THE MORMONS.

VILLAGE LIFE IN UTAH DEPICTED. Mormon Community Life-How the Latter Day Baints Live-Their School Teachers and Their

A correspondent of the New York Sun writing from Sait Lake City, gives the following account of a Mormon village ; he says he is acquainted with rural life in Mormon communities from five years visit to them, and what is true of Mayfield is true of nine tenths of all the towns in Utah :

Law Bults.

Mayfield was settled about eight years ago by families crowded out of larger set lements. The population now numbers some seventy families, or about 350 souls, all told. They are Swedish, Danish and English immigrants, and the children of the same races born and raised in Utah, together with several American families. All are members of the Latter Day families, who never joined the church, and two who have left it. All live in harmony and good will, the latter receiving neither persecution nor insult. When the town the head authorities, three of the best men in the community were chosen by the people to manage and control the settlement. These men are designated the bishop and his counsellors. Their instructions were to act as fathers, cousellors, and instructors to the people under their charge; to urge them to habits of order, industry and frugality, and to instruct them in the principles of their religion. To my own knowledge, they have earnestly and faithfully per-formed their duties. To further assist their bishopric, a number of the best men are selected to visit each family—each man has a special block under his charge -for the purpose of seeing to the welfare of each and imparting spiritual and secu-lar advice. It is something on the same principle that an Episcopalian rector sends his curate to visit his parishioners, only the basis is wider and more comprehensive. These men are termed teachers, and these are they of whom so much nonsense has been written, terming them "Danites" and "Destroying Angels." These simple yeomen destroy only the gophers and weeds in their admirably cultivated grain fields. Agriculture is their main occupation. They flourish at it. All disputes and differences are settled by these teachers through arbitration. If is taken to the bishop's court, formed by who determine the case upon the principle of moral and common law. From this court there is an appeal to the high council of the county or "stake," and from there to the council of the Twelve Apostles, and finally to the presidency of the church. These courts are open to all, non-members of the church as well as members. I know of many instances in which outsiders have preferred to recover from a Mormon in this court, than to sue in the regular magistrate's court. The Schools,

Not all late copy of the Deseret News and asked Mormons are polygamists; in fact, not them to read at random an article, which | more than one in six is, but nearly all in physical geography he named promis. there can be no separation of interests by enously countries and cities in all parts of reason of this difference. Polygamy, of the world, when their location was at once described and pointed out on the map without hesitation. The pupils also drives them from contact with those who ing the counties, towns and rivers. The teacher next asked them to write a letter ordering a bill of goods. It was quickly and well done. The articles were ar:

each other and strengthens their religious bonds.

The bishop said he could not tell what the United States government would or ranged in their proper departments. In arithmetic the cost of the construction of a caual, that of a bin of wheat, a pile of lumber, tests in fractions, and an account sale were given and done quickly and ac-

"You cannot afford—it will not pay—not to educate your children Yet, for all this, the majority of the people are cent wise and dollar-foolish, for they engage cheap excuses for teachers, and grun-blingly eke out "chips and whetstones" in payment. In this, as in many other things, the head men of the church have no easy time in ruling the people. The average Mormon is often as obstinate and self willed as a Penusylvania Dutchman.

dent as any people I have ever seen in any part of the world and I have circumnavi-gated it. A ward politician or government office seeker is the veriest slave in comparison with them. The secret is that their faith is grand, and when their religion is at stake they are one—it is their all. In other matters they are the same as other people. No Catholic reverences the pope more than the Mormons love and honor the men they have placed at their head. No matter how great and popular any of them may have been, if they fall from grace, they have to ask the people's ago. John Taylor does not profess infalli-bility himself, and will not countenance such an assumption in his colleagues. His exhortation is, "Human nature is far from being perfect, but let us try to be as near perfect as we possibly can."
Public worship is held twice on the Sabbath, and on a week day eveving. There is also a well attended Sunday school. The young men and women have each a society for mutual improvement. The children have a similar society. The matrons of the ward have a relief somety for the purpose of looking after the poor and sick. A dramatic company also exists. I called upon the justice of the peace of the precinct and asked permission to look at his docket. His reply was that he had none. He had no use for it, as he had not tried a case siece he took the office two and a mortgage is a rare occurrence. They pay their debts promptly, and have a reserve for a rainy day, and with that they are happy and contented. They are not Jay Goulds, and don't want to be.

Out of the seventy families hix are polygamous. This was so when I first visited Mayfield, five years ago, and I am positive that there has been no polygamic marriages in the settlement since that time. As the female children predominate there are many marriageable young women in the town waiting for husbands; yet a case of seduction has never been known in Mayfield, and an instance of marital unfaithfulness has never been brought to light. Saloons, gambling and prostitution are unknown in the community.

These are plain facts and can be verified at any time. Salt Lake City and Ogden are not fair criterions for an impartial criticism, and these are the towns that the traveling contributor generally writes up.

A BISHOP'S TESTIMONY.

Polygamy a Strength Rather Than a Weak-ness in the Mormon Religion. In a recent address in Baltimore, by Rt. Rev. Daniel S. Tuttle, Episcopal bishop of Utah and Idaho, explanatory of the Mormon religion and of the work of the Protestant Episcopal church in its midst, All are members of the Latter Day he gave as the three elements of the church, with the exception of one or two strength of Mormonism—religious zeal, organization and polygamy. As to the zeal of the Mormons, he said that it was the outgrowth of absurd religious fanaticism, and not of animal senwas first established, by the counsel of sualism, as is generally believed. In describing the belief of the Mormons, he said they hold that after the overthow of Shalmanezer and the dispersion of the ten tribes of Israel some of the wanderers found their way to this country by Bheiing straits. They founded their religion, which was that of the Mormons of to-day, and were visited here by the Savior after His ascension from Bethany. After this their bible was written; and when, through interneciene wars, their dispersion became imminent, one of their number was directed by a prophet to bury this book. It remained hidden for fourteen hundred years, until 1830, when one Joseph Smith, of New York state, was directed by revelation to exhume it, ever since when it has been the ground work of the Mormon faith.

Their organization, he said, is almost perfect. At their head is a president, and after him, in regular order, are two coun-sellors, twelve disciples, bishops, the Melchizedec priesthood, the Aaronic priesthood, elders, deacons and teachers. The twelve disciples are the rulers of the church, and the president is the executive. is in constant communication by telegraph with all parts of Utah, and it is he who organizes and directs the many workers under him. Their business affairs are managed on a co operative plan, which a difficult case cannot be thus settled, it enables them to make large purchases in is taken to the bishop's court, formed by the East at cheap rates, and in this way the bishop, counsellors, and teachers, to prevent serious competition and at the same time to realize safe profit from their sales. Another way of binding their members more closely together is by im-posing upon each new member a trust which excites his loyalty and his ambition to rise higher. In speaking of the elements of polygamy, the bishop said that when he first went to Utah he believed that the antag onism in woman's nature to such a custom would ultimately cause the downfall of Mormonism, but that he had found the women more willing to submit to it Mayfield has a good public school, under the tutorship of an experienced teacher. The children of Gentiles, apostates, and Mormons attend this school without let or hindrance. When I last visited the school in their religion, and if God directs them submit to polygamy, they can v truly serve Him by doing so. Not all was done in every case with fluency and members of the religion have friends of understanding. After sharp questioning relatives who are in polygamy, so that drew a map of Utah from memory, locat- differ from them, pushes them towards ought to do in regard to the Mormon question, but that the missionaries of the Protestant Episcopal church, who were the first to attempt reform in Utah, had found that only quiet, patient work could accomplish anything. Three years before any denomination sent missionaries to curately.

I know that every school in the territory is not up to the standard of this, yet there are many equal to, if not superior to it, and this not taking into account high schools or colleges. The authorities of the church, John Taylor and George Q Cannon, especially, are urging the people to school system. A favorite remark of Mr. is generation has passed, the bishop beenurch, John Taylor and George Q Cannon, especially, are urging the people to educate their children and improve their school system. A favorite remark of Mr.
Taylor is. "Better to have no teacher at all than a poor and incompetent one." be seen throughout the territory.

TELEGRAPHIC MAITER.

Our latest correspondence, May 16, 1883 brings to us the narrative of Henry B. Ingram, the General superintendent of the Distriet Messenger Co., of New Haven, Conn. Mr. Ingram says: " For many months I had been sorely troubled with a weak and tired feeling ceross the folias, almost invariably necompa aled with a headache. I had noticed also that at stated periods following these pains my urine would be highly colored, and leave i heavy brick-colored sediment when allowed to stand in the ve-sel. I could not work, and I was discouraged to an alarming degree, N. thing helped me. I was prescribed for by some of the best physicians in New York city, where I was located at that time, but derived no benefit or relief. When almost ready to give up to despatr an acquaintance said to me I want you to try Hunt's Remedy. I did so, and hardly twenty-lour hours had clapsed be-fore I obtained relief, and in three weeks' forgiveness, or step down and out. A fore I colained relief, and in three weeks' case occurred of this kind a short while time all the storesal aliments had disappeared, and I improved steadily, and was infused with new lite so that I could resume my business again, which is one that subjects me to strains of all kinds, which are likely to effect the kidneys, namely : Erecting telegraph and telephone lines. Hunt's Remedy now occupies the most honored place in my cabinet of medteines. I would not be without it, and I cheerfully and hearthy recommend it to all who are roubled with diseases of the liver, kidney, or urinary organs. It never falls to cure." BI CENTRE STREET.

Mr. Gager is Fo years old, and manical this position of trust for 42 years, and tils word is as good as his bond. On May 5, 1883, he writes as follows: "For years I have suffered with disease of the kidneys and bladdec, and have no hesitancy in recommending Hunt's Remedy us an a specific for these com plaints. It has not only been the means of reowned by the people; also a grist and saw mill in an adjoining canon.
