DRY GOODS.

Ring in the New. Eing out the grief that saps the mind, For those that here we see no more : ting out the foul of rich and poor, Hing in redress to all mankind, King out a slowly dying cause

And ancient forms of party strice, Ring in the nobler modes of life With awester manners, purer laws, Ring out the want, the care, the sin The faithless coldness of the times ;

King out, ring out, my mournful rhymes. But ring the fuller minstrel in. Ring out false pride in place and blood, The civic slander and the spite :

Ring in the love of truth and right, Hing in the common love of good. Ring out old shapes of foul disease, Ring out the narrowing lust of gold

Ring out the thousand wars of old, Ring in the thousand years of peace. Ring in the valiant man man and free. The larger heart, the kindlier hand Ring out the darkness of the land, Ring in the Christ that is to be, -Tennyson

HE WAS ON TIME. A Speech by the Driver of the Yellow Bob-tall to His Passengers.

N. Y. Sun. One of the yellow bobtail cars that run from Cortlandt street ferry to Grand street ferry came to a stand still before a snow stalled blue car in East Broadway. The two puffing horses attached to the blue car under the vigorous urging of their driver, snorted, strained their hind legs, and scattered snow over the front platform for about ten minutes without budging the car. The bobtail driver got impatient. "he shouted to the conductor of the blue car, "if you don't hurry up there, I'll drive past you."

The conductor grinned at what he thought was the bobtail driver's facetious-

The passengers in the bobtail began to The driver of the blue car used his whip and many expressive idioms on his horses, and they snorted and kicked up more snow.

The bobtail driver turned his horse's head eastward, and said "Gee up!" car rattled off the wack, went around the blue car, and on to the track again. The passengers cheered in a disjointed manner during the performance. When the bob-tail was nearly at Grand street, and just as the passengers were congratulating themselves upon their good luck, a stalled bobtail car of the green line hove in sight. The energetic driver of yellow pobtail did not wait for the green bobtail to move on, but turned his horse's head eastward again and drove around the green c.r. This time the driver did not get his car on the track again until he got to Grand street. On Grand street he turned out of the track to pass a cross town car. When he arrived at the ferry he put the upper part of himself into the doorway, smiled enthusiastically and said:

During this speech the driver stood with his hat extended in his right hand. A passenger who had surreptitiously collected $3 in dimes, nickels, and pennies poured them into the driver's hat and amazed him. A young girl in Philadelphia who for three years has been a patient sufferer with sore-throat had been effectually cared by using Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.
