At his post was standing a soldier, Like a forest oak in its pride. He was young, he was tall and handsome; I thought " Were but I in his stead !" spoke-and four words he answered I am on guard," he said.

The air was scented with blossoms, The skies were blue above : I said to the stalwart soldier "Friend, 't's the time of love. You are twenty-to what fair maiden. Say, is your hot heart sped ?" Only four words he answered "I am on guard," he said.

In the river beside the palace A boy was drowning. A wave Had closed upon him. "Ho! soldier!" The crowd cried: "Help us to save!" Never a step took the sentry-(The boy has sunk -he is dead.) Only tour words he murmured:

I am on guard," he said. An old man passed by the palace-The soldier's father. The rout Jeered at the debtor whom tyrants Should scar i' the back with the knout. He looked to the staiwart soldier. Save me, my son !" be plead,

Four words the sentry answered " I am on guard," he said. Then I turned from the stalwart soldier. And hid my face in my hand, For I thought of a dreary proverb Of a dark and distant land :

I remembered a Georgian proverb With many a sigh and groan ; And I knew 'twas a truth most bitter A soldier's heart must be sto ne -Ella Heath in Our Continent.
