THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

MANY POLIS ON PRIVATE PROPERTY

The Property Owners Protest and Cut Down the Poles-Opinions of the Lawyers-The Contract with the City.

There was quite an excitement on North Duke street last evening. The Maxim electric light company, which has a contract for lighting the city with electricity, has had a gang of workmen employed for some weeks past in erecting the poles upon which the electric wires are to be suspended. Many hundreds of these poles have been placed along the curb line of the pavements in nearly all the streets of the city. Considerable opposition to their erection has been manifested by property owners, and in a great many cases, after the holes had been dug, and in some cases after the poles were crected, the company removed them rather than have a contest with the property owners. Late yesterday afternoon the Maxim workmen commenced digging a hole in the pavement on the line of the properties of Abram Hirsh and John F. Steinman, on the east side of North Dake street between Orange and Chestnut. As soon as the men commenced to dig the hole, Mr. Hirsh's family pro tested against it, but the workmen paid no attention to them. Mr. Hirsh was then sent for and was soon on the ground. He ordered the men to desist, but they paid no attention to him. He stood over the hole to prevent them from digging, and finally commenced to throw the dirt back into the hole, but the workmen dug it out again. Mr. Hirsh then sent for A. J. Steinman, esq, attorney for John F. Steinman who owns the adjoining prop erty. Messis. Hirsh and Steinman jointly sent a request to his honor Mayor MacGorigle asking him for police protection for their property again-t the trespassers and declaring that they would hold the city and the Maxim company responsible for damages. The mayor under advice of J. W. Johnson, esq , city solicitor, declined to interfere. Mr. John son told him "to keep his hands off." Harry Diller, chairman of the lamp committee was then seen. He said the committee had given no authority to the and attached hereto, agreed with Maxim workmen other than that in the lamp committee of the councils the contract, and had not design of the city of Lancaster to furnish nated the sidewalks on which the said city of Lancaster one hundred poles should be set. He thought, how- and twenty electric lamps as mentioned ever, that the Maxim company could in said articles of agreement, and to light erect the poless as they were necessary to the same and to do all things as mentioned carry the wires for the lights. Iron poles would be too costly for them. Mr. Diller specifically set forth. Now the conditions advised Messre. Steinman and Hirsh to talk persuasively and gently to the electric light people, and said they would put the poles where it would suit them. Two theories are assigned to account for yesterday's fires. One is that the straw lying about the steam engine attached to coming in contact with a part of the engine which had become heated by friction, and the other is that sparks from the engine set fire to the straw. Although the fire department promptly replied to the alarm, it could only exert itself to taining the wheat and hay being a mass of flames before they arrived. The wind blew towards Walnut street for awhile, and the houses on the north side of that street, below Second and Third street, were momentarily expected to become a flaming mass. It finally changed to a southerly direction, and it was then that H. F. Bruner's residence, corner of Walnut and Commerce streets, McClure's slate works on Commerce, and a house owned by B. F. Stoner, on Front street, took fire. These were extinguished before much damage was done. Dr. S. Ar mor's and J. Wolf's stables, and the rear of company C armory, were all badly scorched by the flames from the burning buildings on Mt. Bethel, during the time the wind blew toward Walnut street. The losses are heavier than at first supposed, great damage being sustained by out buildings, fences and gardens. The loss to the Samuel Heise estate is about $5,000 on which there is an insurance of $3,000 in the North American insurance company. Thomas Martin will lose about 86,000, the value of the hay and grain lost by him. He is least able of those who suffered

THE SALUNG. FIRE.

The Losses In Detail -No D. ubt of its Incendiary Origin Further particulars concerning the big fire in Salunga, a brief account of which appeared in the INTELLIGENCER of Monday, seem to show that its discovery in the barn of Jacob L Hoover was made shortly before noon. An alarm was raised and the citizens responded in a short time, but too late to extinguish the flames. The building being very dry it was soon enwrapped in flames. A strong eastern wind was blowing all the time which hastened the communication of the flames with several frame stables on the west. A frame stable, the property of Samuel S. Brubaker, adjoining the building, was entirely destroyed. This building was used by D. S. Hankins, who loses two tons of hay, several tons of coal, a lot of straw, wood, potatoes, etc., on which there is no insurance. His horse and wagon were taken safely from the building. On this stable there is an insurance of $250 in the Penn township insurance company. The corner stable belonged to Tobias M. Stauder. This building with a lot of straw and hay was entirely consumed. The horse and wagons were saved On the opposite side of the alley a large shed used or storing straw was also burned to the ground. Mr. Stauffer has the buildings igsured in the Lancaster County Mutual fire insurance company. A part of the Hoover building where the fire started was used by him as a carpenter shop. His tools, two wagons, hay, straw and harness were burned. The horse was taken out, but two hogs, which were driven out, Joseph Stark vs. Joseph Houser. Action ran back and were burned to death.
