TUESDAY EVENING, OCT. 30, 1883.

The Republican Senators' Address. The Republican state senators have issued an address to the public in defense of their record on the apportionment question.

With this conclusion we are quite content that they shall go before the people for their verdict as to whether they have in fact gone to the verge of conciliation in their endeavor to discharge what they admit to have been their constitutional duty to justly and properly apportion the state into congressional districts.

DAVE THE MONEY CHANGING THIEVES from the treasury temple by the election of Powell and Taggart. ALREADY IS THE INDEPENDENT VOTER making up his ticket and taking it away in his vest pocket preparatory to smashing the machine on Tuesday next.

HALLOWEEN will be upon us to-morrow night, and the small boy is already laying in his stock of cabbage heads and corn for the decoration of the unhappy household.

JOHN BISHOP'S fear of the fass that may be made over him should he visit the United States, ought to make American usage in the overbearing attentions they pay to distinguished foreigners.

THE EAST STROUBS' weekly Express has been purchased by Mr. A. E. Lewis and has been rechristened the Monitor Express. Mr. C. N. Pine, who was associated with Mr. Lewis on the Philadelphia Evening Journal in 1863 and later connected with the Public Record, has been selected as editor and publisher and with his ability as a thoroughly competent journalist will without doubt make the Express a lively and able newspaper.

With pall-bearers and writing hands, and every requisite of a funeral, the remains of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Hays were interred in the cemetery of the First Baptist church, on Monday afternoon, at 10 o'clock.

Simply a Business Question.

Article IX, section 12 of the state constitution says: "The moneys of the state, over and above the necessary reserve shall be used in payment of the debt of the state, either directly or through the sinking fund; and the moneys of the sinking fund shall never be invested in or loaned upon the security of anything except the bonds of the United States or this state." It is estimated that the amount in the sinking fund on Nov. 30, 1883, will be $2,973,498 34.

MEN BLOWN TO ATOMS.

CAUSED BY A TERRIBLE EXPLOSION. Heads, Arms, Legs and Legs of the Killed Picked Up Here and There in the District.

Brook Tunnel, along the line of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, on the northern border of Somerset county, forty miles from Pennsylvania, Pa., was the scene of a dynamite explosion yesterday morning the like of which has never before been recorded in the history of that section.

Up the track for 200 yards or more the ground was strewn with shreds of flesh and drops of blood. The face of the rocky cut in which the powder house stood was spattered in like ghastly fashion. High up on top of the tunnel a fragment of bone overall, about the size of a pocket handkerchief, itted from the top of a stately chestnut tree.

THE TRUNK OF TISSUE was found near the site of the explosion, and was found with the face and scalp torn from the head, leaving only the grinning skull. A man's leg, identified by a portion of the clothing as that of Eugene Reynolds, was found some distance off, and this morning a woman's shoe was found with a mile up the mountain side clinging by a long tendon to the bushes.

THE WIFE OF TISSUE was an overbearing woman, and the small boy is already laying in his stock of cabbage heads and corn for the decoration of the unhappy household.
