WATER COOLERS, 20.

As a business transaction would you be willing to pay one dollar for an article you could purchase for ninety cents? We are the agents for Lancaster and vicinity for Wadsworth, Martinez & Longman's Pure Prepared Paints.

And we claim that they are the best and cheapest paints in America. And we don't make this assertion and leave it unsupported. Paint one-half of any surface or one-half of any building with this paint and the other half with strictly pure White Lead and Linseed Oil, of any other mixed paints in this country, and if the part painted with this paint does not cost ten per cent. less than for paint used, we will make no charge for our paint. And further, any building that has been painted with this paint that is not satisfactory to the owner, and not remaining so for a proper term of years, we will repaint at our own expense with White Lead and Linseed Oil or any other paint he may select. As many of the prepared paints are adulterated with benzine and water we make this liberal offer. We will pay one thousand dollars for any benzine or water found in any original package of WADSWORTH, MARTI-NE & LONGMAN'S PURE PREPARED PAINTS.

Wonderful Cure of a Lad 12 Years old, who for 8 years, from the top of his head to his ankles, was one Mass of Scabs.

My son, a lad twelve years of age, was afficted with the worst form of Eczema for a period of eight years. So virulent was it that from the top of his head to within a few inches of his ankies he was one mass of scabs, which refused to yield to any treatment that was suggested by friends or physicians was tried in vain. Allopathy, homeopathy, herbs, roots, salt-water baths, flaxseed poultices, coaps, olntments, and in short everything that could be done to eradicate the disorder seemed only to aggravate it and the child's life became a burden to him, and the expense of the various experiments was a constant drain upon our experiments was a constant drain upon our resources.

My wife, reading the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedia in one of the daily papers, resolved to make one more attempt at a cure. (The disease was now encroaching upon his face, and seemed incurable.) I gave a reluctant consent to the proposal and an interview was sought with a famous lady physician of New York, who made a most thorough examination of the case, and promised a cure without the least hesitation by the use of your Cuticura Remedies. In one week there was a marked change; the raw and angry sores began to grow pale and along the outer edges scaled off, and as time wore on they began to disappear entirely, until at the present writing the only vestige is one small spot upon the forearm, scarcely visible and fast disappearing.

Thus after eight years of expense and anxiety, we have the intense satisfaction of seeing the child's skin as fair and smooth spit was before this dreadful cutaneous disorder attacked him. Sincerely yours.

USING A BASEBALL BAT FOR MUKDER

low John Wright, of Chester county ratally Beat His Stepfather, with a Baseball Bat.

James Graham, of Darby township, Chester county, was on Sunday night attacked by his stepson, John Wright, and so frightfully beaten with a heavy ash baseball bat that he has been insensible ever since, and the attending physicians say he cannot recover. His skull is fractured in two places, and his head, face, shoulders and arms are literally covered with cuts and bruises. Mrs. Graham was also badly injured. After breaking the bat to splinters on the old man Wright fled, leaving his victim lying insensible in the yard. On Monday the case was reported to the authorities, and since than Officers Jonathan Grubbs and James Dodson and a number of citizens have been scouring the woods and highways in means of his stepfather. The old man objected and quarrelled with his stepson, who eventually went away. He came back, however, a month later, bringing with him a wife and one child. He rented a house two miles east of "The Hook" and found employment on the farms of the neighborhood. When working near "The Hook" he boarded at his stepfather's house. Wright agreed to pay four dollars per week when he boarded with the Gra-ham. Two months ago Graham told his stepson that if he would assist in cultivating the kitchen garden he would only charge him three dollars a week for board. Wright accepted the offer. He worked in the neighborhood several weeks, and although he did nothing in the Graham's garden, he would not pay more than three dollars a week for his board. This worried Graham, who is very saving, and on Sunday night in the family sitting room he remonstrated with his stepson, saying: "John, I think you are treating me very Complete Treatment $1.

"No, nor can I stand this thing of paying man as well off as you are nearly half my wages." With these words he drew a razor and rushed at his stepfather. The old man ran behind a centre table and. seizing a stool, tried to defend himself. Wright slashed at him with the razor so savagely that the old man ran out of the door and, jumping off the porch, snatched np a heavy ash baseball bat and struck an attitude of defense. That, however, did not intimidate Wright, who pressed forward with the razor. Graham then ran into the house, followed by Wright. In the dining room the men clinched, and

Mrs. Craham heard her husband say: "Well, I see one or other of us has got to die." All this time Mrs. Graham and her little daughter were greaming at the top of their voices. In their struggle the men knocked over the table and upset a coal oil lamp, which broke and set fire to the carpet and furniture. Mrs. Graham then tried to separate the men. Her son turned and slashed at her with the razor. It caught her left forearm and made a gash five inches long and as deep as the bone. The terrified woman fell to the floor insensible. In the meantime Graham had dropped the bat and fled to the yard, where he tried to conceal himself behind a box hedge. Seizing the bat Wright followed and came up with the old man who was on his knees. He tried to rise and as he did so Wright felled him like an ox. Wright continued beat the insensible man until the bat was shivered. Throwing down the fragments of the bat he exclaimed 'There, - - you, I guess I've finished He then jumped the fence and you." fled. Mrs. Graham was aroused by her little girl, who told her that Graham was laying dead in the yard. The child was sent to a neighbors for assistance and the wounded man and woman were soon attended to. Last week Wright was work ing near Chadd's Ford, but he did not return to work on Monday. Graham is well known in Chester county as "Uncle

ON TRAIL FOR MURDER.

The Revolting Killing of His Wite by John

At Easton, the trial of John Dillman, for the murder of his wife, Charlotte Dillman, who died April 23 from injuries inflicted by her husband on March 29, began Tuesday. When nine jurors had been obtained the panel became exhausted, and the court directed a special venire to issue. The securing of the remaining jurers occupied the most of the day. Dillman's crime was a most cold blooded one. He had neglected to support his wife, and had for a week left her at the poorhouse near Nazareth. On the 28th of March he appeared at the almshouse, bringing with him a new dress for his wife. He told her he had rented a house in South Bethlehem, and that if she would go they would set out next morn ing to buy furniture and begin house keeping again. Accordingly they started, accompanied by a young woman, who left them near Hecktown. After walking for an hour longer Dillman told his wife to go into a lane leading off the main road as it was a near cut.

Scarcely had they entered the lane when Dillman told his wife that he was tired of her and meant to kill her. She implored him to leave her, saying she would go back to the poorhouse and would never trouble him, but he disregarded her en treaties. He threw her down, tied her hands, drew a small pocket knife and cut her throat from ear to ear. He then ran across the fields. The poor woman dragged herself bleeding and suffering to a farmhouse near by, and from there was taken Dillman was subsequently found near Mahanoy City and lodged in jail. His wife, hearing of his arrest, said she hoped he would hang for his crime.

He was the idol of my life and I did so much want to see him respected. Everybody said that I was a model mother and that my son would be a great man, and I was so flattered by these remarks that I was even more strict than ever with him. One night just after I had put him to bed company came, and while we were talking the little fellow awoke and began to cry. I told him to hush, and when I found he did not intend to obey me, I went to the bed and spanked him. For Love of a Little Child.

Cincinnati News Journal. In a pottery factory here there is a workman who had one small invalid child at home. He wrought at his trade with exemplary fidelity, being always in the shop with the opening of the day. He managed, however, to bear each evening to the bedside of his "wee lad," as he called him, a flower, a bit of ribbon or a fragment of crimson glass-indeed, anything that would lie out on the white counterpane and give a color to the room. and I highly recommend it to all who are He was a quiet, unsentimental man, but troubled with kidney complaints." thing that would make the wan face light up with joy at his return. They put them in the old man's hat, where he found them, so he understood all about it; and, believe it or not, cynics, as you will, but it is a fact that the entire pottery full of men, of rather coarse fibre by nature, grew quiet as the months drifted, becoming gentle and kind, and some dropped swearing as the weary look on the patient fellow-worker's face told them beyond mistake that the inevitable shadow was drawing nearer. Every day now some did a piece of work for him and put it on the sanded plank to dry so that he could come later and go earlier. So, when the bell tolled, and the little coffin came out of the lowly door, right around the corner, out of sight, there stood 100 stalwart workmen from the pottery with their clean clothes on, most of whom gave a half day's time for the privilege of taking part in the simple procession, and following to its grave that small burden of a child which probably not one had ever seen.

EXPRESSMEN LIABLE.

MR. A. S. MERRILL, the popular expressman kidneys and bladder, so called by my physicians, I suffered with distressing pains in my back and retention of urine, caused by a stoppage of the neck of the bladder, and a compli cation of other diseases. I was hardly able to attend to my business, and at times would be completely prostrated. I was also affected with incontinence of urine to an alarming de gree; indeed, it demanded my attention fitteen or twenty times per night, and at times t would seem impossible for me to ride down to the depot on my wagon, for every jar from the wagon would almost seem to take my life. Having failed to obtain relief from my doctor I finally consulted our druggist, Dr. Merry man, of Brunswick, and requested him to furnish me with the most reliable and speedy cure for such sickness, for I was suffering too much for human nature to endure long. The doctor recommended me to use Hunt's Remedy, as it had been used with remarkable success in a good many cases in Brurswick and vicinity. I purchased a bottle, and received such great rehet that I continued and had not used two bottles before I began to improve beyond my expectations. The pains in my kidneys and loins disappeared, I gain ed strength, and my water began to pass naturally, and I was able to sleep soundly, and obtain the greatly needed rest which for a long time I could not. The Strongest Argument!

After all, the best test of ACCEPTABLE SERVICE on the part of any merchant is the number of PERMANENT CUSTOM-ERS he secures. Some merchants assume that "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush," and take chances of their customer's return after he has once had "the wool pulled over his eyes." But slas, the supply of new customers finally range out supply of new customers finally runs out and it is only a question of time when the strial dodger is left no more "lambs" to shear. We have a strong and growing con-situency, to whom we refer with pride. situency, to whom we refer with pride. Many of our customers have dealt with us for years and send their friends here to be CLOTHED. The verdict is that OUR CLOTHING IS RELIABLE, and we lay more stress on that than any other feature of our business. Our CLOTHING is cut from carefully selected fabries of best known American mids, excellently trimmed and well-made, and from the very large assortment always here, you are sure to find the fit you look for.
