DRY GOODS. STATES OF STREET, STRE STRAWBRIDGE & CLOTHIER. OUTICURA REMEDIES. BAD BLOOD. LADIES' SOROFULOUS. INHERITED. WINTER COATS AND DOLMANS.

We take especial pride and pleasure in calling attention to our stock of these goods. It surpasses all we have offered in the past, and we have good reason to believe is not equalled in America. The garments are all manufactured expressly for us, in the most careful manner from the latest styles, which styles are in most cases confined to us alone.

This superb stock is now on exhibition and sale. The prices will be found surprisingly moderate.

We also show a wonderful line of all made in the highest style of the art by the same Foreign makers, and not to be surpassed for style, fit and carefulness of manufacture.

So great are the attractions in this department the present season that a little later we shall probably have a demand that will tax all our resources, although we have made every possible preparation therefor.

We advise our friends to make their selections now.

Paris Greatly Excited by Uncontinued Reports of Disaster to Admiral Courbet in Tonquin-The War in Egypt.

A rumor was current in Paris, on Tuesday afternoon, in the lob-bies of the chamber of deputies that Ad-miral Courbet with his forces had been defeated in Tonquin by the Black Flags CONTAGIOUS. CONTAGIOUS. In 1870 Scrofulous Uleers broke out on my hody until my breast was one mass of corrup-tion. Some of these uleers were not less than one and one-half inches in diameter, the edges rough, ragged and scemingly coad, the cavity open to the bone and filled with offensive matter. Everything known to the medical hachity was tried in vain. Gradually the bone liself became diseased and then the suffering began in earnest. Bone Uleers began to take the place of those filther to on the sufface. I became a mere wreck. For months at a time could not get my hands to my head because of extreme sorences. and his communications cut off. The rumors were given some credence because no official information was forthcoming. There was considerable uncasiness felt at the absence of news from Admiral Courbet's expedition.

Excited crowds thronged the boulvevards until a late hour, eagerly discussing the rumors of a French defeat in Tonquin. The reticence of the government was

COULD NOT TURN IN BED. COULD NOT TURN IN BED. Knew not what it was to be an hoar even free from pain. Had reason to look upon life their as a curse. In the summer of 1880, after ten years of this wretched existence, I began to use the CUrioura Ramonas, and after two years' persistent use of them the last ulcer has nealed. The dread disease has succumbed, All over the breast where was once a mass of corruption is now a healthy skin. My weight has increased from one hundred and twenty-three to one hundred and fly-six pounds, and the wood work is still going on. I feel myself a new man, and all through the Cuticura Rem-edies. Several members of the committee on Tonquin credits urged Prime Minister Ferry to abandon his re-sorve and inform the chamber of the position of affairs. In view of this state of things the following semi-official com-munique was sent to the papers. "We are authorized to declare that up to the moment of going to press the government has received no dispatch from Tonquin unfavorable to the French. The alarmist reports may therefore be regarded as false.

The committee of the Chamber of Dep uties upon the Tonquin credits held a long session Tuesday and adjourned until Wednesday, when it will give a hearing to Prime Minister Ferry and General Cam-pence, minister of war.

They are the only reme-dles that succeed when physiciaus and all other means fail. General Campenon, minister of war, held a consultation with the general who commanded the expedition to Pekin in 1860 concerning the plans for the Eastern campaign. The cabinet council discussed the Tonquin question. Le Voltaire denies the report that England had offered to mediate upon the Tonquin question and that France had accepted the proffered mediation.

should say the rougher and plainer every-thing the better—no lace no cradle cap, hardest possible bed, and simplest possible food, according to age, and floor and walla of the cleanablest. All education to beauty DARBY'S of the cleanablest. All education to beauty is, first, in the beauty of gentle human faces round a child; secondly, in the fields, fields meaning grass, water, beasts, flowers and sky. Without these no man can be educated humanly. He may be made a calculating machine, a walking dictionary, a painter of dead bodies, a wangler or scratcher on keys or catgut, a liscoverer of new forms of worms in mud but a properly so called human being-never. Pictures are, I believe, of no use whatever by themselves. If the child has other things right, round it and given to it -its garden, its cat and its window to the sky and stars-in time, pictures of flowers and beasts, and things in heaven and heavenly earth, may be useful to it. But see first that its realities are heavenly."

A Profound Speculation, iew York Times.

Last Sunday Mr. Talmage indulged in a profound theological speculation. He do manded to know what would have became of the Christian religion if the rope by which Sain: Paul was let down from the city wall had broken. This question opens tremendous field of conjecture, and even Mr. Talmage lacked the boldness to answer it. Of course, the answer depends on what ithe immediate consequences of the broken ropa might have been Had St. Paul been killed there would, of course, have been no Pauline epistles; but had he only been injured, he might either have borne his injuries with patience or he might have waxed wroth and sought out the proprietor of the rope with a view of justifying his anger by other means than faith alone, in which case the Pauline theorogy might have been materially different from what it really became.

The line of thought suggested by Mr. Talmage might be pursued still further. What, for example, would have been the effect upon Christianity had Saint Peter's wife's mother not been sick of a fever? The fact that she was thus afflicted is montioned, and many commentators have ascribed the cheerful and hopeful spirit displayed by the saint to this fact. Had she never been taken ill it is possible that Saint Peter would have been a man of sad and even morose disposition, and in that case his epistles would have lacked the blithe and joyous strain which now distinguishes them.

Had Saint Paul and Saiot Peter been symnastic preachers and sought to spread Christianity after the manner of Mr. Talmage, we may be very sure that they would have been martyred at the outside of their career; for the heathen of that day were carnest heathen, and they never would have treated a contemporary Talmage with the easy contempt with which many modern heathen view his exploits in his so called pulpit.

Opposition is what it wants. That will make it solid ; we mean Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It has entered the lists and came out far ahead, In the ranks of legitimate household reme-dies for the cure of coughs and colds, Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup stands first, Price 25 cts.
