And a Family Made Happy

Mr. Philip Moore, of West Webster, Monroe County. N. Y., says: "My daughter, now eighteen years old, has, for the past eighteen wars old, has, for the past eighteen months, ben afflicted with rheumatism in a very severe form. One year ago it settled in the knee, since which time she has been unable to touch her toot to the floor or move her limb without suffering the most exeru chaing pain. Her limb was last growing out of shape, although we were doing for herail we could, hear of and that were recommended for rheumatism, hone of which ben-fitted her in the least. Her case was pronounced incurable by the physician and by our neighbors, and all believed that she would be a cripple all her days, and that her limb would never be restored to its original never be restored to its original shape. But I am happy to say that to-day my daughter is entirely free from all rheumatic paths, and that she can walk with perfect ease, haying thrown uside her crutches, and her limb seems as strong and perfect as ever; all from the use of your wonderful medicine. "Rheumatic Syrup," which we consider one of the best medicines ever introduced for purifying the blood, and I only regret that all others who are afflicted with rheumatism can not know of its superior merits. ### IS IT CHARLIE ROSS?

HIS ADVENTURES ON LAND AND SEA.

A Remarkable Story Told by a Boy, Who Thinks He is the Son of Christian K. Stess.

The story in detail of the young man who thinks he is Charlie Ross was made public Thursday, at Portland. His full name is Charles Augustive Pinkham. He is very ignorant and is unable to recall names, except by a great offert, and is rather confused about ordinary matters. He appears to be very honorable in his feeling and is unable to recall the cherished affection for the mother he can just remember. It is difficult to resist the belief more met me at the steamboat. One of the men put his hand over my mouth to keep me from crying out. The four men were all in the same room on the steamer. I was taken, as I now think, to Boston where the men put me in a back and drove to another steamboat and, as I think carried to Portland and from Portland to a place called Winterport. I do not know that it was Winterport, only that I heard it called so many times. I was kept in a large house, in which there seemed to be a great many children, but I did not see any of them for a very long time and did not see a woman all the time I was there. After about two years they let a girl come would act like circus horses do. There were stalls for the horses on each side and we made a port they would run out a platform, take their horses and ride off. Jesse and the rest seemed to own the bark I ever saw. and managed it as they pleased, and when they went on shore would leave a large It is needless to describe the symptoms of this nauseous disease that is sapping the life and strength of only too many of the intrest and best of both sexes, old and young, suffering allow from the neutrons of the intrest if I would be a read once he told me that if I would be a good boy and stay in my room I should some time have a horse of my own and a good track beside. The bark was nothing more than a pirate and was once chased by a cutter, but escaped. The bark was loaded with lots of things and I had seen guns on board. By guns I mean rifles.

"At last we made to port in Brazil and the large man was lett alone on board, and opened the door of our room and said : Here, you children, come out,' and then he told us to go. The girl took me and we went ashore and wandered around for awhile and at last went to a Spanish hotel and staid there three days until the bark Finally we got a passage to New York. That was about five years ago. After we got on shore the girl told me that my name was Charlie Ross and she told me to always remember it. It seemed to bring things back to me when she called me Charlie Ross and I remembered things I had forgotten. I learned to cook and shipped on the bark Ada Carter, from Boston to Brazil, and Fanny went with me. She wanted to find out about her people and found that her father and mother were both dead, and when we got back she went to live at Lynn and was at work in a shoe shop. From Lynn she went to Lawrence, where she was at work in one of the shoe shops-in the finishing roomwhen I heard from her last. I saw her | fails to cure. last about two years ago. I then shipped in the J. D. Brayton, bound from Fall River to South American, and on the way I way very sick with a fever. My hair came off and when it came out again it was darker than it had been.

"While I was sick things seemed to some back to me some way and I knew that I was Charlie Ross, but I did not know who Charlie Ross was. I was at Philadelphia once, but that was before the fever and before things had come back to me and I knew that I was Charlie Ross. Before that I only knew that I was Char-Saved lie Ross because the girl told and I don't know how she found it out. Perhaps she overheard Josse James and the others

'No ; I never read a book about Charlie Ross and never heard of Charlie Ross, except what Fanny said, nutil about two years ago. I can read a little and can make letters, but don't know how to put them together. I don't drink, but do smoke sometimes.

"While on the bark with Jesse and the rest I expected to be killed. I heard one of them say once, 'What shall we do with the boy?' and the other said, 'We'll kill They didn't give me enough to eat sometimes and then sometimes they'd whip me.

"This year I was in the schooner Lizzle M. Stewart, and we landed at a place called Winterport and went ashore with the captain, and while there I saw a large building and I thought it was where I was kept so long. The boards around the yard didn't seem to be like they had been, but there were a lot of rocks and things near the house that looked natural to me. Still it might not have been the place. I don't know who I am, of cource, but I think I am Charlie Ross and the boy they wanted so long. I think Mr. Ross must be my father and I want to see him. It isn't money that I want, but to see people. I suppose that father must be poor himself and they say that my mother is dead."

The boy is still dread of the men who appear to have held him so long a prisoner and to yet believe that they will make an effort to kill him on account of having told the story, and yet he relies chiefly upon the hope that Frank James may be induced to tell what he knows about the matter, and, by ad mitting that Jesse was concerned in the plot against him, to greatly assist in bringing him to his own again. He is now stopping with a lady well known for her kindness, whose sympathy was excited in the first place by a burning accident which he was a .... up a stove

THE NEW ST. LOUIS NINE. Cutting Into the League and Association. Several Players secured.

The formation of a new baseball association, the managers of which intend to cut juto the American association and the league for players, is the topic of the day in local sporting circles at St. Louis. It now appears that while the new association had no regular representative at Phil adelphia, Thomas Pratt was authorized to represent and secure for it membership in the new organization. Their intention is to negotiate only with players who have so far not signed regular contracts. The first men negotiated with, it appears, were Gross, McClellan, Purcell and Manning, of the Philadelphia club. Purcell, acting for the above four, and in answer to different propositions made him, telegraphed: "We our will go to St. Louis for $8,000, providing you give each one of us $600 ad vance money."

These terms were accepted. tions were also made Mullane and Deasley, of the St. Louis club. Mullane offered to join the organization for $2,500, providing $1,000 advance money was paid him. This proposition the directors of the new organization are now considering. Deasley wanted $3,000 for next season's play and $1,000 advance money, and this proposition is also being considered. The Cleveland club is at St. Louis, and offers have been made McCormick, Daily and York, of that organization. It is stated on good authority that York and Daly have consented to go to St. Louis York is mentioned as the coming captain of the new team. Bennett of the Detroit club, is said to be anxious to leave that organization, and correspondence is now in progress between him and the management of the club.

The organization has secured the old Brown Stocking charter and will claim that name and wear the old Brown Stock ing uniform. Flint, of the Chicago White Stockings, is at St. Louis and associating with those at the back of the new venture and his name is still linked with the new

Our latest correspondence, May Is, 1882, brings to us the narrative of Henry B. Ingram, the General Superintendent of the District Messenger Co., of New Paven, Conn. My Old Hat.

Fareweil, the glossy idol of my beart, The best of friends through time must part Fain would I to compassion yield. And evermore thy feelings shield. But on! old friend, thou rt now a tife, But on! old friend, thou'tt now a tile,
Of creases, dents and ancient style;
Wild abuse has edged thy crown;
The weight of years has bowed thee down.
Despise the aged? "Tis not my creed,
But time and tashion did the deed.
And yet, old friend, metainks I feel,
Thy form extend a mute appeal,
a nd call before my tearful gaze
The merry scenes of bygone days—
When you and I in spiender passed
The brave, the fair, the gay and last;
In barroom, parlor, concert hall,
Thy glory overshadowed all;
Aloft in triumph proudly borne— Aloft in triumph proudly borne-Now an object humans scorn.
