CUTICURA

CUTICURA REMEDIES,

THE GREAT SKIN CURES.

To cleanse the Skin, Scalp and Blood of Itching, Scaly, Pimply, Scrofulous, Inherited, and Contagious Humors, Blood Poisons, Ulcers, Abscesses, and Infantile Skin Tortures, the CUTICURA REMEDIES are Infallible. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, Diuretic and Aperient, expels disease germs from the blood and perspiration, and thus removes the cause. CUTICURA, the great Skin cure, instantly allays Itching and Inflammation, clears the Skin and Scalp, heals Ulcers and Sores, restores the Complexion. CUTICURA SOAP, an exquisite Skin Beautifier and Toilet Requisite, is indispensable in treating Skin Diseases, and for Rough, Chapped or Greasy Skin, Blackheads, Blotches, and Baby Humors. CUTICURA REMEDIES are the only infallible blood purifiers and skin beautifiers.

Chas. Houghton, Esq., lawyer, 21 State street, Boston, reports a case of Salt Rheum under his observation for ten years, which covered the patient's body and limbs, and to which all known methods of treatment had been applied without benefit, which was completely cured solely by the CUTICURA REMEDIES, leaving a clean and healthy skin.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Stebbins, Belchertown, Mass., write: "Our little boy was terribly afflicted with Scrofula, Salt Rheum and Erysipelas ever since he was born and nothing we could give him helped him until we tried CUTICURA REMEDIES, which gradually cured him, until he is now as fair as any child.

H. S. Carpenter, Henderson, N. Y., cured of Psoriasis, or Leprosy, of twenty years' standing, by CUTICURA REMEDIES. The most wonderful cure on record. A shotpan full of scales fell from him daily. Physicians and his friends thought he must die. Cure sworn to before a justice of the peace and Henderson's most prominent citizens.

Hon. Wm. Taylor, Health Commissioner, Boston, says: After three months' use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and twelve years of as constant suffering from Scrofulous Humor of the face, neck and scalp as was ever endured, I can say that I am cured, and pronounce my case the most remarkable on record.

Sold by all druggists. CUTICURA, 50 cents; RESOLVENT, $1; SOAP, 35 cents. POTTER DRUG AND CHEMICAL CO., Boston, Mass.

Send for "How to Cure Skin Diseases."

CUTICURA SOAP. Absolutely pure and highly medicinal, indorsed by physicians, preferred by the elite. Sales, 1881 and 1882, 1,000,000 cakes. Sold everywhere.

BENSON'S PORous PLASTERS.

BEYOND THE RIVER.

Away Across the Mississippi River is Held a Convincing Conversation.

"I tell you sir, that they are one of the neatest combinations ever produced, and my experience of that sort of thing has been wide enough to entitle my judgment to some respect."

"Oh, I don't know," responded the first speaker's friend, with a little yawn as though he didn't take much interest in the subject, "I have never been able to see much difference in those things. They are pretty nearly the same size, and made of about the same stuff."

The talk, of which the foregoing is a fragment, took place in Gallatin, Missouri, not long ago, in the snug office of Dr. M. P. Flowers, one of the leading physicians of the state, who followed up the vein in which he had introduced it substantially in these words:

"Nonsense, that is the rigmarole of a boy, or rather, of a man who either doesn't know or doesn't care what he says. Those things, as you call them, are just as different as the moon is from green cheese. Now, liniments, lotions and ointments are very good in most cases for the relief of pain or inflammation. But, in the first place, they are unclean. They soil the hands and the linen, best lies being always out of reach when they are most wanted."

"Well, my dear doctor," sighed the lawyer from the North, "what would you have? This is a wretched world anyhow, and nothing is ever at hand when it is wanted. You can't suggest anything——"

"Yes, I can," broke in the doctor, thumping the table with his fist, "I can suggest BENSON'S CAPCINE POROUS PLASTER. I have tried it on my patients, and I have tried it on myself for an attack of Pneumonia, and in all cases relief has followed in from three to forty-eight hours. The old plasters are stage coaches—the Capcine is a telegraph dispatch. For instance, in cases of Neuralgia, Muscular Rheumatism, Lumbago, retarded action of Kidneys, and——"

"I give it up, doctor, and in case of need I'll buy Benson's," said the traveler, pleasantly.

In the centre of the genuine is cut the word CAPCINE.

THE FURY OF THE WIND.

ITS FORCE ON THE CAROLINA COAST

Eighty-one Miles Per Hour for Seven Hours —Work of the Hurricane About Smithville.

The signal corps station at Smithville, N. C., reports to the chief signal office at Washington that the maximum velocity of the wind there Wednesday was ninety-three miles, and that the average velocity for the six hours was seventy miles. Thirteen vessels and pilot boats are ashore and sunk. Cannot learn particulars yet.

The wires are still down between Wilmington, N. C., and Smithville, and the steamers which run daily between that place and Smithville did not leave their wharves here yesterday. They went down to-day and returned this evening, bringing the first of the ravages of the storm.

At Smithville the storm attained the proportions of a hurricane, the wind reaching a maximum velocity of ninety-three miles an hour. For seven hours consecutively it averaged eighty-one miles per hour. Many houses were unroofed, a number of wharves were washed away and the fisheries were seriously damaged. All the pilot boats were blown ashore and one of them was sunk. There were many vessels in the harbor, only two of which held their anchorage throughout the gale. None of them, however, were wrecked.

The Norwegian bark, Sulitzelma, bound for Liverpool, and the schooner, Rover, for Baltimore, after colliding, went ashore on Big Rock, and both will return to Smithville for repairs.

The oldest pilots say that in duration and violence the storm at Smithville exceeded any they ever witnessed.

The revenue cutter Schuyler Colfax, although in imminent danger, rode out the gale in safety.

Reports still continue to come in at Halifax, N. S., giving details of the ravages by the storm.

The schooner Delta left Cow Bay on the 28th for Yarmouth with a cargo of coal, and has not since been heard from. The friends of her crew have given up all hope of their safety.

The schooner Edith R. left Caledonia, C. B., on the 27th with coal for Yarmouth. She, too, is probably lost.

The schooner Summerville left Cowbay on the 28th ult. for Halifax with coal, and has not since been heard from.

Two schooners, one owned by John Maguire, of Steep Creek Cano, and the other by Mrs. Bisps, of Harbor Bouche, were out in the gale and have not since been heard from. They are given up by their owners. Each had a crew of seven men, most of whom are married and leave families.

Reports of additional disasters in the recent storms have been received from Placenta. Captain Steven's vessel, with five men, was swamped near Point Lance reefs. Morellis schooner, of Mausheen, was wrecked near cape St. Mary's, and all hands perished. Dunphy's craft, of Reo island, sank with its living freight, near Bull and Cow rocks, off St. Mary's. Two wrecked vessels were recently passed, one on her beam ends and the other bottom up. There are no tidings of either vessel.

AN INDIAN'S ULTIMATUM.

Senator Vest's Dramatic Scene With Charles, a Flathead Chief.

Senator Vest and Delegate Maginnis, of the Indian commission, returned Wednesday from St. Mary's mission, Bitter Root Valley, at the Flathead agency, Missoula Montana. The Indians refused to sell any portion of their reserve or to move to another reservation. They said they had no grievances, and were highly pleased with their agent, Ronan. All they desired was to keep whisky away from their young men. The St. Ignatius mission schools, also on the reservation, were visited by the commission. The schools are well conducted by Sisters of Charity and priests. About fifty Indian girls and the same number of boys are being educated, and they show remarkable proficiency in the different classes. Senator Vest speaks highly of teachers and pupils.

The council at St. Mary's mission was rather dramatic. Charles, a Flathead chief, with a few hundred Indians, has steadily refused to go upon a reservation. The Indians cultivate a few ranches, but are steadily growing poorer, and the valley is thickly settled by whites. The reservation Indians and the whites want these Indians removed to a reservation, to avoid anticipated trouble. In the council Senator Vest and Delegate Maginnis sat opposite the chief. Through an interpreter Senator Vest explained his mission.

Charles, who is a noted brave, gazed defiantly at the senator for a moment, and then began his reply. He said: "We are poor and weak. You want to place your foot upon our neck and grind our face in the dust. But I will not go. I will go to the plains."

"Nez Perces Joseph tried to go to the plains," broke in Senator Vest. "There are no plains now. The white men are as thick as leaves from ocean to ocean. If you do not get a title to your lands here, like white men, soldiers will come some day and place you upon a reservation."

"My hands and those of my people are free from the white man's blood," said Charles. "When the Nez Perces came here we protected the whites. Why does the white man take his heart from us now?" Then he took off his hat, threw it upon the floor, stamped upon it and, with blazing eyes gazing upon Senator Vest, shouted: "You may take Charles to a reservation, but there will be no breath in his nostrils! Charles will be dead. He will never go there alive."

Senator Vest answered the tawny chieftain, in language as emphatic as his own, that he must obey the white man's law as implicitly as did the white man; if he did not he must go where the government chooses to send him. Before the council broke up Charles agreed to go to Washington with Agent Ronan, and talk the matter over with the Great Father.

Handwriting of Great Men.

The Duke of Wellington's writing was large and forcible, without attempting at decoration. During the last ten years of his life, however, his writing was indifferent, and often illegible. None but a compositor in a newspaper office accustomed to all sorts of hieroglyphics, could possibly decipher the characters. A letter of his to a minister in Lord Derby's cabinet has not to this day been unraveled. Nine out of every ten of the duke's letters treasured by autograph hunters were written by his secretary, Mr. Greville who wrote a hand very much like that of the duke in his best days. Lord Brougham's hand betrayed much unconquerable restlessness of impulse. His manuscript was a mass of hieroglyphics, and according to Dr. Blenkinsop, in all Mr. Clowes' extensive printing establishments in London there was only one man competent to grapple with it, and he often gave it up in despair. The bold and rareless freedom of Byrou's handwriting compared to the elegant little prettiness of Tom Moore's, reveals very clearly the peculiar qualities of the two poets. The elegant precision of Mrs. Heman's penmanship, and the free but clear and intelligent abandon of L. F. Landon's were equally characteristic of mental peculiarities. The royal family of England have generally written good, clear, and free hands. William IV. wrote a remarkably plain and legible hand, and that of his brother George was showy and fluent. Queen Victoria has an elegant signature. Locke says the faster a man writes the slower others read what he has written. Napoleon could write 14 pages a minute; unfortunately, however, each page consisted of eight blots and a splatter. Some of his lines to Marie Louise appear as if scattered over the paper by the explosion of a bomb-shell. The manuscript of Horace Greeley, the American statesman, was very illegible. A wag once observed that the sentence, "Virtue is its own reward," written by Mr. Greeley, was rendered by the compositor into "Washing with soap is wholly absurd." Another story runs that Mr. Greeley was once applied to for the character of a servant whom he had dismissed for dishonest practices. Some time afterward the man met Mr. Greeley and thanked him for the character he had given him. "Why," said he, "I candidly said you were a thief." "Well, sir, as it was impossible to read your letter, it was constructed into a recommendation, and I got the situation."

A Murderous Affray in Texas.

At Trinity, Texas, Tuesday Major H. B. Hurlack, a mill owner, and his son, W. H. Hurlock, aged 22 years, were shot by one of their employes, named Roseman, 23 years of age. W. H. Hurlock is now dead his father's wounds are pronounced mortal. The shooting occurred at a house near Hurlock's mill. A young son of Major Hurlock had been annoying Roseman, who, in endeavoring to make him desist, accidentally injured the child's foot. The major showered abuse and blows upon Roseman. The latter declining to resent this treatment the major called to his son to come out and whip Roseman. The son's blows quickly put Roseman on the ground, when the latter drew a revolver and shot his adversary through the head. The major then reached for his pistol and Roseman shot him also. He then coolly went upstairs, procured another revolver and barricaded himself. The mill hands had by this time arrived and gathered around the premises. The lady of the house entreated Roseman to leave. He complied, remarking: "I will for you; you are a woman." When Roseman left the house the men opened fire upon him and after filling him with gooseshot secured him. After Roseman's capture Major Hurlock, despite his wounds, beat him until the bystanders interfered.

Fire Record.

The planing mill of Wilkinson & Hill, at Freeburg, Illinois, and an adjoining elevator, were burned on Tuesday. Loss $60,000.—The Houghton block, in Terrell, Texas, was burned on Tuesday. Loss over $20,000.—A large four story building in South Boston, occupied by Smith & Co., manufacturers of fine desks and school and counting house furniture, was burned out last night. The loss is estimated at $75,000.—A fire in Fort Smith, Arkansas, on Tuesday night, destroyed several stores, causing a loss of nearly $50,000.
