POLITICAL.

MATTERS REGARDING THE CAMPAIGN.

The Outlook for Success in Pennsylvania—The Issue Before the Voters—How to

The people of the once Republican State of Ohio have declared by a decisive vote that "the Republican party must go."

An observer of the situation there who is not partial to the Democracy says, in review of the elections in Ohio:

"It is a complete Democratic triumph, not only by the causes which it makes all the State officers Democratic, but by the fact that it gives the Democracy the first control of the supreme court, the board of public works and all the boards of State charities and other institutions they have had since the organization of the Republican party in 1853, and secures the reelection of Pendleton or some other Democrat to the Senate."

"Such are the substantial fruits of the Democratic success in Ohio. But there are not only possible but probable results of the victory in the future which must be even more appalling to the discomfited Republican leaders. This is the first time the Democrats have ever carried Ohio twice in consecutive contests since the Republicans won their first victory with Chase twenty-eight years ago, and it is the first time that they have won in Ohio with a full vote polled."

"Tuesday both parties voted, both dignified the contest into national importance as one of the most vital preliminary battles of 1883. The Republican machinery and means were extensively employed to save the state for the presidential race, and what have heretofore been accidents of Democratic victory in Ohio now command the respect due a really victorious party which has secured a lease of power limited to good behavior."

"It looks like the breaking up of a long Republican winter in the Buckeye state, and only Democratic blunders or crimes can restore the lost Republican power. It is organization is vitally affected with any view to the future of the party."

"It remains for Pennsylvania to emphasize the verdict of Ohio."

The causes that operated to Republican defeat here are not only the same, but success is certain if the party organization everywhere, during the next three weeks, will devote all its energies to the single important duty before it to GET OUT THE VOTE."

The Democracy of Pennsylvania have every incentive to this, not only in the demoralization of the enemy and in the inspiration furnished them by the victory in Ohio, but in the justice of their own cause."

Democratic state administration and a Democratic House, chosen last year upon a full vote, by a plurality of 40,000, have vindicated the pledges of reform, upon which they were elected; and the people of Pennsylvania have faith that the extension of Democratic control to other departments of the state government will be accompanied by real reforms upon the extravagance and irregularities which have prevailed under Republican administration."

The unchallenged fitness of the Democratic candidates, Taggart and Powell, makes the issue more forcible and distinct. The organized conspiracy of the Republican party to defy the constitutional command for a fair apportionment; the denial to the people of the state of their right to equal representation, which is the foundation of the state government; and the shameful mismanagement of the state treasury for the profit of political ringsters, have awakened the indignation of honest citizens of all parties."
