It is a 100 horse power built by a firm in Pitttsburgh, Pa., in the year 1826; has a large horizontal heater; fly wheel, whose segments and centre are of iron and the arms of wood; a cylinder that was cracked by accident but successfully repared; a large heavy connecting rod of wood cross-head, guides, bedplate, large double pumps, all of which are the original with the exception of the valve motion which was improved by the Weimer Brothers twenty years ago. it is owned by the Union canal company, and has been in continuous use for fifty six years.

Mrs. Haney, a widow, of Chester, bas same place arrested for taking $100 from her. The defendant stated to the magis the request for the sum of $100, which was glady paid over by the widow. He was slow to keep his promise, and hence his arrest. The widow, when asked for her statement, repudiated what the defendant asserted; declared that she could not be induced to marry such an object, and placing her arms akimbo, wanted the defendant, the court and the whole community to know that she had numerous chances to marry since her widow-

Some Seasonable Interrogation Points. It's dull. One does not meet many persons on the street. Those who are encountered look and act as though they had not much to do. For all that, as the reporter went from the INTELLIGENCER office to the Pennsylvania railroad station and back to the court house this morning he met enough people to be asked these questions: "Who's Levisy?" "Hunting items?" "Hot, ain't it?" "Any new cases of smallpox?" "What's the news?" escaped?" "Who's going from the city as delegates to the Democratic state convention?" "When is it to be held?" "What kind of a bug is eating the leaves of the Orange street trees?" "Who's going to lay a new curb at the corner of Orange and Lime streets?" "Who was that lawyer whom the I was a second of the I was a street trees?" "Who was that lawyer whom the I was a second of the pleased to meet all wishing to learn the manly art.

A LANCASTER RABBI me is Graduated With Distinguished Honors Four rabbis, graduates of the Hebrew Union college, Cincinnati, were consecrated in that city yesterday. Their names are Israel Aaron. David Phillipson. Henry Berkowitz and Joseph Krauskopp. They are the first rabbis ever consecrated in the United States. The first named, Mr. Aaron, is a native of this city, a son of the late Moses Aaron, who was himself a man of marked intelligence. The young rabbi, Israel Aaron, re ceived his education in this city, passing creditably through the several grades of public schools and being gradu ated at our high school. He soon after ward went to Cincinnati and entered Union college as a student. The course is a severe one, requiring eight years of study before graduation. Mr. Aaron graduated with distinguished honor, and we learn that Dr. Wise, the principal of the institution regards him as one of the brightest of his pupils. Immediately after graduation Mr. Aaron was offered and accepted a valuable position at Fort Wayne, Indiana, with a salary of nearly His many friends in Lancaster, where his mother continues to reside, will be pleased to learn of the young rabbi's flattering prospects. A Brilliant Wedding. A correspondent of the Providence Journal, writing from Concord, N. H. notices the marriage there on June 28. of Lt. William A. Marshall, of the United States navy, and Mary Bartlett, daughter of Hon. William L Foster, Rev. D. C. Roberts performing the cere mony. The bride was robed in dress of satin and lace, made Paris. The groom was attended by Lt. Hamilton E. Perkins, U. S. N., uncle of the bride. Judge Foster's residence was the scene of a large assemblage of guests at the wedding reception. The elegant dresses of the ladies and the handsome un iforms of the officers of the navy produced a fine effect. The presents were numerous and exceedingly beautiful and valuable. Lieutenant Marshall has for several years been connected with the United States ship Vandalia, but is now under waiting orders.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mrs. Martin Urich. Mrs. Anna M. Urich, wife of Martin Urich, and daughter of ex-Alderman J. C. Van Camp, died at her residence on East Grant street near the court house, this morning about half past three o'clock, aged 44 years. She was ill only about two weeks. She leaves no children, but a wide circle of relatives and friends. She was a member of St. James' church, and in her earlier years took active interest in Sunday-school work. Her funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Lodge's Life of Webster. Mr. Henry Cabat Lodge has added another volume to the series of American statesmen, in the life of Daniel Webster. Mr. Lodge's effort has not, as he confesses, much of originality, but he presents a very entertaining life of the great statesmen in a singularly impartial manner. He is not chary in pointing out the faults of Webster while he has at least endeavored to do full justice to his virtues and eminent abilities. RESCUED FROM DEATH. The following statement of William J. Cough in, ot Somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our read ers. He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half-dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope out a triend told me of DR. WM. HALL'S BAISAM FOR THE LUNGS. Gen. Le Duc Gives His Opinion, raising ex-commissioner of agriculture, was lately waylaid in San Francisco by a reporter and compelled to disgorge his opinions of the present administration. It is almost needless to say that ex-Commissioner Le Duc has a very mean opinion of the present administration, agriculture, who, he says, "knows as much about agriculture as—as—well never mind." Having dismissed Commissioner Loring thus easily, Gen. Le Duc discussed the subject of tea raising, venting his indignation on the present administration for its indifference to that valuable industry. "Why, do you know," said the ex-commissioner, "that the best tea taster in New York mistook our tea for India tea and could not persuaded that it was grown this country?" This is probably true statement, but, like a great many others emanating from experimenters, it does not go far enough. Gen. Le Duc forgot to add that his wonderful tea New York, cost the government $37 per pound. Certainly Le Duc did raise tea, and others can raise it, but not at a profit, unless all tea importation is abso lutely prohibited by law.

Une of the Stock Stories about Webster. Daniel Webster's financiering is the subject of many anecdotes at Washington, and one of them thus destribes how he one day assisted Rufus Choate. Choate needed $500, and he applied to Mr. Webster, "Five hundred dollars!" says Mr. Webster. "No, your note," said Webster; "I'll sign it and bring you the money. While you are about it make the note for a thousand; a thousand is as easy to get as five hundred." Mr. Choate said that five hundred was all he needed. "I'll take the other five bundred," said Web vention opened with a largely increased ster. The note was drawn and Mr attendance. Addresses were delivered by Webster, taking his cane, went into the Prof. St. arpless, of Haverford college, and avenue. "Good morning, Mr. Corcoran, good morning," said he, as he entered the great banking house which was the fiscal agent of the government. "Good morning, Mr. Secretary," said the great banker in the blandest manner. "What is it I can discussed "Supplementary Reading." The do for you this morning, Mr. Secretary " treasurer's report showed a balance of $200 Mr. Webster was secretary of state at the time. "A little favor for my friend Choate. He wants a little money and I told him I thought I could get it for him. A thousand, I believe, he made his note for," passing the paper to the banker. There was no such thing as hesitating, much less declining, and the banker was only too happy to accommo date the head of Mr. Filmore's adminis tration. The gold was laid out in two equal piles at Mr. Webster's request. Putis the five hundred," said the great expounder, entering where Choate was waiting. Handing him the gold, Mr. Webster very seldom, if at all. resumed his reading where he had been interrupted by Mr. Choate's entrance. ## HOME COMFORT.

After a Rainy Ride a Country Physician "I wish to gracious some people would learn when they need a doctor and when they don't," exclaimed Doctor E ----, as he entered his house in a cosy little village in the interior of the State of New York, after a ted!ous night ride of many miles. "I have been down among the mountains to see a man, who the messenger said, was very sick and not likely to live 'ti:l morning, unless he had immediate help; and found him suffering from a rather sharp attack of colic, which his famlly might have relieved in ten minutes, if they had a grain of sense and two or three simple remedies in the house. But no; they must remain ignorant as pigs, and when the least ache or pain takes them, send for a doctor, whether they ever pay him or not." "Why, Doctor, what kind of simple reme dies, as you call them, do you expect people to keep in the house?" asked his wife, as she poured him a cup of hot tea. "In this case," answered the Doctor, "i they had only put a BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER on the man's stomach he would have been all right in an hour, and saved me a dreary ride."

THURSDAY-FAIR AND WARMER.

The richest lamp display in Philadelphia is now shown in the housefurnishing department. The goods now opened are Standing or Table Lamps from the Baccarat manufacturer, and of the Barbatine and Faience. The shapes and sizes are in wonderfully varied designs; some which deceived even the best tea taster in are hand painted upon the smooth surface, with rarest skill, portraying scenes in rural life, groupings from the animal kingdom, rare exotics, summer scenes, birds about to burst forth in songand Japanese incongruities, all challenging your admiration in the execution. Others are decorated in raised flowers, nathaven't that amount, but I will get it for you, Choote." The latter was glad to hear it, and would wait. "Draw The globes and shades are in a corresponding style of decoration, of ornate designs and colorings, and shed their warm tints at night, as well as their rich tracery by day. The oil well and lamp proper, for cleaning purposes, is litted from a well within the standard, to avoid soiling the ornamental portions. The duplex burners (giving double power) are fitted with a patent extinguisher that should supersede all others. Each wick tube is entirely incased by a slide that rises above the wick end, though the latter be not turned down, and closes tightly with a cap at the top. We find, by experiment, that the air is thus so ting one in each pocket, and with one of the bows which Mr. Webster only could give, he departed. "Here, Choate, here mains moist and without any incrustation, requiring trimming
