A Limb

And a Family Made Happy.

Mr. Philip Moore, of West Webster, Monroe County. N. Y., says: "My daughter, now eighteen years old, has, for the past eighteen months, ben afflicted with rheumatism in a very severe form. One year ago it settled in the knee, since which time she has been unable to touch her foot to the floor or move her limb without suffering the most exenciating pain. Her limb was fast growing out of shape, although we were doing for herall we could, having used all the remedies we could hear of and that were recommended for rheumatism, none of which benfitted her in the least. Her case was pronounced incurable by the physician and by our neighbors, and all believed that she would be a cripple all her days, and that her limb would never be restored to its original shape. But I am happy to say that to-day my daughter is entirely free from all rheumatic pains, and that she can walk with perfect ease, having thrown as the her crutches, and her limb seems as strong and perfect as ever; all from the use of your wonderful medicine "Kheumatic Syrup," which we consider one of the best medicines ever introduced for puritying the blood, and I only regret that all others who are afflicted with rheumatism can not know of its superior merits. You are at liberty to use my name not know of its superior merits, You are at liberty to use my name if it will do you any good, and I shall be only too gladtotell any and everyone what it has done for my doubter." everyone w

CHRISTMAS JOY.

WHERE THE WORLD TURNS FOR IT.

The Old Old Story that is Ever New-The Child that was Born in Bethiebem-The Light of the World,

But the star that shines in Fethlehem
Shines still, and shall not cease;
And we listen still to the things
Of Glory and of Peace.
—Adelaide A. Proctor.

The is an old story which will be told in every country under heaven next Tuesday morning-of how a peasant woman cen turies ago gave birth to a child in a man ger. The story is so old and hackneyed that business men and busy women are apt to let it slip out of sight with other vague beautiful dreams while they attend to their actual daily work and the hurry which fashion brings at this time. Yet it takes hold of us, of the foundation of each man's life, of the naked soul under the petty matters of every day; it shapes and makes his passage through the world as love does, or sin, or birth, or death. Surely, once a year at least, each of our readers should look into the story to know what he has to do with it.

The most singular part of the story, to ead now, so near to the twentieth century s the account of the different men who first came to find this child. Some were of the poorest poor of the laboring men of that day-herders guarding their sheep from the wolves that infested the wild mountain slopes of Syria. For 2,000 years the Jewish race to which they be longed had been promised that God would send a visible messenger to earth to give them happiness. When the messenger came to these shepherds, there fore, they had no doubt, but accepted the pauper child as their helper. There were, too, we are told, learned and aged men, kings from the far countries beyong the Chaldean mountains, who had journeyed through their desolate ranges and crossed the desert wastes of Arabia to bring to this babe in the stable the girts which monarchs in those days always sent to a new born king. Tradition asserts that two of these old men came from India and China, guided by an unknown blazing star in the heavens. It is certain, according to Ideler, Wieseler and other German astronomers, that in December, in the year of our Saviour's birth, Jupiter and Saturn appeared in conjunction for the first time, appearing as one star of ever mous magnitude, and probably thus de signating to the superstitious astrologers of the East a crisis in the world's history It is also certain that throughout all of the Aryan and the Mongolian races, from the farthest antiquity, there was a belief in a coming man who was to help each each man and nation up to the higher levels in life.

The story is no myth, no superstitious These Jewish shepherds and the Hindu or Chaldean astrologers were searching, just as the American is to day, for a Divine Messenger to make God plain to him, to solve the terrible problem of life which he, as we do, found too hard to bear, to help him to endure pain, to live a manlier life, to keep his soul clean, to find some certain gleam upon the world bayoud death.

Nearly 2,000 years have passed since then, and the search goes on to day pre cisely as it did then. A pathetic story came from Alaska last year. A blind old medicine man among the Thlinkits heard was at Sitka who could tell of Him. old savage, taking a guide, traveled for handreds of miles to the coast, and showed the scars upon his back from the torture of years. "All this have I done,"to said, "to find God, Since my youth I have sacrificed both beasts and men to Him, but he does not come. Where is he?" We are apt to forget that the savage, the Buddhist and the Mahometan, as well as the Christian, each in his way, is sincerely searching for God It is the chief question in every man's secret soul to day, no mat ter how he may crowd his days with the pursuit of money or fashion, nor how paltry, or d shonest or vil his life. What he cares for under all is the chance for his soul, for the man who can help it, Where shall he find this man? From the subtlest philosophers of the world down to the cannibalism of the Thilukits, no religion has been found which would raise a people to civilization but one; no teacher who could give nobility of character to a man during life, the charity which would induce him to help his brother, and a certain hops bayond the grave, but one. The world turns to day, as in that dim early time, to the stable and the child, but with a more intelligent and gladder certainty. Each age of the world's history has shown more plainly that it is not power, nor wealth nor come which in the end uplifts a nation, nor any man or woman among us; but the just, honest life, the self sacrifice, the tender charity that He came to teach. It is this which gives a meaning to our music and rejoicing to day, to the poor gifts which we bring, like the Indian kings, not to the Divino Helper, but to the poor among us and the little children whom He left in our care In every household lighted by love to day there is the shining of the far off star of Bethlehem, and in every kindly greeting and friendly word sounds an echo of the Saved angels' song with the same meaning as of

An Old Story Analyzed. Toronto Globe.

You all know the old "Sing a Song of Sixpence," but have you ever read what it is meant for? The four and twenty blackbirds represent the twenty-four hours. The bottom of the pie is the world, while the top crust is the sky that overarches it. The opening of the pie is the day dawn, whon the birds begin to sing, and surely such a sight is fit for a king.

The king, who is represented as sitting in his parlor counting out his money, is the sun, while the gold pleces that slip through his fingers as he counts them are the golden sunshine. The queen, who sits in the dark kitchen is the moon, and the honey, with which she regales herself, is the moonlight, The industrious maid, who is in the garden at work before the king-the sun-bas risen, is day dawn, and the clothes she hangs out are the clouds, while the bird, who so tragically ends her song by "nipp-ing off her nose," is the hour of sunset. So we have the whole day, if not in a nutshell, n a pie.

SAD SURNES ON SHIPPO INU.

The Story of the Barrivors of the Lost Steamer St. . ugustin. The survivhrs of the steamer St. Augustin, resoued by the steamer John Williamson, report that the scenes on board the St. Augustin during the fire were perfectly smashed by the sea as they were drawn on board. Other persons were seen on the burning vessel and several bodies were seen in the water.

The steamer Grantully has landed at Dover one passenger, the chief engineer and fifteen men who were rescued with great defliculty from the burning steamer. A heavy sea was running at the time, rendering futile all efforts to get the boats alongside the vessel, and the rescued men were hauled on board the Grantully with lines and buoys. They were the last that left the ship. The second mate shot himself and a sailor stabbed himself during the fire though fright.

A Bit of Christmas Reading.

Hartford (Mich.) Day spring. Early one day last week several teams were noticed coming into town from various routes loaded with wood, topped out with the wives of the drivers, holding a basket of provisions, and with hay for the horses, as if going for an all day's stay. They centered at the residence of Mrs. Maggie Righter, whose husband was killed by the cars at Bangor more than a year ago, where they unloaded their wood and prepared for dinner, of which over 20 partook. This donation of wood by the farmers was supplemented by donations of goods for clothing and cash, amounting in all to about $35

A Too Persistent Lover Egged

In New Haven, Henry R. Chidsey, a man fifty years of age, while purchasing some apples at Foote's market, cast loving glances at Miss Lizzie Johnson, a beauti ful blonds. When she reproached him for his unwelcome adoration be playfully threw some apples at her. Lizzie retorted by showering some fresh-laid eggs at him, literally covering his face, beard and clothing with the yolks. She then had Chidsey arrested, and he was fined $2 and costs. This is the second time be had been punished for annoying Miss Johnson.

Serious Accident to a Sinighting Party. A large sleighing party, young men and women from the farming region near Catawissa, met with a distressing accident. While passing Millville, about 11 o'clock, the sleigh went over an embankment. The entire party was thrown down the precipice and all were more or less hurt. Krouse, Charles Imsichweller, Caroline Green, Mary Hessler and Willie Slidell were seriously hurt.

The only psin we can safely make light of is the window-pane, but the pain that racks our frame and tears our lungs is a matter of serious consequence. To alleviate the latter and effect a permanent cure, Dr. Buil's Cough Syrup is relied on by all sensible people.

A WIFE'S TROUBLE.

For a number of years my wife has been roubled with chronic rheumatism, it being in ome portion of her body constantly (except perhaps in the very warmest weather in summer) Last Christmas she contracted a very severe cold, and a diseased condition of the kidneys became manifest, which subjected her to excessive suffering, as the symptoms of gravel became more prominent, her urine being colored, accompanied by a heavy brickfust sediment.

After trying several remedies without relist. I procured tor her a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, which she commenced taking, and before three days had passed she became much better. She continued using the medicine until she had used six bottles, and now feel among the mountains that God had sent entirely cured of both rheumatism and kid-His Son into the world, and that a man ney complaint. GRATIFYING RESULTS. Under date of May 14, E. A. Thomson, the well known grocer and provision dealer, of 78 Green street, New Haven, Conn., writes as follows: " Several weeks since I was taker very ill with kidney disorders, and an examination of my urine showed a very disease condition of my kidneys, and I had also symptoms of a diseased state of my liver. passing of my urine was accompanied with severe pains in the small of my back and loin ollowed by a burning sensation, and after having stood awhile to the ressel the urtoshowed a very heavy deposit of a sediment stadiar to ground brick dust, and, in short, I found that I was in such a diseased condition as to require immediate medical treatment and as I was auxious to obtain the best and most speedy remedy, I looked and inquired Ladger Building, Sixth & Chestnut Sts.
