TO PROPERTY OWNERS AND PAINTERS.

As a business transaction would you be willing to pay one dollar for an article you could purchase for ninety cents ? We are the agents for Lancaster and vicinity for Wadsworth, Martinez & Longman's Pure Prepared Paints.

And we claim that they are the best and cheapest paints in America. And we don't make this assertion and leave it unsupported. Paint one-half of any surface or one-half of any building with this paint and the other half with strictly pure White Lead and Linseed Oil, of any other mixed paints in this country, and if the part painted with this paint does not cost ten per cent, less than for paint used, we will make no charge for our paint. And further, any building that has been painted with this paint that is not satisfactory to the owner, and not remaining so for a proper term of years, we will repaint at our own expense with White Lead and Linseed Oil or any other paint he may select. As many of the prepared paints are adulterated with benzine and water we make this liberal offer. We will pay one thousand dollars for any benzine or water found in any original package of WADSWORTH, MARTI-NEZ & LONGMAN'S PURE PREPARED PAINTS

SALT RHEUM

Physicians, Hospitals and all other means failed.

SALT RHEUM I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for thirty years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tied good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to Curicura Remedies. Got them and used them until my skin is perfectly smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Yours truly, Agawam, Mass.

CUTICURA RENEDIES are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case of Satt Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it I believe CUTICURA would have saved her life. My arms, breast and head were covered for three years, which nothing relieved or cured until used the CUTICURA ESSOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

NEWARK, Ohio.

J. W. ADAMS.

I have tried everything I had heard of in the East and West for Salt Kheum. My case was considered a very bad one. My face, head, and some parts of my body were almost raw. Head covered with scabs and sores. Suffering fearful. One very skillful physician said he would rather not treat it, and some of them think now I am only cured temporarily. I think not, for I have not a particle of Salt Rheum aboutme, and my case is considered wonderful. Tranks to Cuticura Remedies.

HOME COMFORT

Atter a Rainy Ride a Country Physician Tells What He Thinks of Some People. "I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Doctor E ____, as he entered his house in a cosy little village in the interior of the State of New York, after a ted .ous night ride of many mites. "I have been down among the mountains to see h man, who the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live 'till morning, unless he had immediate help; and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colle, which his family might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay him or not." "Why, Doctor, what kind of simple remedies, as you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wite, as she pouted him a cup of hot tea.

'In this case," answered the Doctor, " if they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach, he would have been all right in an hoar, and saved me a dreary ride."

In all ordinary complaints it cures at once. All diseases are eliminated from the system by what may be roughly calle! expulsion or extraction, or by a union of the two pro cesses. Benson's Plaster promotes both. It incites the torpid organs to act, and sends its healing, soothing influence through the myriad pores of the skin. All other plasters obliged the patient to wait. They give him hope for to-morrow. Benson's plaster give him help to day. Which is better do you think? Buy the CAPCINE and keep it in the house. Price 25 cents. MR. ARTHUR.

A THUROUGHLY MASCULINE MAN.

Fashionable President-A Favorite

What a Fashionable Lady Told About Our of the Widows and Maidens, Washington Herald. " Should you have thought that President Arthur is a very susceptible man?" said a fashionable woman, who has a very thorough knowledge of the world, to me the other evening. "Well, he is," con tinued she. "And he can no more help making love to a pretty woman than he can help breathing. In the first place, he is a masculine man: by that I mean he is manly in every respect, and women like that. Then, as I said, he cannot help making love to a pretty and clever woman. I don't mean that he goes at it in a half sheepish, half rough and tumble way, or tells every woman that he meets that she has fascinated him, as very young men are prone to do, but there are ways and and ways of making love. An accomplish ed man of the world can court a woman and never say a sentimental word to her. There is a way of saying and doing things; it is the je ne sais pas quoi of delicate devotion which attracts a woman of brains and culture, when the spoken word would probably repel. This the president underthe railroad near by, and, turning around saw Maguire in the cornfield. The boy stagels in the highest degree. A score of women—widows, some others numarried have felt their pulses quicken under some word or look, and straight way the most am bitious fancies takes possession of them. When in fact there was nothing further from the president's fancy than anything beyond innate politeness, the compliment any well bred man pays as his homage to the sex. Half a dozen girls and their ambitious mothers have believed they had fairly 'bagged' Mr. Arthur, when in lact he never thought the second time about them. I know of some very funny things growing out of this sort of fancy. I will tell you one. Last winter there was a very pretty girl here from the principal city of a great Western state, and she was presented to the president. Of course he was polite, as he always is, and she immediately thought she 'had' him. Her knowledge of the world was extremely superficial, and her mother had very little sense or knowledge of the usages of of the fearful act. His father is engaged the best society. She boasted of her daughter's conquest to her acquaintances, and finally the story was telegraphed to a Western paper. A friend of the president saw the dispatch and showed it to him. That evening there was something going on at the White House. Our flamboyant child of the Occident was there, clothed in her radiant loveliness and a perfectly fitting gown from Pingat's, and she was very pretty. She had intimated to about twenty friends that she meant to parade ber captive. So, with an air of assurance born of her coarse vanity, she endeavored amazement she could not get into the eircle of the intimes at all. He barely looked at her, did not ask her to promenade, and when supper came took down a which I saw any possibilities. No; I do not believe he will ever marry. He was devoted to his wife, and now that his daughter is growing up, she will soon fill in her father's house to some degree the place of her mother. Then, too, he has only a short time to serve as president, that is, if he is not re-elected, and that he cannot be unless he can harmonize his party in New York, which I am afraid he cannot do. There are many women of rank, wealth, and high position who would be tempted to marry him, to be the first lady in America, but if that temptation were removed I do cannot tell what men can do," said she, continuing the conversation. "Nor women believe Mr. Arthur really admired Mrs

Craig Wadsworth more than anybody he has known since he became president," continued my interviewee; " but I never believed the story of their engagement. I know Mrs. Wadsworth better than any one here when she came to Washington, for I had known her when she was Miss Peters, of Philadelphia. She never in our most confidential talks-and we did have some-intimated anything that would in dicate an engagement. I think there was nothing in it." "But," said I, "didn't the president send her flowers every day

What if he did?" I was answered "that means nothing at all, as you ought to know. Flowers are only polite attentions. Their acceptance has no significance now." "Then," said I, "you think that Mr. Arthur is heart whole and fancy free?" "Yes, I believe he is." "Why would it not be a good idea to marry him to the Princess Beatrice, of England?" I said. "It would be a brilliant diplomatic stroke for the venerable secretary of state.

Some one ought to suggest it to him.

She might go further and fare worse."
"The days for presidents to marry princesses have passed," the lady replied, "if they ever existed. Prince John Van Buren was in England when his father was president, and it is said, and with truth, too, that Queen Victoria was very much pleased with him, and in fact was almost in love with him at one time. But all this is vain and unprofitable and then it is gos sip, so you must not dare to write a word of what I have said, will you?" And I solemnly declared I would not, knowing perfectly well that the lady would eagerly scan the humble column permitted to the Lounger, expecting to see either," I observed in a musing way.

NO REST DAY OR NIGHT. In the Fall of 1875 my sufferings were terrible. I was swollen to such proportions that I feared my limbs would burst. I had the best medical talent obtainable, and at the worst stage of my illness, when my husband and many triends had given me up to die, the lat-Dr. John Woodbury made a thorough examination of my water, and pronounced my case acute kidney disease, and accompanied by of Hunt's Remedy. At this t me I was suffering most terrible pain in my back, limbs, and head, and could find no rest day or night for Virginia cousin of his late wife, who was neither young nor pretty, and had never heard of Pingat. The girl went home crying with mortification and rage, and Mr. Arthur was never polite to her bottles was entirely cured. This was nearly again." "Well, but is the president a marrying man?" I asked. "No, I think eight years ago, and I have had no return of the disease. I have recommended Hunt's Renot. If he had cared to he might have medy to others in similar cases, and it has married an immense fortune before this. never failed to cure.
