MEDICAL CUTICURA
SALT RHEUM.
 Wonderful Cures of Salt Rheum when Physicians, Hospitals and all other means failed.
SALT RHEUM
 I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for thirty years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of all kinds and I feel good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to CUTICURA REMEDIES. Got them and I used them until my skin felt perfectly smooth and clear. I am now entirely cured. Yours truly,
 AGAWAM, MASS. B. WILSON LORD.

SALT RHEUM
 CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case of Salt Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe CUTICURA would have saved her life. My sister, breast and face were almost raw. I used CUTICURA and was cured in four or five days, which nothing relieved or cured until I used the CUTICURA. Remedy (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA SOAP (the great salt cure) externally.
 NEWARK, OHIO. J. W. ADAMS.

SALT RHEUM
 I have tried every thing I had heard of in the East and West for Salt Rheum. My case was considered a very bad one. My face, head, and some parts of my body were almost raw. Had it for thirty years. Suffering fearful. One very skillful physician said he would rather not treat it, and some of them think now I am only cured temporarily. I think not, for I have not a particle of Salt Rheum about me, and my case is considered wonderful. It thanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES. DECATUR, MISS. HEN. S. K. WHIFFLE.

SALT RHEUM
 No system of remedies ever compounded so thoroughly eradicate the disease for which they are intended as the CUTICURA REMEDIES. Many remarkable cures have come to my knowledge, and I feel sure in warranting satisfaction in all directions are to be found. Medicines that infallibly cure Salt Rheum, CUTICURA REMEDIES with every kind of skin disease.

BENSON'S CAPICINE PAIN PLASTER
HOME COMFORT.
 After a Tasty Ride a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of Some People.
 "I wish to gracious some people would learn when they meet a doctor and when they don't!" exclaimed Doctor K— as he entered his house in a cosy little village in the interior of the State of New York, after a tedious night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains to see a man, who the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live till morning, unless he had immediate help; and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colic, which his family might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay him or not."
 "Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remedies, did you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea.
 "In this case," answered the Doctor, "if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPICINE PAIN PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have been all right in an hour, and saved me a dreary ride."
 In all ordinary complaints it cures at once. All diseases are eliminated from the system by what may be roughly called expulsion or extraction, or by a union of the two processes. Benson's Plaster promotes both. It induces the torpid organ to act, and sends its healing, soothing influence through the myriad pores of the skin. All other plasters obliged the patient to wait. They give him hope for to-morrow. Benson's plaster give him help to-day. Which is better do you think? Buy the CAPICINE and keep it in your house. Price 25 cents.

LAST DAY FOR VETOES.
$50,000 WITHHELD FROM CHARITIES.
 The Governor Thinks he Must Draw the Line Somewhere and Give No Money for Scientific Agricultural Experiments.
 At high noon Friday an audience composed of one bootblack, three reporters, five coatless statesmen and a one eyed gray cat stood in the portico of the capitol building. Deputy Secretary of the Commonwealth Shumaker formally reading, according to law, the governor's proclamation giving the titles of all the bills passed by this Legislature that have been approved and vetoed. Of the 253 bills that were sent to the governor 135 have become laws and 60 have been vetoed. The 30 days allowed the governor to act upon bills expired at the moment that Deputy Secretary Shumaker began to waste his eloquence upon the villainous English sparrows. His bills of interest and remembrance in the governor's mind, with the veto of the appropriations to charitable, educational and other institutions.

Charities Knocked "out."
 He has vetoed appropriations to charitable institutions amounting to $50,000, as follows: Home for Friendless Women and Children, $10,000; Hosien, $10,000; Philadelphia, $10,000; Union Home for Old Ladies, Philadelphia, $5,000; Meadville City Hospital, $5,000; Harriet Hospital, Erie, $10,000; and Pittsburgh Dispensary, $10,000. The governor says that his reason for withholding his decision upon these bills until the last moment was to prevent his conclusions from being open to the charge of having been hurried or rashly formed. He says that the bills appropriating money for charitable purposes, including hospitals and other institutions not purely charitable, amounted to over $2,000,000. Upon no other bill had he been appealed to "so personal, so persistently, so pathetically, and by persons actuated by more disinterested and honorable motives." That some of the bills could not be vetoed without causing much distress and suffering and that the Legislature had a technical constitutional right to pass the bills the governor admits. He therefore sought the principle upon which to draw the line.

Why Paterson Resisted.
 The constitutional provision requiring a two thirds vote for the passage of an appropriation to a charitable or educational institution under the absolute control of the state is not, in the governor's opinion, that while the people did not want to close the door entirely upon such institutions, yet they intended that appropriations of that kind should be the exception and not the rule. Notwithstanding this, the bills in question have continued to grow, until now they exceed those of any former year. The governor has determined, if possible, to at least prevent the extravagance of becoming any greater. He did not hesitate to veto the appropriations to the institutions that had complied with the law requiring them to give notice annually to the revenue agent of the board of public charities, on or before the first Monday in November, each year, of the amount which they propose to ask the state to give them, and of the purposes to which the money is to be applied. It is the agent's duty to ascertain whether the applicants deserve what they ask and report to the board. Of the appropriations approved by the governor, not one has been recommenced by the state board. There were seventeen other bills appropriating an aggregate of $207,500, which had not been approved by the board. Five of these latter institutions received state aid in 1881, getting $40,000; now they are given $75,000. The twelve remaining institutions are now applicants and get $129,500. What do to these seventeen bills puzzled the governor.

Cautioning the Next Legislature.
 At first he was disposed to let them become laws without his approval by lapse of time and place the responsibility upon the Legislature, because the two thirds vote that had passed them would have been sufficient to carry them over a veto. Finally he concluded that this would be the evasion of his duty. His impulse was to disapprove them all and he believes that he would have been justified in so doing, as they had not complied with the law. But he decided "to relax the rigor of the law for the present" in cases which he thought to be the most urgent and apply the veto to those only which he believed it would do the least harm. He signed all bills for institutions whose object is exclusively the care and education of friendless and destitute children and for hospitals in regions where large numbers of laboring people are engaged in industries attended by much danger.

A WASTE OF MONEY.
 The Appropriation for Experiments in Agriculture for the year 1883, by the passage of a scientific agricultural experiment station in connection with the Pennsylvania state college and appropriating therefor $100,000 per year for four years, the governor says plainly that the college is good for nothing and that is the reason for his veto. The title of the bill, he says, indicates that it is a bill to establish an experiment station, but it does more than that. It provides for the sale by the certain farms and the application of the purchase money for the maintenance of another experimental farm at the state college. The governor remarks that the history of the college is not such as to induce the belief that any practical good ever has or ever will come from it. It has been a costly and useless experiment from the beginning. Its affairs have twice been investigated by committees of the Legislature, and though the majority reports of these committees have fully extolled the college authorities from any official misconduct, they have demonstrated the absolute uselessness of the institution. The college never had the support or confidence of the people. They would not send their children to it, although the institution has been imploring for pupils and offering most inviting inducements. "My own observation," says the governor, "at the meetings of the state board of agriculture since I have become a member of it, by virtue of my office, and the information I have gained from conversation with the practical farmers in attendance upon those meetings, convince me that that board, and not the state college, is the body to which the agricultural classes look with most respect, in which they have most confidence and from which they have derived most benefit." While the bill is certainly for the purpose of creating an experiment station, it is really intended to revivify and reestablish the college on a larger basis and at a present additional expense to the state of at least $10,000 a year. The money raised by the trustees from the sale of their two farms is directed to be paid into the state treasury. Thus far well, if the bill stopped there. But it provides that interest on this money, at six per cent per annum, shall be paid to the trustees by the state treasury. The college would convert part of its property to cash and use it to borrow it at six per cent. The state can get all the money it wants at four per cent, and sell its bonds at a premium. The bill makes the fund inviolable and binds the state forever to be a borrower.

PARKE'S TONIC.
With Pen and Pencil.
 "No, sir; I don't believe newspaper men are any more dissipated than any other class of men who earn their living by their brains," said Mr. A. B. Stegler, manager of the St. Paul Pioneer Press. Still, those of them who do work are tempted to stimulate, for it's very hard on the nerves and stomach."
 "As for example—?"
 "As for example, in my own case, I stuck to my desk on this paper until my nerves were like a bunch of telegraph wires after a gale, and my stomach kept about as good time as a two dollar watch. My friends suggested this and the doctors advised that, but one day I 'caught on' to an 'ail' of Parke's Tonic, and tried it. I have never enjoyed a proprietary medicine before, but I shall depart from my rule and say that the Tonic is not merely the best thing, but the only thing that breaks up these attacks. All desk workers should make a habit of using it."
 This preparation which has been known as PARKE'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be advertised and sold simply under the name of PARKE'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are continually deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as ginger is really an unimportant ingredient, we drop the misleading word. There is no change, however, in the preparation, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of PARKE'S GINGER TONIC, contain the genuine medicine.
