

Lancaster Intelligencer.

TUESDAY EVENING, JAN. 1, 1884.

"Experts" on Insanity.

There is a very unseemly quarrel among the medical experts appointed to examine into the sanity of McGinnis, the Philadelphia murderer who has just been reprieved from Thursday next till the fourth of March. Dr. Thomas G. Morton is the member of the commission who does not seem to know how to conduct himself in the matter. He is the chairman of the commission and disa-grees with all his colleagues, who think McGinnis insane, while Morton is sure he is sane. His colleagues lately addressed the governor in behalf of their position, and Morton now comes up with a demonstration of his. Both parties have their statements published, and Morton declares that he has positive knowledge that the governor is going to sustain him. It seems that an inquiry, entered into to determine the responsibility of McGinnis, has resolved itself into a contest as to which set of doctors shall be sustained. Poor McGinnis is permitted to live while the doctors are trying to get on top of each other, but according to Morton he is bound to be hung at last. McGinnis seems to appreciate the situation, declaring when he got news of the reprieve that he would rather die now, while he was prepared for it, as he did not know how he would be in March. That was an eminently sane and sagacious remark, and is so much support to Morton's theory. Morton may be right about it, for though he demonstrates himself to be a good deal of a brute by his zeal to get McGinnis hung, to gratify his professional pride of opinion, yet he may not be a fool. It is, however, safe to say, that any doctor who undertakes upon his expert knowledge, to declare positively for or against the mental accountability of a man, undertakes to say a great deal more in many cases than any expert knowledge that he can have will justify. Whether sanity or insanity exists at the moment of crime is a question which can often be told by any sensible observer, as well or better than by the medical man, who is resorted to as an expert on the subject of mental diseases. There is undoubtedly a prevalent insanity that exists spasmodically and springs from temporary disturbance of the bodily functions, which makes the sufferer dangerous to the community as though he were permanently insane. This is a sort of mental unsoundness which is very difficult of judgment, and about which doctors and observers will readily disagree. There are many such opportunities of disagreement in determining men's responsibility for their conduct. There is an interesting case now attracting public attention in the Rathbone tragedy, and opinions will naturally differ as to whether the husband, who seems to have been responsible enough before and after the act, was temporarily insane when he killed his wife, or whether he was only in a passion; and if in a passion, was it one due to physical causes which made it uncontrollable. Many a man has been hung for an act prompted by a passion that was beyond his control. A bodily condition that sends the blood to the head unduly, may cause a passionate outburst that cannot be controlled. Dyspepsia is a prime cause of irritability, and indigestion is responsible for many if not most crimes of violence. The jury in criminal cases has a very delicate duty to perform, if it would perform it properly. It is roughly done under our present methods, and really righteous judgments are rare enough. The courts are not much more intelligent than the juries in reaching their verdicts. The Pennsylvania law makes cool deliberation a necessary element in murder in the first degree, but judges instruct the juries that a minute or so of cooling time is enough to make the crime deliberate, and have never stopped to ask whether dyspepsia or indigestion stood in the way of such speedy frigoration.

The question as to this man McGinnis is whether he is sane or insane now. It seems that it is considered unseemly to hang a man who is not in perfect possession of his senses; although the fact is that most men who are hung are in just that condition, under the kindly aid of whisky or morphia. The law's idea of the fitness of things is not the hang man's; and if McGinnis is insane he is entitled to life; the reason being that it is possible that if he was sane he might find something to urge why the judgment should not be executed upon him. The humanity of this conclusion of the law, which gives life to him who cannot enjoy it and takes it from him who can, is somewhat obscure; but it is too old a notion to be gained.

opening year will be one of exciting events, pregnant with weighty consequences to the race and to history.

The election of Mr. Thurman to the Senate from Ohio would be a happy New Year surprise to the country.

WRITE IT RIGHT: '84 has the floor.

INCREASED respect for the Pons comet will be developed since it has been discovered that although it had only a single tail in 1812, it now has a double tail, the larger part of which is seven degrees and the shorter three degrees in length.

FOREIGNERS are credited with poking a great deal of fun at the American navy; yet there is not noticeable on the part of our brethren across the sea any disposition to interfere with the screaming of the American eagle, notwithstanding our alleged defenseless position.

TRANSPORTED. We marked her battered hull, Her canvas all and soiled, As slow she crept toward our course, To where the fishers toiled.

But when the western wave Sighed with the dying day, Far on the horizon's eastern rim, White-robed and fair she lay.

—A. W. Gould.

THE four hundredth anniversary of the birth of Zwingli, claimed by the Reformed church as its founder, falls to day. Differing widely from Luther in mental characteristics and in the part he played in the religious struggle of his age, he is scarcely second to him in historical interest as a factor in the work which engaged their attention; and the general celebration of that work by the Reformed churches fitly supplements the recent Lutheran memorial.

CAPT. ADAM JACOBS of Brownsville, Pa., has left a will intended to tie up his estate for as long a time as the law allows. Availing himself of the act of assembly which permits a man to make a will in such manner that it will control his estate for a period of 21 years after the death of the youngest heir living at the date of the same, his devise is such that if his grandchildren live to the age of 60 the estate will be controlled by the provisions of the will for about 80 years. One provision of his will, however, is open to attack on the ground that it is prejudicial to public morals. Sometime ago George Dawson Jacobs, the youngest child, incurred the displeasure of his father by marrying, as the latter deemed, "below his station." This young man is cut off without a shilling—as long as he is the husband of his present wife. If at any time, however, George D. should take unto himself a wife "who is unobjectionable to his mother," ample provision is made for him. This may be construed as a hint in the direction of a divorce.

THE book agent is a singular individual. With cheek of adamant and urbanity of a Chesterfield, he penetrates the innermost sanctuary of the domestic temple, and rarely leaves before pushing some portion of his wares on his unwary victims. There are various types of book agents, some possessing a Napoleonic dash that carries everything before them, others stealing their way into one's confidence by their charming manners; but of them all, a book agent from Philadelphia is fairly entitled to the distinction of king of his race. This enterprising individual traveling to New York with a gentleman from Elizabeth, N. J., J. Madison Watson by name. Learning that Mr. W. was anxious to secure a certain book, the gentlemanly agent obligingly sold him a copy of the work. It having been developed in the course of the conversation, that the book had been discussed by Mr. W. and his wife, the book agent managed to reach the Watson residence before its master arrived and disposed of a copy of the same book to the wife. Of course, a great storm was raised by Watson pere on his arrival home, and in the midst of it the urban agent was seen passing the house on his way to the train. The irate W. hastily dispatched a friend unacquainted with the facts to head off the oily book vendor. On being accosted the latter promptly informed the friend that Mr. W. wanted one of his books and that he could not miss the train. The friend then obligingly bought a third copy of the identical work for Mr. W. The narrator charitably draws a veil over what happened when the Elizabeth merchant learned he was the possessor of a third copy of the same book.

PERSONAL. SPEAKER CARLISLE's reception by the Commonwealth club, Philadelphia, is fixed for Jan. 16.

JOSEPH LONGWORTH, a well known citizen of Cincinnati, died on Sunday morning.

MASON, the would-be assassin of Galt, denies that he is to put himself on exhibition in a museum for $200 a week—he will get $1,000.

FIRST COMPTROLLER LAWRENCE, of the U. S. treasury, is in receipt of information that many Ohio Republicans have been taken to the Bloomingdale asylum near New York city, instead of to Washington, as at first intended. It is believed he will be quieter at Bloomingdale.

REV. EDWARD EVERETT HALE lectured in Washington, the other evening on "Shakespeare," but Rogers introduced him, and so well did his work, that when the lecturer began to speak, the audience began to leave. Hale became disconcerted and told his hearers that he would "never again ask Colonel Rogers to introduce me to an audience."

HON. WILLIAM PINKNEY WHITE, ex-United States senator, ex-mayor of Baltimore and ex-governor of Maryland, took the breath away from the City Hall politicians by refusing to accept from them a handsome silver salver costing $150. The salver had been specially manufactured as a present to Mr. White, and had been on exhibition in a prominent place for several days. He has made it a rule of his political career to never receive gifts.

THE court of pardons at Trenton, New Jersey, yesterday refused by an unusual vote to commute the sentence of James Graves, of Newark, who murdered Jodon, the boy lamplighter two years ago. Graves will accordingly be hanged next Thursday. Robert Martin will be hanged the same day for killing his wife and child.

THE optician, who believes that this is the best day the world has yet seen, welcomes with good cheer the year that is ushered in so dimly by the clerk of the weather. It is so natural for man to indulge in the illusions of the hope that it would be a poor world if nobody could see the silver lining to the cloud of uncertainty that now seems to hang over business, political affairs, religious interests and the relations of nations with each other. The future is involved in strange doubts, but the thing certain is that the

HUNTINGTON'S LETTERS.

BUSINESS TROUBLES OF A RAILWAY KING.

Many and Original View Concerning Present Situation of the Southern Pacific Railroad—Drumming and Strikers.

When the Southern Pacific railroad was built it was understood that it was to be a competitor of the Central Pacific, whose owners thought it well to prepare for the possibility of a struggle with and probable surrender to the government when Central Pacific government bonds should fall due. As a matter of fact the Southern Pacific railroad was built by the owners of the Central Pacific, Governor Stanford, C. P. Huntington, Mark Hopkins and Charles Crocker. These men selected General Colton, of San Francisco, to take charge of the construction and running of the railroad. Colton formed with him the "Western Development Company," which was the "Credit Mobilier" which built the road and reaped immense profit from the work. About the time the road was finished General Colton died and his associates as co-trustees of the name of the "Western Development Company" attempted to cut Mrs. Colton off from her husband's share of the money that had been made. She brought suit for her share, and it was in the trial of this suit that the ground was laid for the letters of Huntington to Colton first came out. Huntington denied that any confidential relations existed between him and Colton, and these letters were offered as evidence to the contrary. The following are some of the letters.

NEW YORK, December 1, 1874.—Friend Colton: I would like to know what is being done with the California Pacific extension bonds. Has any of our people endeavored to do anything with them? I think they are a very good thing and should be sold. I will see that when he comes over and talk with him, and we can be sure we can work together, but if we can brush him out it would have a good effect, and then we could take care to get some better material to work with.

NEW YORK, December 1, 1874.—Friend Colton: I am doing all I can to have the government take $500,000 acres of land and give the railroad company credit for $15,000,000, but the prospects of their doing it is not as bright as I wish it was. I wish you would have the newspapers take the ground that the government was taken by the government and held for the people, so that when they wanted it they could have it, etc. Something that the demagogues can vote and work for. Letting the government take the lands now at $250 an acre, and then sell them at $100 in twenty years, is not more than $1 would be put in a sinking fund at 6 per cent. interest compounded each six months. Yours truly, C. P. HUNTINGTON.

A LITTLE SKEW. NEW YORK, Dec. 24, 1874.—Friend Colton: I am doing all I can to have the government take $500,000 acres of land and give the railroad company credit for $15,000,000, but the prospects of their doing it is not as bright as I wish it was. I wish you would have the newspapers take the ground that the government was taken by the government and held for the people, so that when they wanted it they could have it, etc. Something that the demagogues can vote and work for. Letting the government take the lands now at $250 an acre, and then sell them at $100 in twenty years, is not more than $1 would be put in a sinking fund at 6 per cent. interest compounded each six months. Yours truly, C. P. HUNTINGTON.

SAVAGE ATTACK ON A JESUIT PRIEST. Women and Children Crushed to Death in a Vienna Church.

At Vienna, Sunday night, in the Johanniskirche in the Favorite Strasse, the workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle was preaching a mission sermon to an enormous audience, a majority of whom were women and children. The workmen's quarters of the city, a scene of terrible bloodshed occurred. Such a has not been witnessed in Vienna since the burning of the Ring theatre. A Jesuit priest named Hammerle