SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 15, 1883.

The Poles Must Go.

That remarkable committee of ours has come to the conclusion that the vaults under the sidewalks belong to the city and can be utilized as depositories of its poles.

The city seems content with the legal light that Solicitor Johnson can shed upon it, and the Maxlin company have been endeavoring to sail along cheaply under this conveyance only.

What conclusion the authorities will finally reach, under this legal illumination, as to the city's right to take possession of the citizen's dwelling, we will not predict.

The Mandamus System. The "mandamus" system of securing payment for bills against the city of Philadelphia afforded every opportunity for fraud.

The Philadelphia Press pretends that it is the ardent desire of the Republican legislators that the governor shall veto the appropriation bill for their pay.

Some of the astute people who did not think favorably of the Pennsylvania Democratic platform on the questions of the tariff and civil service reform, will find that the New Jersey state convention has followed with exactly the same deliverance.

It is perhaps not so remarkable that the Democratic House of 1883 got along with $1,308,750 worth of stationery as that the Republican House of 1878 stole and used $23,587,91 worth.

CHIEF CLERK MEER, of the House at Harrisburg, has shown what an honest and careful scrutiny of his department can accomplish in the way of saving money to the state.

It seems that the judges of the New York courts accept passes from railroad companies. It is a lawful thing for them to do there, and consequently not so discreditable as when it is done by our judges here, where the constitution forbids the practice.

The Salvation Army has now 3,191 commissioned officers.

Through the apple crop is reported a failure, it is believed that the crop of statesmen who are willing and anxious to serve their country for pay is up to the average.

The pope wrote these lines in the anti-graph of an American lady: Justitiam colit: certamina longa, laboriosa, fortiora, insidias super, quaeque fuit. A fine vindicta non desinat, pro lege Christi.

Baltimore's patience was finally rewarded with a clear sky and the gorgeous possession of the Mystic Pageant has taken place, and been pronounced a grand success.

The last Convention Journal of the Episcopal church gives the following as a list of the members of the church in the diocese of Philadelphia.

LEONARD GREENE, and his little band of Aetna explorers looked up in the land of perpetual ice and snow with not much possibility of rescue until next summer is not a very cheerful subject to contemplate as winter draws nigh.

AMID the continuous wrangling of labor and capital that in one form or another is always causing financial unrest, it becomes a pleasure to record the success of a manufacturer in Rouen, France.

THE CHURCHES.

SOME LATE RELIGIOUS MATTERS.

German Reformed Synod to Philadelphia.—Second Year. Synodical Conference.

The German Reformed Synod, of the East resumed its session, Friday morning in the Bethlehem church, corner of Norris and High streets, Philadelphia.

The communication from the Philadelphia Reformed classes (English), received at Thursday's session, relative to the celebration of the birth of the four hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Swiss Reformer, Ulrich Zwingli, was brought to the attention of synod.

A motion synod resolved to inform the Philadelphia classes that a petition has already been filed with the general synod of the Reformed church, requesting that the anniversary celebration be arranged for the whole church.

The erection of a monument in memory of Casper Dornhaus, one of the editors of the "Lancaster Intelligencer," having been brought before the general synod at its meetings, it was resolved to continue the committee formerly appointed for that purpose.

A request from the general synod of the Reformed church, in connection with the anniversary celebration, was presented, that the synod of the East give up to said class the portion of the territory belonging to the West Pennsylvania class, situated in West Pennsylvania and West Virginia, along the boundary of the state of Ohio, south of Pittsburgh.

After a lengthy discussion the request was referred to a special committee.

Confirmation certificates, prepared by the German publishing house of the Reformed church, in Cleveland, Ohio, were recommended by the committee, and copies to all the ministers and congregations of the synod.

The finance committee, appointed to raise funds to meet the expenses of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal church in New York, held its second meeting in June last, asking for $10,000, and subscriptions have been received to the amount of $5,000.
