MACHINERY.

HAVING DISSOLVED PARTNERSHIP and permanently closed the Chestnut street Iron Works, I desire to inform my old patrons and the public generally, that I am still in the business, being located in the Penn Iron Company's Works, North Plum street where I am making Iron and Brass Castings of every description, and will be pleased to serve all who may favor me with their patronage. From 40 years experience in the business and using the best material and employing the best mechanics, I am satisfied I can guarantee entire satisfaction. Castings made from a mixture of iron and steel which are more reliable for strength and durability than the best cast iron known. V teeth roll pinions, rolls and rolling mill work a specialty. Castings made of very soft iron, and brass castings of every description. I have all the patterns of the well and favorably known Mower Corn and Cob Crusher, refitted and improved. Also on hand, mills completely fitted up or in parts, to replace old ones which have been in use for years, guaranteeing them to give satisfaction.

HIS OWN EXECUTOR.

A Well-known Gentleman's Philanthropy and the Commotion Caused by One of His Letters.

(Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.)

We published on our third page yesterday morning a significant letter from a gentleman known personally or by reputation to nearly every person in the land. We have received a number of letters protesting against the use of our columns for such "palpable frauds and misrepresentations;" therefore, to confirm beyond a doubt the authenticity of the letter and the genuineness of its sentiments a reporter of this paper was commissioned to ascertain all the possible facts in the matter. Accordingly he visited Clifton Springs, saw the author of the letter, and with the following result:

Dr. Henry Foster, the gentleman in question, is 61 or 64 years of age and has an extremely cordial manner. He presides as superintendent over the celebrated sanitarium which accommodates over 500 guests and is unquestionably the leading health resort of the country. Several years ago this benevolent man wisely determined to be his own executor; and, therefore, turned over this magnificent property worth $200,000, as a free gift to a board of trustees, representing the principal evangelical denominations. Among the trustees are Bishop A. C. Coxe, Protestant Episcopal, Buffalo; Bishop Mathew Simpson, Philadelphia, Methodist Episcopal; President M. B. Anderson, of the University of Rochester; Rev. Dr. Clark, secretary of the A. B. C. F. M., Boston. The benevolent purpose of the institution is to care: 1st.—of evangelical missionaries and their families whose health has been broken in their work 2nd.—of ministers of any denomination of good standing, 3rd.—of members of any church; who otherwise would be unable to secure such care and treatment. The current expenses of the institution are met by the receipts from the luxurious of distinguished and wealthy people who every year crowd its utmost capacity. Here come men and women who were once in perfect health, but who neglected the first symptoms of disease. The uncertain pains they felt at first were overlooked until their health became impaired. They little realized the danger before them, nor how a arming even trifling ailments might prove. They constitute all classes, including ministers and bishops, lawyers, judges, statesmen, millionaires, journalists, college professors and officials from all parts of the land.

Drawing the nothing Democrat and Chronicle from his pocket, the reporter remarked, "Doctor, that letter of yours has created a good deal of talk, and many of our readers have questioned its authenticity."

"To what do you refer?" remarked the doctor.

"Have you not seen the paper?"

"Yes, but I have not had time to read it yet."

The reporter then upon showed him the letter, which was as follows:

CLIFTON SPRINGS SANITARIUM CO., }
CLIFTON SPRINGS, N. Y., Oct. 11, 1883. }

DEAR SIR—I am using Warner's Safe Cure, and I regard it as the best remedy for some cases of kidney disease that we have. I am watching with great care some cases I am now treating with it, and I hope for the most favorable results.

I wish you might come down yourself, as I would like very much to talk with you about your sterling remedy and show you over our institution. Yours truly, [Signed,] HENRY FOSTER M. D.

"I do not see why anybody should be skeptical concerning that letter," remarked the doctor.

"Isn't it unusual for a physician of your standing and influence to commend a proprietary preparation?"

"I don't know how it may be with others, but in this institution we allow no person to dictate to us what we shall use. Our purpose is to cure the sick, and for that work we use anything we know to be valuable. Because I know Warner's Safe Cure is a very valuable preparation I commend it. As its power is manifested under my use, so shall I add to the completeness of my commendation."

"Have you ever analyzed it, doctor?"

"We always analyze before we try any preparation of which we do not know the constituents. But analysis, you know, only gives the elements; it does not give the all important proportions. The remarkable power of Warner's Safe Cure undoubtedly consists in the proportions according to which its elements are mixed." While there may be a thousand remedies made of the same elements unless they are put together in proper proportions, they are worthless as kidney and liver preparations.

"I hope some day to meet Mr. Warner personally and extend fuller congratulations to him on the excellence of his preparations. I have heard much of him as the founder of the Warner Observatory, and as a man of large benevolence. The reputed high character of the man himself gave assurance to me in the first place that he would not put a remedy upon the market that was not trustworthy; and it was a source of a good deal of gratification to me to find out by actual experiment that their medy itself sustained my impressions."

The conclusion reached by Dr. Foster is precisely the same found by Dr. Dio Lewis, Dr. Robert A. Gunn ex-Surgeon General Gallagher and others, and proves beyond a doubt the great efficacy of the remedy which has awakened so much attention in the land and rescued so many men, women and children from disease and death.

RHEUMATIC SYRUP.

A Limb Saved

And a Family Made Happy.

Mr. Philip Moore of West Webster, Monroe County, N. Y., says: "My daughter, now fifteen years old, has, for the past eighteen months, been afflicted with rheumatism in a very severe form. One year ago it settled in the knee, since which time she has been unable to touch her foot to the floor or move her limb without suffering fifteen most excruciating pains. Her limb was fast growing out of shape, although we were doing for her all we could, having used all the remedies we could hear of and that were recommended for rheumatism, none of which benefitted her in the least. Her case was pronounced incurable by the physician and by our neighbors, and all believed that she would be a cripple all her days, and that her limb would never be restored to its original shape. But I am happy to say that to-day my daughter is entirely free from all rheumatic pains, and that she can walk with perfect ease, having thrown aside her crutches, and her limb seems as strong and perfect as ever; all from the use of your wonderful medicine "Rheumatic Syrup," which we consider one of the best medicines ever introduced for purifying the blood, and I only regret that all others who are afflicted with rheumatism cannot know of its superior merits. You are at liberty to use my name in it it will do you any good, and I shall be only too glad to tell any and everyone what it has done for my daughter."

THE ELECTIONS.

CONSIDERATIONS UPON THE RESULT.

A Washington View of their Significance—A New Programme in which Butler Threatens to Appear.

Washington Cor. Baltimore Sun.

Views and theories concerning the elections are numerous and conflicting, yet upon the whole the adherents of both parties appear to be equally satisfied. So far as the defeat of Gen. Butler is concerned, it appears to give intense satisfaction on all sides, although it is noticed that what few regrets have been expressed have come mostly from Republicans. Some of his friends say that so far from being disheartened by his defeat and retiring from politics, the old man will go in stronger than ever. Of course he cannot now present himself with any hope as a candidate before the Democratic national convention, but they say he will at once take vigorous hold of the labor and Greenback organizations, infuse new life into them, consolidate the two on one platform, and run on that as a candidate for the presidency. It is quite likely that this may be his programme, and his friends assert that he will have no difficulty in throwing the election into the House of Representatives if he can do no better. Judging from the unforgiving nature of Gov. Butler, and his penchant for plots and intrigues, this would be the very thing to please him most. It is considered here that his defeat was due to the aristocratic element of Massachusetts Democracy, which swallowed him with such a wry face last year, but could not be persuaded to take a second dose. This element would control federal patronage in Massachusetts in case of the election of a Democratic president, and their disappointment would be some amends to him. Democrats here cannot conceal that there is good ground for the wonderful revival of Republican confidence and see nothing in the result in New York state to make it different from what it has been almost invariably for the last twenty years, a debatable state, but with chances always in their favor with good candidates and a united party. It is absurd to make comparisons with the phenomenal majority of last year, which was caused, not by any increase in the Democratic vote, but simply by Republicans not going to the polls. The Republicans never had the least hope of coming within thirty or forty thousand votes of carrying New York this year until it became apparent that Democratic divisions could not be healed. The Republicans in recapturing Pennsylvania and Massachusetts, have done no more than get back what undoubtedly belongs to them, and what in all calculations as to national politics is invariably conceded to them without question, although, as to Massachusetts has intimated, the figures show that Butler would really have been elected had it not been for active Democratic opposition. The result in Connecticut is not of the value of a straw as bearing on the presidential election of next year, as nothing whatever but local issues entered into the campaign, and Democratic apathy was universal. New Jersey shows unmistakably that there is no possibility of cutting it from its Democratic moorings. Republicans undoubtedly have good cause for congratulation, but only in the fact that they were not buried under a popular avalanche of disapprobation, as they feared and expected. But to sagacious, thoughtful and impartial political observers the national Democracy has no reason to abate any hope or confidence it has had for the future; but this lesson may be learned: that unless prudence, good judgment and wisdom prevail in the party counsels, the brightest of prospects will be shrouded.

Mahone's Opponents Jubilant.

The Democratic demonstrations of joy over the overthrow and rout of Mahone are great. Returns have been received from all but six counties. These show that the Democrats have a majority of twenty seven in the House and six majority in the Senate certainly, with chances of an increase of two more in the former and one or two more in the latter. The popular majority for the Democrats may reach 25,000.

Almost every section of the state has gone against Mahone. His greatest losses are in counties which in the past contests have given the Coalitionists immense majorities. In some of these Mahone's vote has fallen off 50 per cent. The result has surprised even the most sanguine Democrats. The legislators elected this year will, the Democrats say, do all they promised in the platform of the Lynchburg convention. The debt question will be settled beyond any further controversy. The supreme court of the United States has given its sanction to the legality of the Riddleberger bill, and the Democrats are pledged to give it their protection.

New York.

General Carr's majority is over 19,000, and there is little doubt that the Democratic candidates for the remaining offices are elected by majorities ranging between 10,000 and 14,000. The changes in the Assembly make the composition seventy-three Republicans and fifty five Democrats.

Nebraska.

Revised returns indicate that Rose, Rep., for supreme judge, is elected by less than 2,000 majority. Savage, Dem., and anti-Monopolist, has over 1,500 majority in Douglas county.

Crawford, Dem., is elected judge in the Seventh district. The others, with the exception of Broady, in the First district, are Republicans.

Mississippi.

The election returns are nearly all in. The joint Legislature will stand 130 Democrats to 25 Republicans and Independents. The Democrats elected eleven out of twelve district attorneys.

Minnesota.

Official returns from six counties, partial returns and estimates from fifty counties, and estimates based upon the election of two years ago from the remaining ten counties, give Hubbard 14,000 majority and the remainder of the Republican ticket about 17,000 majority.

The Centurions Not to Disband.

The executive committee of the Committe of One Hundred, in Philadelphia, met yesterday afternoon, when twenty-eight members were present. Notwithstanding their defeat on Tuesday the committeemen seemed in excellent humor. Of course, the principal topic discussed was the question of continuing the work for which the body was organized, in the face of the verdict of a few days ago. During the progress of the meeting several vigorous speeches were made and they were loudly applauded. It was learned that Chairman Reeves had been instructed to report in favor of continuing the organization, and a good battle is to be made next spring.

As each member of the committee emerged from the regret sitting of the committee he was asked by the reporters whether the committee intended to die or not. Each member made a characteristic answer, and [illegible] hinted at disbandment.

Artificial Eggs.

The funny man of the Detroit Free Press lately published a sober account of a manufactory of artificial eggs, said to be doing an extensive business, with detailed description of the processes of manufacture, the composition of the product, &c., as if the whole thing actually existed. It is copied into the London Mark Lane Express simply as a burlesque, but other English papers seem to have been completely hoaxed, if we may infer form the following paragraph which appears in the London Farmer, and is probably going the rounds, and in which we see no symptom of the faintest perception of a joke.

"The manufacture of artificial eggs across the Atlantic is largely increasing, and one establishment alone turns out upwards of 1,000 every hour. The yelks are formed of a paste composed of corn flour, starch and other materials. The whites are made of albumen, and are chemically identical with the whites of real eggs; the inner shell is a film of gelatine, and the outer shell is of plaster of Paris, and is somewhat thicker than the original. The yelk is first rolled into a ball and frozen hard, then it is enclosed in the albumen and submited to rapid rotatory motion and again it is frozen. It is then dipped into the gelatine, and then into the plaster, which while drying rapidly retains the form after the contents have melted. It is said that, in point of taste, the eggs cannot be distinguished from the real article, while they will keep good for years and are not so easily broken. They can be flavored to resemble duck's eggs, but up to the present it is stated that "even the most assidnous hen had failed to produce chicks from these compounds."

ACTING IN EARNEST.

Grand Bursts of Passion that Sometimes Prove Disastrous.

Chambers' Journal

Talma, also was so realistic an actor that, in order to work up his grand bursts of passion, he would seize upon any unfortunate super whom he came upon behind the scenes and shake him until he himself had become breathless and the man frightened beyond all control at his assumed violence. Nevertheless, the peculiarities both of Macready and Talma were only in accordance with that precedent furnished in ancient history, though with less disastrous results. According to Plutarch. Æsop, the Roman actor, so interested himself in the characters he understook that one day, when he played Atreus, he, in that scene where it falls to his lot to consider how he might best destroy the tyrant Thyestes, worked himself up to such a pitch of ungovernable rage that he struck one of the minor performers with his sceptre and laid him dead at his feet.

The vegetable movement in England has entirely died out, because—well because people think there is more good common sense in taking a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup than in carrying a lily.

MAINE MEN.

From Bath, Me., we have received under date of May 15, 1881, the following statement of Geo. W. Harrison, the popular proprietor of "The Restaurant:" "A few years since I was troubled so severely with kidney and bladder affection that there was brick-dust deposits in my urine, and continual desire to urinate, with severe, darting, sharp pains through my bladder and stale, and again, dull, heavy pressure, very tedious to endure. I consulted one of our resident physicians, but I received no benefit from the treatment, and fearing that my symptoms indicated 'Bright's Disease,' the most dreadful of all diseases, I made up my mind that I must obtain relief speedily or I would be past cure. I consulted my druggist, Mr. Webber, and after ascertaining my symptoms, he recommend d the use of Hunt's Remedy, as he knew of many successful cures effected by that medicine in similar cases here in Bath. I purchased a bottle, and before I had used the first bottle I found I had received a great benefit, as I suffered less pain, my water became more natural, and I began to improve so much that the second bottle effected a complete cure; and my thanks are due to Hunt's Remedy for restored health, and I cheerfully recommend this most valuable and reliable meencine to my friends, as I consider it a duty as well as a pleasure to do so."

"Being well acquainted with Mr. George W. Harrison at the time of his sickness, referred to in the foregoing testimonial, I can certify to the correctness of the statement made by him. W. G. WEBBER, Druggist,

"Bath, Me., May 15, 1883."

BLACKSMITHS' TROUBLES.

Having had occasion to use a remedy for kidney troubles, I noticed an advertisement in one of the papers of the remarkable cures that Hunt's Remedy had made all over the country. I purchased a bottle at one of our druggists here in Manchester, and after using it for a short time found that it was helping me wonderfully, and one bottle has cured me completely—have no indigestion, and am hearty and healthy for one of my years (65), and can truly say that Hunt's Remedy is a medicine that has real merit, and I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public in general. AYERS' SARSAPARILLA.

THINK OF IT NOW!

Although much is said about the importance of a blood purifying medicine, it may be possible that the subject has never seriously claimed your attention. Think of it now!

Almost every person has some form of scrofulous poison latent in his veins. When this develops in Scrofulous Sores, Ulcers or Eruptions, or in the form of Rheumatism, or Organic Diseases, the suffering that ensues is terrible. Hence the gratitude of those who discover, as thousands yearly do, that will thoroughly eradicate this evil from the system. As well expect life without air as health without pure blood. Cleanse the blood with AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.
