FACTS ABOUT DIPHTHERIA.

The Likeness of This Disease to the Egyptian Ulcers and the Putrid Sore Throat.
Philadelphia Times.

About the year 200 A. D. Aretœus, a physician of Cappadocia, observed a certain malady of the throat, to which he gave the name of the "Egyptian ulcer." Of these he said: "Such as are clean, small, superficial, without pain and without inflammation, are mild; but such as are broad, hollow, foul and covered with a white, livid or black concretion, are pestilential." This and its context has given rise to an opinion held by some that the condition which attracted the attention of this observer was the disease now known as diphtheria, a word of Greek derivation, used to signify "covered, as by a membrane," and first applied to the condition in question in the early part of the present century by M. Bretonneau, a celebrated French physician. In the early part of the sixteenth century certain Spanish and Italian physicians described the "morbus suffocans" with which they frequently had to deal, and which probably was that form of diphtheria in which the false membrane is exuded into the air passages. Lastly, Fothergill, an English physician, described, about the middle of the seventeenth century, "the putrid sore throat," which is as good an account of diphtheria has since been written.

Now, although this disease has been noticed by physicians for centuries, yet to this day none are able to say certainly from whence it came or what brought it. It is, however, probable that the symptoms of diphtheria follow only when an individual has received into the system a quantity of a microscopic plant named by scientists the "Diphtheritic Micrococcus." This plant is believed to exist everywhere, even in the human mouth and throat, and when these tissues become inflamed the micrococcic pass most easily into the blood, upon which they feed and multiply rapidly and thus produce the symptoms of the disease.

Sore throat, under any circumstances, is a very vexatious complaint, but the sore throat of diphtheria is very much more distressing than that ordinarily experienced, and on account of the pain caused by the swallowing, the patient is very liable to avoid food and drink and medicine as well, and quickly falls into a prostrate condition, for which the abstinence and blood-poisoning just mentioned will readily account. This circumstance makes it desirable that the maximum amount of liquid food should be administered to the patient in every possible way. A notable proportion of diphtheritic patients are quite young, a circumstance which tends to make the result of the case much more doubtful, from the simple fact that these patients are not only unable to assist in the efforts made for their relief, but sometimes resist, and thus the best directed efforts may be defeated.

In some cases the diphtheritic deposit takes place in the air passages. This event is indicated by hoarseness and other changes in the voice, or the voice may be entirely suppressed. This is a most ominous occurrence. Bleeding from the nose or mouth and persistent sick stomach also bode no good to the patient.

What effect atmospheric conditions have in the production of diphtheria is undetermined, the disease having been observed at all seasons and in all latitudes. Diphtheria and all other infectious diseases are alike in one respect at least, namely, that those persons who are constitutionally weak and those who from any cause are debilitated are most liable to be attacked, and in such cases the result is most likely to be bad. For the reason just given it is desirable for all who are exposed to the poison of diphtheria to maintain the general health in as high a state as possible by a liberal diet, personal and general cleanliness and by taking the regular and natural rest.

It is probable that by changing the nurse every twelve hours in this and similar diseases the patients would receive better care and the risks of poisoning on the part of the attendants would thereby be materially diminished. The treatment of diptheria must be left exclusively to the physician, who should be called early and his directions followed implicitly. Any person who attempts to treat a case of this disease without an adequate idea of the gravity of the situation or of the means which are best calculated to benefit the patients assumes a great responsibility. But after all some will be destroyed by the disease when nothing has been spared. The persons who do ultimately recover from this disease are apt to have a very protracted convalescence, during which "local palsies" are frequently noticed. Defects of sight and hearing are also very common under these circumstances. Occasionally it happens that those who appear about to recover have a relapse of the disease, a circumstance whose outlook is worse if possible than of the original attack. Sudden death during convalescence from diphtheria has frequently happened and is believed to be due to an affection of the heart resulting from the disease.

It was a wise one that said: "Every man is occasionally what he ought to be perpetually." That must be when he is honest enough to acknowledge the merits of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, the only sure cure for coughs and colds.

MEDICAL.

BROWN'S IRON BITTERS.

The Peculiar Old Mystery!

It was one of the peculiarities of the old-fashioned doctors that they never would tell patients what they were prescribing for them. They said it would do the patients no good to know, and that it would only be gratifying a foolish curiosity. In order to keep patients from knowing, they would write the prescriptions in dog-Latin, so that most patients could not read them. All that sort of thing is now over. The patient wants to know what he takes. He is weak, and wants to be strong, or he is dyspeptic, and wants to digest well. Or he has a troublesome liver which he wants to put to rights. So he takes Brown's Iron Bitters, about which there is no mystery at all. This is the best preparation of iron in the world, in combination with gentle yet efficient tonics. It gives strength. It builds up enfeebled systems. It enriches impoverished blood. It removes feminine weaknesses. It casts out debility. It is what you want, and your druggists' has it.

BENSON'S SKIN CURE.

[From the Home Journal.]

A Remarkable Discovery.

A REAL SKIN CURE.

THERE IS ONLY ONE
AND THAT WITH SIMPLE NAME.

Beware of imposters, pirates, or any old articles which now suddenly claim to be best. They have been tried and found wanting, while this has been proved a remarkable success.

NO POMPOUS NAME.

This curative needs no pompous or incomprehensive title of Greek or Latin to sustain it, but its simple English name appeals directly to the people. And the people are signally manifesting their appreciation of this frankness by selecting and using Dr. Benson's SKIN CURE in preference to all other professed remedies.

Dr. C. W. Benson has long been well known as a successful physician and surgeon and his life study has been the diseases of the nervous system and of the skin; since he has been persuaded to put his New Remedy and Favorite Prescription as a "Skin Cure" on the market, various things have sprung up into existence, or have woke up from the sleepy state in which they were before, and now claim to be The Great Skin Cures.

☞ Beware of imitations, or the various articles which have been advertised for years or struggled along, having no real hold or merit on the public, that now endeavor to keep head above water by advertising themselves as "The Great Skin Cure." None is genuine and reliable except Dr. C. W. Benson's Skin Cure. Each package and bottle bears his likeness. Internal and external remedy, two bottles in one package. Price $1.00, get at your druggists.

Relief for all Overworked Brains.
CAUSE AND CURE.

Dr. C. W. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills are valuable for school children who suffer from nervous headaches caused by an overworked brain in their studies, and for all classes of hard brain workers whose overtasked nervous centres need repair and sedation. Nervous tremor, weakness and paralysis are being daily cured by these pills. They correct costiveness, but are not purgative. Price 50 cents, or six bottles for $2.50, postage free, to any address. For sale by all druggists. Depot, Baltimore, Md., where the doctor can be addressed. Letters of inquiry freely answered.

MACHINERY.

HAVING DISSOLVED PARTNERSHIP and petmanently closed the Chestnut Street Iron Works, I desire to inform my old patrons and the public generally, that I am still in the business, being located in the Penn Iron Company's Works, North Plum street, where I am making Iron and Brass Castings of every description, and will be pleased to serve all who may favor me with their patronage. From 40 years experience in the business and using the best material and employing the best mechanics, I am satisfied I can guarantee entire satisfaction. Castings made from a mixture of iron and steel which are more reliable for strength and durability than the best cast iron known. V teeth roll pinions, rolls and rolling mill work a specialty. Castings made of very soft iron, and brass castings of every description. I have all the patters of the well and favorably known Mowrer Corn and Cob Crusher, refitted and improved. Also on hand, mills completely fitted up or in parts, to replace old ones which have been in use for years, guaranteeing them to give satisfaction.

MR. GEORGE L. WALKER:

The four Pianos I purchased from you at different times—three for friends and the last one for myself—have proved to be magnificent instruments. They have given the most perfect satisfaction in every respect, and they cannot be surpassed for beautiful, clear, rich, full tone, fine finish, and standing in tune. I have formerly bought pianos on Chestnut street, paid a much higher price and did not receive anything like as fine instruments. I shall advise all my friends for their own benefit, when they are in need of a piano, to purchase from you.

Respectfully yours, H. L. HALL.

PHOTOGRAPHS.

J. E. ROTE.

There has been such a demand for LARGE PHOTOGRAPHS that I was compelled to get a VERY LARGE CAMERA BOX to meet the demand. We can now make you a PHOTO as small as the smallest locket will hold up to a 5-inch face, to fit [an 18x22 Frame.
