naval cruisers were opened Monday at the Philadelphia office. There were only four bidders for such vessel. The contract will probably be awarded to John Roach, who is the lowest bidder at the following figures: For the Chicago, $850,000; Boston, $819,000; Albatross, $617,000; and the Dolphin (to be armed), $515,000. Forty seven bicyclists started Monday morning from Windsor, Ontario, on a tour through Canada via St. Thomas, Goderich, Stratford, Brantford and Toronto to Niagara Falls. The party includes wheelmen from Detroit, Chicago, Milwaukee, Louisville and other American cities. Baseball yesterday: At St. Louis: St. Louis 1, Athletic 9; Brooklyn: Brooklyn 3, Yale college 2; Boston: Boston 6, Providence 1; Detroit: Detroit 3, Cleveland 15; Cincinnati: Metropolitan 4, Allegheny 4; Echelon 10; Philadelphia: New York 7, Philadelphia 6. Articles of association of the "People's Railway Company of America," were filed Monday with the secretary of state at Lancaster, and will, it is said, be filed with the secretary of the interior at Washington. The capital of the concern is stated at $175,000.00. Sunday was the 16th anniversary of the confederation of the British North American provinces. Yesterday was set apart for patriotic observance, and observed as Confirmation Day through the Dominion. It is said that the Bethlehem steel mill will be started next Monday and only workmen will be employed who will sever their connection with the Amalgamated association. KILLING HIS OWN SISTER. A Murder Quickly Followed by Suicide—An Exciting Story from the West. The people of Throg's neck, in Westchester township, N. Y., are excited over a murder and suicide. Miss Fanny Seaman, 28 years of age, whose father and mother are now residing with the family of Mr. William Ferris, a wealthy Quaker, who is related to the Seamans, her brother, William K. Seaman, 24 years of age, who was a frequent visitor at the house, had it appears, been engaged to marry a young lady of New York. She, however, had become attached to a man in the sister of her betrothed, broke her engagement with him. Young Seaman, who was not expected at the Ferris residence until the Fourth, took the train for Throg's Neck Sunday afternoon. On reaching the station, instead of taking Mr. Ferris' carriage, which was there in waiting, as usual, he proceeded on foot to the house, which is at some distance from the depot. On reaching the house it appears that he entered by a window, unseen by any members of the family, and wrote his way to a sleeping room in which his sister lay in bed. Suddenly the report of a pistol was heard. The household was at once thrown into a state of terrible consternation and before any one was certain as to whence the report came the body of the young man was lying through the doorway and the body of the young woman was lying in the room. It was now evident that a fearful tragedy was being enacted there. In an instant all the members of the household had gathered in the room. There was a horrible sight presented to their view. On the bed, with the blood streaming over the pillow from a wound in the head, lay the lifeless form of Fanny Seaman and on the floor lay the body of her brother, with the blood running from a similar wound. He was in the last stage of death, and near him was a revolver which had done the terrible work. He had evidently, immediately on entering the room, shot his sister, whose death had apparently been instantaneous, and had then fired a like fate to himself. He had a few minutes before the members of the family entered the room. At the office of the Lackawanna Iron and Coal company, No. 53 Wall street, it was learned that the name W. K. Seaman is on their rolls as that of an employee of the company at Seaman. It was said that he had been very hard at work with inventions, and it is believed that the strain caused by overwork had, together with other troubles, brought on mental derangement. WRECK AND RUIN. The Reign of Violence and Wrong. Violent thunder storms, accompanied by high winds and, in some cases, hail, yesterday afternoon visited many portions of New York and England. Much damage was done to property at Port Jervis, Binghamton and Hancock, in New York; Hartford and Waterbury, in Connecticut; and the Williamstown Valley, in Massachusetts. At Williamstown the new college gymnasium, which the alumni dinner was to have been eaten to-morrow was wrecked.—An outgoing Kansas City express train ran into a street car at a street crossing in Chicago, on Sunday night, smashing the vehicle to pieces. The lamps in the cars exploded, setting fire to the wrecked cars, and the result, in the car, only one escaped injury, and it is feared that two or three of the injured cannot survive. The driver of the car misunderstood the signal of the man stationed at the crossings. Mrs. Crover was dangerously ill not fatally shot by some boy who was yesterday playing with a toy cannon in an alleyway in the rear of her house in Newark, New Jersey. A minnie ball entered her back below the left shoulder and came out in front near the breast.—During the trial of a large engine on the summit of the Sierra Nevada, near Truckee, California, Monday, an accident occurred by which the engineer and a number of train men were injured, though none fatally. As before named, Mr. Powell, who had a long and distinguished career, was fatally shot by a bullet which was fired from the engine. He was taken from the jail at Bowling Green, Kentucky, Monday morning, and lynched by a mob of masked men.—Wiley Johnson shot Smith Stanley through the heart at Crofton, Kentucky, on Sunday. Both were drunk.—Valentine Dockweiler, was killed and Robert Reed severely injured by the fall of a shed while piling lumber yesterday in Pottsville. An Accident on the Beach. At Atlantic City, N. J., about 3:30 Monday afternoon, a carriage containing six persons, driven by Mr. J. M. Dorland, of the Evening News of Philadelphia, ran over Bertha Bair, a child 9 years of age. The little girl was standing near the edge of the surf by a playmate, who was lying in the seaweed. The feet of the off horse struck and knocked Bertha down, breaking a bone in her leg. Injustice to the result of which cannot be determined. In justice to Mr. Dorland, it is said that the vehicle was being driven at a moderate rate of speed and there was room for the little girl to get easily out of the way. Mr. Dorland was bound over by Justice of the Peace Zorn, in the sum of $500, to answer at the next term of court the charge of reckless driving. PERSONAL. GEO. M. KLINE, esq., and family are summering at Rehoboth Beach, Del. REV. C. F. KNIGHT, D. D., and family have gone to Saybrook Point, Conn. J. W. F. SWIFT has gone to Long Beach, N. W. J. T. W. HALL and RICHARD M. KELLY left this morning on a trip to the Thousand Isles, in the St. Lawrence river. DR. HARK, father of Rev. J. Max Hark, of the Moravian church, this city, is spending the summer in Lancaster. MR. JAMES P. BOYD, a well known Philadelphia journalist, formerly of this city, is also spending the heated term here. HARRISON HAMLIN to "Gath," who went to see him up in Maine: "My Lord! haven't you got more sense than to come here just as I am playing with a trout?" REV. STEPHEN H. TYNG, SR., who is 84 years old, has no recollection of anything occurring in the past 50 years, but as to events in 1830 and before he is perfectly clear. CAPT. FRANK GEISE, of York, denies that he is a candidate for the Democratic nomination of auditor general, but Geo. W. McElroy announces himself for district attorney over there. MR. C. H. HECKERT, formerly of the Examiner of this city and now of the Bradford Era, is on a visit to his relatives in this city. Since he has been in the "northwest" his avowal of income has increased from 140 to 170. JOE JEFFERSON'S hobby now is fine cattle. He took a lot of valuable Alderneys down to his Louisiana farm in May, and it is estimated that his herd is now worth $75,000. He is painting a picture of a lovely field, in fact, which he has been offered $25,000 for. ADJUTANT GENERAL GUTHRIE, at Harrisburg has made the following appointments of aides-de-camp to his staff: Lieutenant Colonel Wm. Rose Harshbarger, Lieutenant Colonel Frederick E. Embick, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas J. Hudson, and Lieutenant Colonel Henry B. Plummer. Other appointments will be made. PROF. SEIDENSTICKER, of the university of Pennsylvania, an accomplished scholar, is visiting this city at present, the guest of E. K. Martin, esq. To-day he visits the historic community of Ephrata, of whose remarkable publications he is the historian in a series of papers running through the Power, a German publication at Cincinnati. BASEBALL. The Inter-State Association. At a meeting of the Inter-State Baseball association in Philadelphia yesterday a number of resolutions were adopted. Under the old one arranged at the beginning of the season, six games were to be played at home and six abroad, but, according to the new rule, which goes into effect to-day, each club will have to play during the next three months thirty games at home and thirty abroad, making sixty in the aggregate. The following umpires were appointed on the American association plan, and will travel with the clubs: John Holland, Reading; E. A. Griffith, Pottsville; Frank Bond, Camden, N. J., and Daly, Brooklyn, N. Y. The board of directors, composed of Messrs. Fox, Fields, Rodarmel and Weiss, rendered decisions in four cases of protest against the judgments of umpires. The first case called was that of the Active who appealed from the decision of the umpire in declaring a game favored of the Trenton club. Mr. Fox claimed that one of the Actives had made a home run, but that the umpire refused to allow it on the ground that the runner had not touched the bases. The umpire had ordered the game to be played over again. The next case was that of the Harrisburg club, who alleged that during the last half of the fifth inning in a game with the Trenton club it commenced to rain, and the umpire gave the game to the latter because the Harrisburg team stopped playing before the umpire called time. Mr. Rodarmel stated that according to the rules of the American association, the umpire was compelled to declare it "No game, unless five innings had been completed on each side, and postponement of the hearing of the case was refused, the decision of the umpire was sustained, and a request for a reconsideration was also refused, but permission was granted to take an appeal from the decision of the umpire to the board of directors. The protest of the Brooklyn club against the decision of the umpire in giving a game to the Actives was dismissed, as was also that of the Harrisburg club against the Wilmington club. Celebrating the Killing of From Slump Tax. Yesterday afternoon at four o'clock Dr. John R. Morris, manufacturer of Miesher's herb bitters, celebrated the abolition of the revenue stamp tax by giving a grand set out to his many friends. The collation was spread in the large room of his laboratory on Millin street, and around the board were gathered about one hundred of the doctor's friends. On a large tank at the south end of the room was the following: "Saeed to the Memory of U. S. R. T. Died July 1, 1893. Gone but not forgotten. Committee on Congressional Legislation. The People's Committee on Congressional Legislation: Rollins, Delano, Haun, R. I. P." The affair lasted about three hours, and was highly enjoyed by all who participated in the festivities. Faid His Oath. The mayor had but one customer this morning, and that was Jimmy Kelly, an old offender. He was found on West King street suffering from a sun and whisky stroke, with a bowl of cracked ice at his head; he recovered at the station house, and this morning found two five dollar bills in his pocket, with which he paid his costs and proudly took his departure. A Lady Knocked Down. This morning about 6 o'clock Mrs. Kaufman, lady of the Three Mile Tavern on the Harrisburg turnpike, was crossing East King street, was run against and knocked down by a butcher wagon and thrown under another wagon which was passing. She was not much hurt, but some packages of groceries she was carrying were broken and the contents lost. No Trade Dollars. The county treasurer has notified the tax collectors in the county that he will receive no trade dollars for taxes, so they can make their arrangements accordingly with those who pay taxes. There is a great deal of talk about the trade dollar and at nearly every place they are refused unless a reduction is made. A number of stores they are taken for five cents, provided goods are purchased in full. Condition of a Wounded Man. The condition of M. V. B. Keller, who had his leg cut off on Sunday, is quite encouraging today. The patient is a good natured fellow, and has a great deal of pain. The prospects are that he will get along well.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED. An Almshouse in Ashes—The Dauphin County House Burned—A Lively Chase After Lunatics. The burning of the Dauphin county almshouse, and insane department connected with the institution, Monday, was a calamity entailing a loss of $100,000, on which there is but an insurance of $24,000. The almshouse, to which is attached about one hundred acres of land, is on the Reading pike 2 1/2 miles east of Harrisburg. About noon, fire was discovered in the barn belonging to the almshouse across the road, in front of the main building, and in consequence of a scarcity of water and absence of the fire apparatus it was soon smothered, together with some of the early gathered inmates. The main almshouse building, built within the last ten years, at a cost of $70,000 was of brick and three stories high, and 50 by 150 feet. The flames from the barn set fire on fire, and a being evident that nothing could be done to avert the destruction, attention was turned to saving the inmates, and fortunately all were rescued in safety, though four or five were somewhat burned after getting out by their clothing taking fire. The insane department, which originally was the almshouse, was the rear of the main building, and in a short time was also on fire and destroyed. Nothing has been left of either of them but the bare walls. The firemen from Harrisburg tried to save the property, but the water was too scarce. The school-house and laundry building were, however, saved, and may be utilized in a measure to harbor and care for the paupers, who after the fire were huddled together in the fields and kept together and protected by a detachment of police sent by Mayor White of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED.

ALMSHOUSE BURNED. An Almshouse in Ashes—The Dauphin County House Burned—A Lively Chase After Lunatics. The burning of the Dauphin county almshouse, and insane department connected with the institution, Monday, was a calamity entailing a loss of $100,000, on which there is but an insurance of $24,000. The almshouse, to which is attached about one hundred acres of land, is on the Reading pike 2 1/2 miles east of Harrisburg. About noon, fire was discovered in the barn belonging to the almshouse across the road, in front of the main building, and in consequence of a scarcity of water and absence of the fire apparatus it was soon smothered, together with some of the early gathered inmates. The main almshouse building, built within the last ten years, at a cost of $70,000 was of brick and three stories high, and 50 by 150 feet. The flames from the barn set fire on fire, and a being evident that nothing could be done to avert the destruction, attention was turned to saving the inmates, and fortunately all were rescued in safety, though four or five were somewhat burned after getting out by their clothing taking fire. The insane department, which originally was the almshouse, was the rear of the main building, and in a short time was also on fire and destroyed. Nothing has been left of either of them but the bare walls. The firemen from Harrisburg tried to save the property, but the water was too scarce. The school-house and laundry building were, however, saved, and may be utilized in a measure to harbor and care for the paupers, who after the fire were huddled together in the fields and kept together and protected by a detachment of police sent by Mayor White of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose. The sight presented by nearly three hundred paupers and insane, when gathered in the fields, was one of the saddest that could be imagined. Crippled old men and women, children and infants of parents mangled and nearly crazed because of the loss of Harrisburg, for that purpose.