OBITUARY.

Death of David P. Locher. At precisely 10 o'clock this morning, and after a lingering illness of consump-tion of the throat, Mr. David P. Loeher, one of the best known business men or this city, d ed at his residence on East King street. He was in the 57th year of his age and was a native of Washington county, Md , whence his father, Jacob H. Locher, removed to Mt. Joy, this county, and engaged in the tanning business there about forty years ago. Two years later he removed to this city and carried on the same business at the corner of West Orange and Prince streets.

Mr. D. P. Locher, when a young man, went to Pottsville, Pa., and engaged in the currying business. Returning from tollowing card . there to Lancaster he started a currying establishment and succeeded it with the tanning industry, which he successfully and profitably developed during the war, the business to Myers & Zook. Six years ago he again established a tannery in as-sociation with his sons, and material and material ask that you even a the entire name of D. P. Locher & Sons. Upon the death of the late Patrick

McEvoy the backing firm of Evans, McEvoy & Co. was dissolved and suc coeded by R. A. Evans & Co., who in turn were succeeded in December, 1870, by the tirm of D. P. Locher & Son. At first they carried on business on East King street, between Centre Square and Christian, but eleven years ago Mr. Locher built and removed his bank to the fine, large building which now occuplies the southwestern corner of Centre Square.

Mr. Locher was married when a young man to Miss Clomentine, daughter of the late Robert Evans, and sister of our well known townsman, Robert A. Evans. She survives her husband, together with four sons, Chas. H. Robert, Grova and Clemont, the latter seven years old. The elder son is of the firm of D. P. Locher & Son, and the eldest two are members of D. P. Locher & Sons. George W. Locher, of Centre Square, is a brother of the de-ceased and so was the late Jos. H. Looher of Harrisburg.

In his business enterprises Mr. Locher was energetic, sagacious and far sighted; and by the exercise of these qualaccumulated a handsome estate, including a fine farm on the Lititz turn pike in which he took a great deal of interest. He was an ardent admirer of good horses and kept a number of them, driv. ing some of the best single, double, tandem and four in-hand teams in the county. Mr. Locher was an affectionate and genial man in his family and social rela-tions, he had many warm friends, and in his protracted illness had the sympathy of a wide circle, who will mourn his death.
