Col. Quay thinks that the two parties now have an even chance in the presidential election, whose result he presages will depend upon their good conduct in the coming year; and he promises that his side will be on its good behavior, and will be particularly attentive in its nominations to securing the good opinion of the Committee of One Hundred in Philadelphia, since it has shown that it can move twenty thousand votes from one side to the other. This state of affairs is a very satisfactory one. There is nothing like a knowledge on the part of a politician that the path of rectitude is that of success to make him trend it. The Republican leaders, being very badly scared, are likely to redeem their promise of good behavior; but the people have so thoroughly learned to appreciate it as a devil-when sick reformation that the Republican managers will be at a great disadvantage in getting their prom ises marked up to the gift edge standard. They need discipline by retirement for a season to purify them properly.

---Grant and Porter.

Repentance, however late, has some thing of the sanctity of justice. It has taken General Grant twenty years to find out the isexplable wrong that the Garfield court put upon Fitz John Porter. His present frank confession of twenty years acquiescence in the wrong. while it does not mitigate those years of complicity with a band of military blackmailers, relieves him of the odlum that history will visit upon such reck less partisans as Garfield and Pope General Grant's latest contribution to the controversy is not so much a plea for the inevitable justice that awaits the great soldier, as it is a condemnation of the lawless cabal that ruined the life the ex-president's tardy confession of faith in the loyalty of Porter, even during the time he held him guilty of tech nical disobedience to the orders of Pope. relieve him of the responsibility he for twenty years assumed of denying justice. when a word from him would have

Murketing as Early as Possible.

The Bucks county, Ps. Intelligencer, ttening poultry is largely carried on, We do not know whether the positry rop of Bucks county is up to the average this year or not Bo' whether it is or not it is time to begin fattening and market ug the cockerels and most of the pullets that will not lay before next spring. Many poultry keepers make the mistake of keepng the crop too late. The birds should be about grown by this time, and as soon as the frame has attained its growth the best thing to do, where profit is considered, is to fatten and send to market. Tuere are two or three advantages in early with marketing : There is a good demand for roasters as soon as the cool weather sets, and they bring a fair price; there is no glut until settled cold weather, when poul try can be safely shipped from the interior; there is as much or more profit in market ing before Thanksgiving as after, beside the saving of the feed and risks from disease, thieves, dogs, &c. ; if the surplus crop is worked off early there will be more room and a better chance for those that are to be kept over; with nothing to bother or worry the pullets they should all be laying by or before the first of December when eggs are valuable. The feed saved by early marketing of the surplus can be profitably applied in produc ng eggs, which at that time of year will be worth about double per pound what the poultry will fetch. Turkeys and geese cannot of course be advantageously marketed before Thanksgiving, but all the turkeys that are large enough should be disposed of then; to this end they should be liberally fed and thus prepared for early marketing. No poultry keeper will make a mistake who sends his surplus stock to market early.

STREET BAILWAY.

A New Line Talked of for the East End. A project is on foot to establish a new street rankway has to run from the P. R. R., depot to McGrann's park. Λ number of local capitalists have taken the movement in band and they report that three fourths of the stock of the new organization has already been taken. capital stock of the company will be $6,000. divided into 120 shares of 850 each. Arrangements will be made for exchange tickets with the Labouster and Millers in the cast end to go westward and vice versa. The proposed route will be along East Chestnut to Lone, thence to Holland turnpose, the terminus being at McGrann's park. The new line will pass two cometeries, the stock yards, the park and will be within convenient distance of the cork works. In the event of the park being used for baseball purposes next season, the cars will furnish a long needed as well as a very convenient means of transportation. That parties of the Lancaster & Millersville railway from Centre Square to the deput, will probably be used by the new company.

The name of the new man will be the Lancas er city street railways. The framchise under which the present Lancaster & Millersville road is operated, as well as that of the prospective new road, is owned by the Quarryville railroad company, and this morning, though no formal action was taken, it appeared to be the sense of the meeting that the Quarryville management would experate with the expitalists who

For sometime past a quiet movement has been on foot for the organization of a new baseball club and matters have now players the reserve club of the Athletics they would be accompanied by the un-known men. It is said that the two Buzzards had a quarrel recently over the players they choose from the local club, but will supply their places so that a good nine will a ways he in Lancaster. The benefit of this co-operative plan fies in the fact to at the beal club will thus be enabled to get into the same alliance with the Athletics, and two good games with league clubs are promised for each week. The stock has been cutirely subscribed for, and it is proposed to rent McGramn's park as a ball field.

THE TELL SHIP

Death of a Wetl Khown Laneastrian. Jacob M. Willielm, eigarmaker, died at his residence, 336 South Queen street, yesterday aftermoon about half past 3 o'clock. On the 20th of August last he received a strake of paralysis and was subsequently all sted with four more strokes. His long confluement to bed resulted in blood poisoning, which was the immediate cause of his death. He leaves a wife, four sons and a daughter. He was an active politician and wielded a considerable influence in our city and county politics, having frequently been judge or inspector of elections and for some time a member of the Republican county committee. At the time of his death he was inspector of

The Electric Light.

The second attempt was made last evenin to light the city by means of the Maxim slectric light apparatus, but the failure was as marked as it was on Wednesday night. Some of the lamps shone trightly for a short time and then went out entirely or emitted a light scarcely better than a candle. The superintendent, Mr. Drake, states that it is quite common for the lamps to burn irregularly until they are thoroughly tested and regulated. He expresses onfidence that in a few days they will be all right. There appears to be some defect or want of sufficient power in the steam engines or boilers, as the steam pressure rapidly ran down during the trials that have thus far been made. Property Withdrawn Shub et & Sutton, withdrew the prop-
