picnic at Wild Cat falls to day.
Services will be held at the Methodist and Bethel churches to-morrow as usual. Judge James Ryan, wife, son and daughter, of Pottsville, are the guests of the former's brother, Mr. Robert Ryan, on Walnut street.

While playing ball yesterday afternoon a boy named George Detz had a long gash cut through his upper lip by being struck with the ball.

A large crowd attended the Bethel Church of God Sunday school picnic in Heise's woods yesterday. Everything passed off in the most pleasant manner. Mr. David Wayne was elected at last night's meeting of the Columbia fire com pany a delegate to the state firemen's convention, which will be held in Scranton

Robert Ward started a pair of carrier pigeons from Donegal Springs to Columbia this morning, but the result of the flight has not been ascertained. Harry Smith, a lad clerking at Mrs.

Joseph Sourbeer's grocery store on 5th street, had his left hand badly cut while using a meat slicing machine yesterday.

The match game between the P. R. R's. and Riversides, yesterday afternoon, resulted in a stunning defeat for the latter club. The game stood 30 to 6, and only seven innings were played.

Mr. D. L. Hoak, a resident of the Wrightsville, has assumed the proprietorship of the Union hotel, the principal hotel of that place. James Leece, the late proprietor, has removed to New Oxford, Adams county.

A letter recently received from Mr. J. A. Meyers, of this place, who is now at St. John's, New Brunswick, states that the weather is now so cold there as to require overcoats. Light overcoats here at night are not uncomfortable.

A report was received here yesterday that a York county farmer had been trampled to death in Wrightsville on Thursday evening while intoxicated. Investigation proves that there is not a particle of ruth in the report.

Last night about mi lnight, P. R. R. en gine No. 117, and one freight car were thrown from the track a short distance west of the tunnel above this place, by a broken axle of the wrecked car. The south track was closed for two hours.

A York county team was nearly struck by an engine while crossing the P. R. R. track at Bridge street this morning. Two women, who attempted to follow the wagon, barely had time to run back from the track as the engine dashed by.

The picnic otherwise was a very pleasant affair, being attended by upwards of thirty persons.

A patent was granted yesterday to Mr Clement C. Smith, of this city, for an im provement in "divices for oiling slides for engines." This improvement applies more particularly to virtical engines, and consists in placing the oil cup inside of the frame below the guide and attaching a wire to the lower end of the slide, which draws up sufficient oil to lubricate the guide. The point being that the oil after being used drips back into the oil cup and is used over and over again. This patent was secured through Wm. R. Gerhart, patent solicitor, of this city. An Old Wall.

In cutting away the plaster on the north wall of the old Black Horse hotel, to make way for Kepler's new building, the work men found that the mortar with which the wall was covered was mixed with straw instead of hair; and that on top of the straw mixed mortar was another coating of mortar, apparently of a much later date, mixed with straw. Between the two coats were scrawled the words "Mortared will be induced to take DR. WM. HALL'S May 1799." This would seem to show BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that the second coating of the wall was put on in 1799, the straw coat being put on at a much earlier date. Mr. Kepler has added his name and "1883," before the final coat of mortar shall be put on the old but still good wall. Smallpox.

Harry Ochs, aged 17 years, and residing with his father, at No. 447 High street, has been taken with smallpox. His father had the disease some weeks ago and recovered. No other new cases is reported.

He says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time hat I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half-dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medteines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a friend told me of DR. WM. STATE OF THE TELEGRAPH STRIKE. The Western union Claiming to be Able to Hold Out-The Ulgar Makers' Strike.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 4.—There was little change in the telegraph situation last night. Superintendent Dowry says he has consulted with railroad managers, and is prepared for anything the operative may do by calling out the telegraphers.

Members of the brotherhood hint that the operators who took the place of the strikers are dissatisfied, and that a large number of them have joined the brother hood, but are kept at work. A large enough force inside is obtained to cripple the company by leaving in a body. A Question of Endurance.

"Who ish it?"
"A friend."

"Phwat do ye want?" " I have the countersign." "Whist! that's the word, spake asy and pass on." General Charles F. Robbins, general inspector of rifle practice, was formerly an office in the Seventh regiment and is very popular with the men of that command. The sergeant was taking one of the privates to task for not saluting when Gen.

Robbine passed
"Couldn't you see it was a general officer?" fiercely asked the sergeant. "Yes, I saw it was Charley Robbins but, then, we have never been introduced, you know !"

The waiters at the regimental mess had sometimes great trouble in getting into camp after taps and great ingenuity was displayed by some of them to get back to quarters. One of them was challenged by a sentry of the Thirteenth. To the call of "Who comes there ?" he responded : "Ise de waiter on table No. 16."

"By Jove !" said the sentry sotto voice, "that's my table," and then aloud, "how do I know you are?" "Kase, boss, you promised me a quarter at dinner to-day, and you done forget. it. You don't disremember dat does yer,

The waiter passed on. The Cross-Eyed Man's Revenge,

Bill Nye. Over in St. Paul I met a man with eyes of cadet blue and a terra cotta nose. His eyes were not only peculiar in shape, but while one seemed to constantly probe the future the other was apparently ransacking the dreamy past. While one rambled along the glorious possibilities of the remote, yet golden ultimately, the other sought the ombre depths of the previously.

He told me that years ago he had a mild case of strabismus, and that both eyes seemed to glare down his nose until he got restless and had them operated ou. Those were the days when they used to fasten a crooked book under the internal rectus and cut it a little with a pair of optical sheep shears. The effect of this course was to allow the eye to drift back to a direct line, but this man fell into the hands of a drunken surgeon, who cut the muscle too much, and thereby weakened Republican published an interview with it so that it gradually swung past the saw with horror that his eye was going to turn out and protrude, as it were, so that a man could hang his hat on it. The other followed suit, and the two orbs that had for years looked along the bridge of the terra cotta nose gradually separated, and while one looked toward next Christmas with anticipations the other loved to linger over the remembrances of last fall. This thing continued till he had to peer into the future with his off eye closed and vice versa. It is needless to say that he hungered for the blood of that physician and surgeon. He tried to lay violent hands on him and wipe up the ground with him, and wear him out across a telegraph pole. But the authorities always prevented the administration of such swift and awful iustico. Time passed on till one night the abnormally wall eyed man loosened a board in the sidewalk up town so that the physician and surgeon caught his foot in it and caused an oblique fracture of the scapula, pied his dura mater, busted his cornucopia nd wrecked his sarabbeitum. Perhaps I am in error as to some of these medical terms and their orthography the divergent orbs told it to me. The physician and surgeon was quite a ruin. He had to wear clapboards on himself for months, and there were other doctors and laudable pus and threatened gangrene and doctors' bills, with the cemetery looming up in the near future. Day after day he took his own anti febrile drinks and rammed his busted system full of iron and strychnine and beef tea and dover's powders and hyperdermic squirt until he wished he could die, but death would not come. He pawed the air and howled. They fed him his own nuxvomica, His wife has fled. It is believed she is tincture of rhubarb and phosphates and gruel, and brought him back to life with a crooked collar bone, and a shattered shoulder blade and a look of woe. Then he sued the town for $50,000 damages because the sidewalk was imperfect, and the wild eyed man with the inflamed nose got on the jury.

I will not explain how it was done, but there was a verdict for defendant with costs on the Esculapian wreck. The man with the crooked vision is not handsome, but he is very happy. He says the mills of the gods grind slowly, but they pulverize middling fine,

The Kuklux Humbug.

Baltimore Sun. The Southern papers refer to the recent so called Kuklux outrages in Georgia as the extravagances of lawless persons, whose acts are condemned by everybody just as they would be any where. They are entirely without political significance and have been exaggerated by those who seek to make capital out of every untoward occurrence in the South. The New York Herald says that many of the offenders are escaped convicts.
