RESULAB CORRESPONDENCE.

Events Along the Susquehanns-liems of Interest In and Around the Borough Picked up by the Intelligencer Reporter.

To night a meeting of Orion lodge of Odd Fellows will be held. Holiday entertainment rehearsals are now taking place in church circles.
Co. C has changed its name to Columbia light infantry.

Members of the Grand Army post are talking about attending the Emerson grand concert in Laucaster on next Friday evening. People universally complain of duliness in trade here, and yet 6 Columbia ladies are to receive $200 sealskin sacks for Christmas gift. Corinthian Chapter, No. 224, R. A. M., elected the following officers last night: M. E. H., W. G. Taylor; king, Theodore Urban; scribe, C. S. Kauffman; treas-urer, Chas. H. Pfahler; secretary, A. J. Kauffman; representative to grand lodge, A. Slade ; trustees, A. Jessel, Milton

Wike and James Perrottet. A meeting will be held in the chief burgess' office to-night by the committee appointed by the several fire companies of town to complete arrangements for the Shawnee parade on New Year's Day. All the necessary details of the affair will then be determined upon.

Social Items. A large surprise party was given to Miss Maggie Collier on Monday evening. About 40 guests were present. A delight ful evening was passed by all.

Miss Mattie Hause, an aged lady, was surprised an Monday ovening by a large number of friends calling upon her and bringing with them numerous presents of articles of comfort. The recipient of these kind attentions of her friends was much affected at these tokens of esteem in which she is held. Poor Gas.

Columbia is suffering again from poor is damp and the tobacco moist this plan gas. For that matter it suffers from the gives them a better chance to examine the same complaint quite often. The poor quality of the gas does not seem to affect he size of the gas bills, however. As has to strip it and pack it according to long as consumers stand this sort of thing the gas company will keep up the fraud buyer. Tobacco is bringing a much betupon them.

moving to York. York Dispatch.

Mr. J. W. Steacy, one of the firm owning and running the York rolling mill, is about moving from Columbia to York, and will reside on East Philadelphia street. Mr Steacy has lived in his pre-ent. Fouse for over sixteen years and his Columbia friends will be sorry to lose him, but Columbia's loss is York's gain, as Mr. 8 is an earnest, thorough business man a most excellent citizen, and cannot fail to make many new friends in York, where his business interests are centred. We welcome him to York and wish him continued success in his business.

READY FOR CHRISTMAS.

Holiday Sights in the store Windows. The near approach of the Christmas holidays, has had the effect of brightening up the windows and interiors of our retail merchants' and tradesmen's stores : and they present a very easy appearance indeed. It is unnecessary to particularize with names of individuals or firms or in special lines of trade. The enterprising wide awake dealers of this city are represented in the advertising columns of the INTELLI SENCER, where we let them, each, tell their own stories and offer to our readers the attractions which they have in stock.

It is enough to say that they are abreast of the spirit of the times in extering to the ever increasing demand for holiday goods. The observance of Christmas has grown very markedly of late years, especially in the feature of gift making. The presents are no longer merely gewgans and bon bons, but include articles of permanent value and of "beauty made the bride of use;" as a passer by remarked this morning, "even the drug stores look cheerful and overybody seems to have Christmas specialties except the undertaker." The dry goods merchants and clothing men, the millinery and fornisl . ing stores, furniture and music dealers, confectioners and toy shops, house furnish ing and hardware stores, grocery and queensware establishments and every class of tradesmen in our city have gone to special pains and outlay this year to not only make an outward show of rare beauty and good taste, but in their stocks of holiday goods, their variety and reason able prices, they are certainly prepared to accommodate the widest range of taste and the most discriminating fancy.

These days are bright with winter sun shine and exceptionally favorable for shopping. Such weather caunot last throughout the month, and those who delay their shopping until nearer Christmas may not only be interfered with by the inclemency of the season, but they will encounter the rush and crush of the crowd and they will not have the advant age of the complete assertment now offered.

Now is the accepted time. We notice that the most experienced shoppers take time by the forelock. Dainty fingers are turning over the fine prints and pictures in the bookstores, white hands are select-ing jewelry to be "laid away" for them, prudent housewives are laying in supplies for fruit cake and mince pie, and the good father or husband who proposes to get her a camel's hair shawl, a sealskin sacque or a silk dress has sense enough to know that the earlier he looks after it the better.

THAT APPIDAVIT.

General Objections to the Furging Process. It has been noticed in these columns that Judge Livingston demands of every licensed hotel or restaurant keeper who asks to be relicensed that he make affidavit that during his past enjoyment of this privilege from the court he has not violated the liquor law in any of its par ticulars, nor sold to any one visibly affect ed by liquor or beer.

It is assumed that if any one fail to make this affidavit Judge Livingston will not assent to the granting of a license to him or her; and, as the concurrence of the two judges is necessary to such a grant, the application will be refused.

Very naturally such a new departure in the mode of treating license cases has created a good deal of excitement, espe-cially among the lawyers, landlords and owners of property occupied for the licensed sale of liquor or beer.

Quite as naturally this class of persons are almost unanimously "agin" the judge in this matter. It is understood that Judge Patterson does not sympathize with his " brother ' in com; e'ling the affidavit to be made. Of the Republican daily newspapers of this city the New Era seems to agree with Judge Livingston's position; the Examiner questions the propriety of it and frequently publishes "able and well writ ten dokiments" against it. The Lawyers. Some of the lawyers think Judge Livingston is right.

They do not get licenses. Some others mildly declare that he has overshot the mark, but they "don't know what to do about it." They seem to agree that the oath is extrajudicial, that if taken falsely the

to be choice between going to hell and going to jail.

Several of the most prominent members of the bar will advise their clients to pay no attention to the oath, to file their applications as usual and await results. Several others will go out of the license getting business.

Arother one is glad that old stands are not to be granted as a matter of course; "it helps the law business and increases fees.

Among the Landlords.

A country landiord reports great excite-ment among his class, much indignation at Judge Livingston and increased approbation of Judge Patterson, with favorable inclinations toward his renomination. One of the best and oldest landlords in the county says that he could conscientiously make every part of the affidavit except that which relates to the sale to any person "visibly affected;" this he does not believe any one ever licensed could strictly and truthfully swear to. He says he will shut up his bouse rather than swear to this.

Some of the country landlords propose to go out of business—and let their sons or brothers take out their licenses next year. Some of the city landlords talk of holding a mass meeting, and others propose a secret association to consider the matter.

Soid Their Tobacco. West Chester Record

A number of Chester county farmers have recently rold off their crop of this year's tobacco. Last week the following farmers sold theirs all to the same party, a gentleman from Lancaster county being the purchaser : Ebenezer Worth, Paschai Worth, Charles Yetters, Chalkley Yetters, and John Hoopes, the latter of Newlin and the others of West Bradford, Mr. Hoopes informs us that he had five acres in tobacco this season, and sold it all, some of it not yet stripped, to this party at 24, 6, 2 cents. We are told that this year's buyers generally are taking the tobacco on the pole, instead of waiting until after it is stripped. If the weather is damp and the tobacco moist this plan quality of the crop than they can have after it is housed—of course the grower agreement, before it is shipped to the ter price this year in Chester county than potatoes.

Recovery of a Stolen Borse. Lebanon Times

A horse that was stolen several nights ago from the stable of David Gress, in West Cocalico township, near the line of Berks, was tound near Brickerville where he animal had been left by the thief, tied to a fence. Word was sent to the owner who went after the animal and brought it

This season she has been playing eve ywhere to crowded

" Monte Christo."-This evening this fine play will be given in the opera house. It should be remembered that the leading actor, J. B. Studley, assumes five different characters, not to lessen the cast, but because the play demands it. The Jersey City Journal says: "Mr. Studley's versatility renders him peculiarly adapted to perform the many parts to which he was cast. He worked very hard. The demands of the play in the matter of scenery are extensive and varied. Those sceneries actually necessary for a proper pregentation of the play were on hand.' There are seventeen people in the cast.

For a long time it has been my habit to use BRANDRETH'S PILLS. In fact, I have seldom had occasion to use any other medicine, and it affords me great pleasure to say that for Billousness. Dyspepsia, and the other ills of the system to which men in public life are more apt than others to be subject, they are an inva uable remedy, JOHN C. JACOBS.
