TO PROPERTY OWNERS AND PAINTERS.

As a business transaction would you be willing to pay one dollar for an article you could purchase for ninety cents? We are the agents for Lancaster and vicinity for Wadsworth, Martinez & Longman's Pure Prepared Paints. And we claim that they are the best and cleapest paints in America. And we don't make this assertion and leave it unsupported. Paint one-half of any surface or one-half of any building with this point and the other half with strictly pure White Lead and Linseed Oil, of any o her mixe i paints in this country, and if the part painted with this paint does not cost ten per cent. I ss than for paint used, we will make no charge for our paint. And further, any building that has been painted with this paint that 's not satisfactory to the owner, and not remaining so for a proper term of years, we will repaint at our own expense with White Lead and Linseed Gil or any other paint he may select. As many of the prepared paints are adulterated with benzing and water we make this liberal offer. We will pay one thousand dollars for any benzine or water found in any original package of WADSWORTH, MARTI-NEZ & LONGMAN'S PURE PREPARED PAINTS.

Things which they don't Understand. Anybody who has led a domestic life know now common such things as the backache, and pains in the chest, are among the women who do the work. Often-and perhaps generallythe distresses are born without much complaint. The women get about and the machinery of the house goes on. Beyond this, those coarse-grained animals whom New England women call "the men tolks," seldom look. So long as their wives or daughters are not actually in bed, under the dootor's care the average thick-skinned husband and father gives the subject no attention. At the same time the poor household drudges-who deserve a better fate-creep around, broom or utensils in hand, up stairs down stairs and ont-of-doors, doing that woman's work, which fair girls-losses whise suddenness and unexpectedness astonish those wooden-pated hus

BAD RAILWAY WRECK.

MANY KILLED AND WOUNDED. The Steamboat Express on the flome, Wate town and Ugdensburg Dashed to Pieces -Terrible Scenes of Death.

Friday night a terrible disaster occurred at the flag station on the Oswego and Niagara Falls division of the road known as Carlyon, 30 miles west of Charlotte, and almost directly north of the village of Albion, New York, on the Falls Branch of the Central railroad. The train was the steamboat express, which runs regularly between Niagara Falls and Cape Vincent, and frequently draws from seven to ten sleeping cars, filled with Thousand Island excursionists from the West. Friday Hudson street. night it consisted of eight sleeping cars, one regular coach, a smoking car and baggage car, and was drawn by two locomotives, engines Nos. 61 and 51. A terrible gale was blowing, and rain was falling in torrents. The train was running at the rate of 35 or 40 miles an hour. It was marked to stop at Carlyon and there was no one to warn the engineer of any danger. A box car had been left on the siding, and this car was started by the wind and blown down and upon the main track, so that it stood upon an an gle, bali on and half off the track. The I have tried everything I had heard of in the East and West for Sat Rheum. My case was considered a very bad one. My face, head, and some parts of my body were almost raw. Head covered with scabs and sores. Suffering fearful. One very skillful physician raid he would rather not treat it, and some of them think now I am only cared temporarily. I think not, for I have not a particle of Salt Rheum about me, and my case is considered wonderful. Toanks to CUTICURA REMEDIES.

DECATUR Mich. MRS. S. E. WHIPPLE. ex press train struck this car, and the terparallel with the train, literally made a somersault, landing in the ditch with its trucks in the air, with escaping volumes of smoke and steam coming from it. The baggage car was jerked after it and tossed as if only the tail of a kite on top of the ocomotive. The smoking car, which followed, was torn from the rails and dashed into a thousand splinters. The scene was indescribable. The first sleeper kept on the track, although it was harled from the trucks, and the sides and ends were smashed in. It was complete'y flattened out. The second sleeper telescoped half upon it and left to trucks and the track. The third left its forward trucks and mounted the wreck, but stood ou its rear trucks and was not demolished. Under and around the wreek could be een heads and arms, and men and women were calling for help in most piteous ac ents. For a wonder the engineer and fireman of the pilot engine were not seriously injured. Their companions on the following engine did not fare so well. Engineer McCarthy, one of the best on the road, was terribly scalded, and his death was a question of only a tew hours. Fireman Lucius France was instantly killed, his body being scarcely reogniza ble. W. H. Channeey, trainmaster of the road, sat upon the fireman's side of the engine, and is among the injured, but not withstanding his wounds he superintended the work of resening the victims.

A wrecking ging was at once sent out from Oswego, and also from Lawiston, and the work was commenced of getting out the killed and wounded. Surgeons were sent from Oswego and also from Rochester. The list of the dead, so far as known is as follows :

Killed-Lucius France, fireman, Oswego; lames McCarthy, engineer, Oswego; -Sill, colored porter, Watertown; Mc. Thorp, residence unknown; Archie Tyler. baggageman, Watertown; Prof. C. W. Stone, Battle Creek, Mich.,; Thomas Dickson, No. 249 Pearl street, Cleveland; Thomas Hoyne, Chicago; Mrs. Worthy, Saline, Mich .: Henry McCormick, Benton Mich , ; Dr. Schenck, Oberlin, Ohio : Willia Lefever, Bay City, Mich , ; O. B. Troop, Schoharie; Bernard Bostwick, Toledo, Ohio; Mrs. Jane E. Carl, Lansing, --- Comb, residence unknown; - Adams, Chicago; - Dower, Lansing, Mich., ; Unknown, young haly, of Leslie, Mich., ; Mary Troop, daughter of O. B. Troop ; Louis J. Booth, No. 1,108 Pine street. Philadelphia; Mrs. Louis J.

Booth. Those of the injured who could trave were placed in a sleeper and taken to the Falls, while the rest were taken to the neighboring houses and cared for. One man, who lives only a few rods from the wreck, had driven his son to Lydonville, a listance of three miles, to take the train, and got home just in time to find him a corpse. The work of removing the debris is being pushed forward rapidly, and the track will be cleared in a few hours.

There are about 50 persons injured, some of whom will die. There were about 270 persons on the train. The conductor on the train was E. Garrison, He was in the fourth ear, but when he heard the signal he ran back to the rear car to set the brake, and, seeing the car breaking up, be jumped and saved himself.

A BANK CASHIEE'S SATCHEL. Bold Attempt to Rob Thomas J. Smith a national bank of Orange, N J., went to vania several times. New York on Saturday morning and drew $12,000, the balance due the bank on the clearances of the week. This money, in greenbacks, was deposited in a small satchel, and with it Mr. Smith started for the bank at Orange. He crossed the Barwith the 10:25 train of the Delaware & Lackawanua road from Hoboken. Arriving in Hoboken he started for the train, had been committed. Mr. Smith reached the platform of the station in safety, carrrying his satchel in his hand. He stepped upon the last car of the train, and he three men who had followed him from New York stepped on after him. The car was already half filled, and Mr. Smith was obliged to go very near to the centre in order to find a seat. As he was about to sit down one of the men who had fol lowed him raised a piece of lead pipe which he held in his hand and dealt the liver disease." cashier a stunning blow on the back of the head. He followed this up with three more blows, and as each one fell tear it from his grasp. Mr. Smith, howly that it seemed that I could not endure it. I held on to the satchel. Seeing that their these diseases, but they did me no good. A friend of mine that had used Hunt's Remedy, and pronounced it the best in use. Hoged me pursued by all the male passengers in the car and by Conductors Rundio and Gardi-ner, of the Delaware & Lackawanna road These two seized the horse by the bridle and held him, while the driver whipped him unmercifully in an effort to make him go. Conductors Rundio and Gardiner held on, the horse reared wildly, and final ly one of the robbers drew a pistol and fired at the conductors. At the same time two of the men jamped out of the wagon and started to run. The driver alone re mained, and as the conductors let go the bridle after the shot had been fired, the horse started on a dead run up Washing from the wagon took different directions. one of them running up Washington street after the horse and tae other up Chief Donovan, of the Hoboken police force, was standing at the corner of Wash ington and Second streets, when he saw the wagon coming up the street, followed by a large crowd of men. He was talking to a Mr. MaGinnis, and telling Maginnis to follow the wagon and arrest the driver, he pounced on the fugitive thief who was running behind and captured him. At the station house the prisoner gave the name of John J. Smith, said that he was a laborer, and that he lived in Mott street, New York. Cashier Smith had by this time reached the station house with his satchel in his hand, and was there when his name sake was brought in. He identified him at piece of lead pipe. In the meantime Mr. Magionis had run after the wagon. The frightened horse gave a short turn at Third street, and ran into a tree, breaking both shafts of the wagon. The driver jumped out in the arms of Mr. Maginnis, who brought him in triumph to the station house. He gave his name as William Clark, said that he was 40 years old, a blacksmith by trade, and that he resided in Mulberry street, Newark. He refu: ed to give the number of his residence. Con ductors Rundio and Gardiner say that he had been standing with his wagon in front of the station for the last 10 days, and it is supposed the thieves had been waiting all that time to eatch the cashier of the Orange bank when he had a large amount of money in his possession. It is believed that Saturday was fixed upon as the time for the assault, because the robbers knew that he had drawn a large amount of money from the clearing house. Roundsman Hays was in charge of police by the robber from the wagon. Within a second a little boy rushed into the statio 1 house and said that a man had been killed down the street. Roundsman Hays grab bed his hat, and, leaving the office to take charge of itself, started out in search of the murderer. As he approached the ferry he saw a thick set man with a black must che running, and he at once arrested him. "Don't put your hands on me," said the man; "I'm not going to try to get away." "You had better not," said Roundsman Hays; "I think I am big enough to get away with you." When the m in was brought to the front of the desk and confronted with Mr. Smith and Con ductors Rundia and Gardiner, each indent ified him as the one who had snatched the sachel after the blow had been given with the led pipe. He gave his name as John Conroy, said that he was 35 years old, and that he was a clerk in Houston street, in New York. Rounds man Hays thought that he recognized an old familiar face in that of John Conroy. He believed that he had arrested John ed from the force in New York on account of his supposed complicity in the Man hattan bank burglary. Roundsman Hays ent a special message over to Captain Cope and, of the Ninth precinct, in New York and the captain went to Hoboken at d identified Conroy at once as ex-Policeman Nugent. It was Nugent who fired the holding the bridle of the horses attached to the cart in which the robbers were trying to escape.

Chief Donovan sent word to Inspector Brynes of the arrest of the three men, and the inspector sent Detective Sergeants McLaughlin and Von Gerichten to Hobaken to see if they could identify the station house at 2 o'clock, and on being taken to the cells at once recognized the men. Nugent, who seemed to be the most pitiable object of the three, sitting on his wooden bench with downcast eyes said to McLaughlia that he was in debt and had a wife and six children to sup port. The driver of the wagon, who a a re his name as Clark, was identified as N ad Farrel, whose picture in the rogues' gal lery at police headquarters is numbered 820. He is known as a "butcher's wagen thief," and was suspected of being engaged in the robbery Ruppert's cashier on Lexington avenue about two years ago. The man who gave his name as Smith was identified by the detectives as Peter fail orders promptly—23, 25, 27, 29, 31, 31 and 35 inches high and 32 to 35 inches wide; they can fraternity as "Baujo Pete."
