

COLUMBIA NEWS.

OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE.

Events Along the Susquehanna—Items of Interest In and Out the Borough
Edited by the Intern-

-gencer Reporter.

The Susquehanna river rose eight inches at Columbia last night, and three feet at Chidlow. The latter, however, is only "backed" water. The ice moved this morning and it is expected to break up during to day. At the present state of the river, serious results may follow, as the ice is from twelve to eighteen inches in thickness. One redeemable feature, however, is that it is very rotten, and may break up in such time cases that the danger may not be so great. A small gash has formed on the dam.

PERSONAL.

F. A. Bennett in Philadelphia for a visit.

Mrs. A. D. Bremerman, of Lock Haven, is visiting Mrs. Wm. B. Given.

Mrs. Joseph M. Makem, arrived home last evening from Pueblo, Mexico. Her brother, Angel Purple, met her in New York.

Rev. Wm. P. Evans will spend a week in Harrisburg and Hagerstown. His pulpit will be filled on Sunday by Elder Jackson.

Railroad Accidents.

While shifting in the west yard last night, one car jumped the tracks and blocked the north track for about one hour.

Clayton Brookhard, a P. R. R. brakeman, had his left thumb mangled at Thurmont yesterday, while coupling cars. The member was hospitalized by Dr. Craig.

Homes Around Town.

Rain fell in this vicinity all of last night.

The Republican primaries will be held next week.

Wm. B. Given left a college society picnic in Lancaster or Columbia.

The youngsters, Grant and Rooney, who ran away from home last week, are in Chicago.

Haver's minstrels gave a good performance to a fair-sized audience.

The heavy fog which overhangs Columbia and vicinity makes railroading exceedingly difficult and dangerous.

The congregation of the First African Baptist church will hold a cake walk and exhibition in the armory this evening.

The hustler wagons of Geo. Fisher and J. W. Swartz collided this morning, resulting in a wheel being torn off from the former's.

A SHOW AT THE OVAL.

Wilmington's Mayor Wales Will Try to Suppress the Sale.

Wilmington Every Evening.

Instructions have been issued to the police department by Mayor Wales to accept no persons who have engaged in selling a scurrilous sheet known as The Gel which makes its appearance on Saturdays and is sold in large numbers by newsboys. The Oral claims Lancaster, Pa., as its home, and gives that city in its headline. It is what is known as a patent outside sheet, with a variety of harmless and worthless matter, furnished already printed on the paper and blank space left for the insertion of personals, which were made the leading and objectionable feature. Suspicious evidences indicate that the blank spaces were filled in here, and that the work was done in one of the offices of Andreas now on Tatnall street, below Second.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

THE MEDICAL SOCIETY.

MORTALLY Meeting of the Lancaster County Physician.

At the regular monthly meeting of the county medical society, yesterday, there were present: Doctors Albright, Black, Blackwood, Baker, Carpenter, Compton, Dunlap, Deaver, Farmer, Herr, A. J. Herr, B. F. Kendig, Kenney, Kline, Lineweaver, Livingston, Leaman, Mowery, Musser, J. H. Muller, H. E. Muser, F. M. McLean, Miller, Marke, Newpher, Nethersole, Rohrer, H. R., Rohrer, A. K., Resnick, Roland, Ringwalt, Steinman, Steiman, Trabert, and Zimmerman.

The physician's report for 1883 was audited and found correct. The reports of members showed no prevailing epidemic. The local pharmaceutical association presented some of its preparations for approval.

The meeting adjourned early on account of the excitement and noise on the street.

The City Academy of Medicine had last evening the meeting being fully attended, but no public business was transacted.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Republican primary elections and delegate convention to select candidates for Congress and school directors, come off this evening. It is rumored that Capt. Edw. Edgerley or Capt. Geo. M. Franklin is now the favorite for mayor; retiring Moore and Hoosomiller to the rear.

John P. Wolf deserves being a candidate for common council in the 5th ward, on the Republican ticket.

The Democratic city committee will have an important meeting this evening in the third floor room of the postoffice building.

Capt. Geo. M. Franklin will not be a candidate for select council in the Fourth ward.

The Barr-Haines contest for alderman in the Third ward is at white heat.

IN TOWN.

John D. Mishler, proprietor of the Academy of Music, Reading, who for some time past has been managing Bartholomew's Equine Paradox, was in town to day.

Ely Fox, one of the principal stockholders of the Active base ball club, of Reading, was in town to day and arranged dates for April with the Ironsides club.

E. V. Goodchild, of the Connellsburg Kyoto Courier, and Hon. John S. McAlmon, of Franklin, Pa., are delegates to the G. A. R. encampment.

CONNECTED WITH THE EXCHANGE.

At last the court house has been connected with the telephone exchange and an instrument was placed in the prothonotary's office this afternoon.

THE ICE AT COLUMBIA.

A special dispatch from Columbia, says: "The ice began moving at 1:30 this afternoon. No serious damage is reported as yet."

The Dead Burglar.

Although several parties have been to the almshouse to see the burglar, who was killed at Salunga, none have been able to recognize him. This morning Chief of Police Deisbier had a photograph of the deceased taken.

It is believed that the man is of German descent and is 40 years of age; he has a small anchor in Indian ink on one arm, one of his teeth is broken off and his nose has been broken. The body will be shipped to Philadelphia, today to the medical hospital, as required by law when bodies are unclaimed, unless it is identified this afternoon.

Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was given by a large number of relatives and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kelly at their residence, corner Chestnut and Shippen streets, last evening. The lady of the house was deceived from home by one while the rest of the party were exerting their utmost to make the affair a genuine surprise when she returned. They succeeded admirably, for when she arrived thirty couple were tripping it merrily and frothing from four well-filled tables.

Sudden Death.

Rev. A. Berg, a well-known Lutheran minister of Mechanicsburg, Upper Leacock township, died very suddenly about 11 o'clock last night. On Sunday he preached three sermons and was in his usual good health yesterday and almost to the hour of his death.

REWARD OFFERED.

This afternoon the county commissioners decided to offer a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who murdered Bernard Short on Thursday night last.

Y. M. C. A. Anniversary To-night.

The exercises of the Young Men's Christian association at the court house this evening, will begin promptly at a quarter before 8 o'clock.

ABUSEMENTS.

Haver's Minstrels will deputize to a large audience in Faison opera house, intervening, when Haver's world famous minstrels appear. The New York Times says: "The times have changed since those olden days, and the simplicity and novelties of minstrelsy have been rapidly shattered by the steady march of improvement. Now we have the minstrel, educated, refined, dressing, and singing opera in dusky hand and elaborate costume. To this great advance still lead to J. H. Haver, to him alone talk the glory of having transformed into an art what has always been a mere bagatelle."

Meister's Trotters—the fine company will be in the opera house, to night, evening.

The heavy fog which overhangs Columbia and vicinity makes railroading exceedingly difficult and dangerous.

The congregation of the First African Baptist church will hold a cake walk and exhibition in the armory this evening.

The hustler wagons of Geo. Fisher and J. W. Swartz collided this morning, resulting in a wheel being torn off from the former's.

A SHOW AT THE OVAL.

Wilmington's Mayor Wales Will Try to Suppress the Sale.

Wilmington Every Evening.

Instructions have been issued to the police department by Mayor Wales to accept no persons who have engaged in selling a scurrilous sheet known as The Gel which makes its appearance on Saturdays and is sold in large numbers by newsboys. The Oral claims Lancaster, Pa., as its home, and gives that city in its headline. It is what is known as a patent outside sheet, with a variety of harmless and worthless matter, furnished already printed on the paper and blank space left for the insertion of personals, which were made the leading and objectionable feature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.

The newboys claim that the papers were supplied to them by a cigar dealer from his store on Orange street, between Second and Third. Some years ago a similar publication was issued from Lancaster and sold largely there, but it was suppressed when the Pennsylvania authorities took hold of the matter, detected the publisher and sent him to the penitentiary for a term of years.

The publishers claimed a post office address at Mount Joy, Lancaster county, Pa., but this was believed to be a mere blind, and it was thought that they had no office at that place. The objectionable matter was written in the city and taken to the printer, certain indications pointing suspiciously to a young man of this city who delighted to cabbie in matters of this kind, as being the author. The personal and objectionable features of the paper gave the initials of the paper to the editor of the Oral, and he was compelled to give up his office of business. They were based upon the name between the sexes and were given in a scurrilous and grossly insinuating way and in cases without regard to there being a grain of truth in them. The whole tone of the personal column was low and decidedly vulgar, and the mayor takes this step toward supporting his salve on the ground that it is obscene literature.