TO PROPERTY OWNERS AND PAINTERS.

And we claim that they are the best and cheapest paints in America. And we don't make this assertion and leave it unsupported. Paint one-half of any surface or one-half of any building with this paint and the other half with strictly pure White Lead and Linseed Oil, or any other mixed paints in this country, and if the part painted with this paint does not cost ten per cent. less than for paint used, we will make no charge for our paint. And further, any building that has been painted with this paint that is not satisfactory to the owner, and not remaining so for a proper term of years, we will repaint at our own expense with White Lead and Linscod Oil or any other paint he may select. As many of the prepared paints are adulterated with benzine and water we make this liberal offer. We will pay one thousand dollars for any benzine or water found in any original package of WADSWORTH, MARTI-NEZ & LONGMAN'S PURE PREPARED PAINTS.

Wonderful Cures of Sast Rheum when Physicians, Hospitals and all other means failed.

I have been a great sufferer with Sait Rheum I have been a great sufferer with Sait Rhemm for thirty years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tied good physicians, all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to Curicura Remedies. Got them and used them until my skin is perfectly smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Yours truly, AGAWAN, MASS.

SALT RHEUM. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the greatest medicines on earth. Had the worst case of Satt Rheum in this country. My mother had it twenty years, and in fact died from it. I believe CUTICURA would have saved her life. My arms, breast and head were covered for three years, which nothing relieved or cured until I used the CUTICURA RESOLVENT (blood purifier) internally, and CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP (the great skin cures) externally.

SALT RHEUM.

I have tried everything I had heard of in the East and West for Salt Rheum. My case was considered a very bad one. My face, head, and some parts of my body were almost raw. Head covered with scabs and sores. Suffering fearful. One very skillful physician said he would rather not treat it, and some of them think now I am only cured temporarily. I think not, for I have not a particle of Salt Rheum about me, and my case is considered wonderful. Thanks to Cuticura Remedias.

THE HERO OF THE WATERS DROWNED

It had been advertised that he would go over the same course which the Maid of the Mist ran in her trip to escape an attachment many years ago. No craft but this one ever survived the perils of that terrible channel, as no human being save her crew ever passed alive through the rapids. through the rapids.

Captain Webb and his business manager Fred. Kyle, of Boston, left Buffalo Tuesday morning and spent most of the day at the hotels and about the falls, taking but cursory survey of the rapids. At 1 o'clock the people immediately interested were informed that Captain Webb would enter the river at 4 o'clock. The number of spectators was small, there being not more than 500 scattered along the banks to witness the hazardous undertaking. The failure of the railroad companies and The failure of the railroad companies and hotels to cooperate with him rendered the enterprise a failure financially.

The Plunge Into the River. It was precisely two minutes past four when Webb sprang from his beat about a third of a mile above the railroad bridge and close to the old Maid of the Mist land ing. He was entirely nude save a band worn around his body for the protection of his stomach. The daring and accomplished swimmer gave himself no artificial assistance whatever. His leap from the boat was greeted with prolonged cheering. He struck boldly into the middle of the river and buoyed himself gracefully upon the surface of the metal. the surface of the water as the mighty current carried him toward the deadly whirlpool nearly a mile and a half below. It was a thrilling spectacle and a brilliant performance The struggle in the rapids lasted 13 minutes, by which time Captain Webb had reached the whirlpool. His object was to hug the American side of the river, al-though many contend that his chances would have been better on the Canadian side. By the peculiar formation of the channel at this point, with its curves and ridges of rock, the water is dashed upward a distance of forty or tifty feet, resembling the billows of an augry sea. Then it whirls and seethes as if lashed by a thousand demons. In the frightfu vortex thus formed a vessel, a stick of timber, an animal or a human being is carried under, and, in some cases, will remain for days before escaping into the lake below. As the intrepid pavigator came to the whirlpool he was seen to thraw up one of is arms. Whether this was intended as signal of distress, fears of danger or merely to exhibit his strength to those on land can only be conjectured. Nothing was seen of him afterwards. The search was kept up till dark, when his manager aunounced there was no hope for his recov-

The Famous Swimmer's Career Captain Webb was forty years of age and was born in Shropshire, England. He leaves a widow and two children in his native place. He had been a scafaring man all his life. He was of medium size, finely proportioned and very intelligent looking. It was in 1873 that he first became famous in a natatorial way. While serving before the mast on the Cunrad steamship Russia, a shipmate fell overboard from the rigging. A gale was blowing at the time and the Russia was booming along at the rate of fifteen knots per hour. Webb sprang into the water and made a desperate and gallant effort to save the life of his companion. He could not reach him, however, and Webb was taken into a boat after struggling in the waves upwards of half an hour. He was given a purse of $500 on the spot, and a Swimming the English Channel. After this Webb gained local fame as a smimmer in the Thames. He swam from Blackwell to Gravesend, a distance of 20 miles down the stream, in four hours, and he accomplished the distance from Dover to Ramsgate, a distance of 18 miles, in nine hours. He attempted but failed to swim across the English channel, on August 25, of the same year, he made the perilous voyage, reaching Calais, France, twenty-three hours after the start. So brilliant a feat was hailed with en thusiasm all over England. The poet R. H Horne, a swimmer of considerable experience, wrote a letter requesting that the honor of knighthood be conferred on Captain Webb. The press dissuaded the queen from such a thing, and the question of honoring the captain d opped out of the public mind. Captain Webb attempted in August, 1878, the feat of swimming for thirty-six hours in the river Thames. He dropped into the river at the Parade at Woolvich at 6 o'clock on the evening of August 2 last year in the presence of 100,000 people. Long into the night this crowd waited his return from Gravesend, but he gave up fore reaching Woolwich on the return trip, having swam twenty two miles in nine

He has had many contests in swimming with Captain Paul Boynton, the latter attired in his buoyant rubber suit and Webb in a simple bathing dress.

MARRIED AT LAST.

flow a Philadelphian Remained True 1 Maggie Summerfield and her sister were ballet dancers at Mrs. John Drew's Arch street theatre 15 years ago. Both gained great reputations as dancers. Maggie was always a favorite, and both girls were respected for their many virtues, and their friends in Philadelphia were numerous. Among Maggie's admirers was a young man whose father was the senior member of a prominent firm of manufacturers of chandeliers and gas fixtures. He paid her constant attention and it became known that the young people were engaged to be married.

The young man's family objected to the match because Miss Summerfield was s danseuse. The young man argued with them, but the family stood firm and their decision was irrevocable. They believed his passion to be but a passing fancy that his passion to be but a passing fancy that might be dispelled by travel. The disconsolate young man was sent to China, but before starting on his enforced journey he saw his sweetheart and they exchanged vows of constancy. The lover spent 15 years in China and made a fortune of $100,000. A month ago Miss Summerfield concluded her season with the Kiralfy Brothers' company and came to Philadelphia to spend the summer. Her faithful lover returned to Philadelphia last week and married Miss Summerfield, and they are now at the sea shore.

AN ENGINE OF WARFARE.

A Gun Which Took Two Years to Construct and Cost $50,000. The great Lyman Haskell multic charge run, which has been undergoing construction at the Scott foundry, in Reading, for the past two years, was finished Tuesday and has been shipped to New York, from whence it will be taken to Sandy Hook, to be tested in the presence of leading officers of the army and navy of this and other countries, Congress having made a special appropriation for this purpose. The inventor, J. R. Haskell, has been constantly giving the work his own supervision. While it was being constructed numerous army and navy officers have inspected the gun and pronounced it the most destructive engine of death perhaps

It is 25 feet long and weighs 25 tous. It s designed to revolutionize modern warfare and was constructed at a cost of over $50,000. The new principle in this gun consists of a series of four poskets under-neath the weapon for the holding of pow der, each "pocket" containing 28 pounds, beside the 18 pounds in the breech, thus concentrating the force of 130 pounds of powder, in place of one-fourth the amount usually put in the breech of the cannon now in use. It will also hurl a projectile twice as heavy as the ordinary cannon. It is claimed that it will penetrate a solid piece of iron 24 inches thick, and that it will easily carry projectiles from 12 to 15 miles. It is intended for both naval and sea coast defense. A company, with a capital of $10,000, 000, has already been organized to manufacture the gun. Mr. Ha kell is president and ex Governor Cornell, ex-Senator Platt and John F. Smythe, ex insurance com missioner of New York, are some of the other interested parties.
