THE TERRIBLE STORM IN MINNESOTA.

How the Cyclone Devastated the Country—Sweeping Over the Land With Fresh Violence and Dealing Death and Destruction.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—Later reports from Rochester of the destructive cyclone at that place, on Tuesday night, place the number of persons killed at 26.

Of the great number injured 51 are in the hands of the doctors.

Two hundred and fifty houses were wrecked and two hundred others damaged.

A dispatch from Dodge Center says: A man named H. Ebbert, and his wife were working in a field when they saw the storm coming, and clung to each other until it struck them.

He was knocked senseless and she was blown to a considerable distance.

Three Women Killed at Mason. A dispatch from Mason says that the cyclone passed about six miles south of that place.

Three women, wives of Norwegian immigrants, were killed and a number of people injured.

Two men were killed and a good many head of livestock killed.

WEATHER FORECAST.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—For the Middle Atlantic states, partly cloudy weather and local rains on Thursday afternoon or evening, followed on Friday morning by cooler fair weather, mostly westerly, falling followed by rising barometer.

Another Leading Democratic Journal for Announcement.

Belmonte Watchman, Dem.

The Democratic House has offered all it can do for the people.

It has, in order to fulfill the purposes for which the extra session was called, gone further than it should and offered more compromises and concessions, than fair ness to its own party admits of.

In fact it has gone to the verge of treason to the Democracy in its efforts to obey the mandates of the constitution, and all without result.

The Stewart Senate insolently refuses to consider any offer—defiantly rejects all concessions—absolutely and positively refuses to do anything.

What then can the Democratic House do?

To adjourn finally is to allow the constitution to be over ridden and the rights of the people to be denied; it is to give up the battle and say those who defy the constitution and care naught for the public weal are stronger than the people.

To continue in session is to continue the expense which the tax payers in the end must pay, and which the very men who refuse to do anything will pocket.

To us there seems but one way out.

Let the whole question be put to the people by adjourning until the voters can be heard at the polls.

Let the House pass a resolution adjourning until November or December, and no pay during the recess, and if the Senate refuses to consent, let the governor pro-vide both bodies until the people can be heard in this matter.

Let this question be put fairly before the voters of the state in the coming campaign, and we venture the assertion that there will not be enough of Stewartism and its election, to make a basis for half a dozen districts.

Keep the Buildings Painted.

German town Telegraph.

The manufacturers of paints keep almost every description prepared ready for use, and as it is desirable to have a steady supply of such brushes as may be needed for domestic purposes.

Some of the paints, which would answer very well for outside work, can be purchased at very moderate prices.

Hence there is no reason that the paint should be so expensive as the farmer dwellings and out-houses so many of them going to decay for want of a little paint, which the owner or his boys could readily apply without difficulty, thus not only adding to the general appearance of the buildings, but generally tending to their preservation.

In comparison with the cost of the paint and labor is a mere trifle and not worth counting. It is the wood work on the buildings which suffers, presenting a most unsightly appearance, and begins early to decay.

A good coat of paint, which is so often needed, would preserve it for at least twice the length of time that would be the case in the absence of paint.

This fact is very serious consideration, as it will be found that, instead of causing an expenditure of money, it will save the owner from having to look at the shabby appearance of their buildings, it will prove an absolute saving. It should be remembered that money wisely spent in cases like this is doubly saved.

The Kangaroo.

Lamb like as is the face of the kangaroo, tender and soft as are his eyes, he is by no means so gentle as he looks.

Like the heathen Chinese, his countenance betrays him, and he is far more excited and wild than dangerous.

To the hunter seeking for some new sensation, a visit to the wilds of Australia in search of kangaroos can be recommended.

It requires a fleet horse to run an able dog, and a hunter who has no chance to show tail, and a kangaroo well trained dog to tackle him when brought to bay.

Inside his soft, dewy lips are strong formidable teeth, which can bite severely. His forepaws, weak as they seem, can lift a dog high in the air and crush his skull to death.

His favorite fighting attitude is to can kick with his powerful hind legs in a manner that rapidly clears a circle around him; and woe betide the man or dog that comes within reach of his hind legs, which are armed with a flesh wound deep enough to maim the one and kill the other.
