Ears and Bang Blm-His Resude by Officers of the Law.

A. S. Parliament, contractor on the Philadelphia branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad Friday evening visited the scene of work, a few miles from Aberdeen Md., and was immediately abducted by about 200 of his Italian laborers, to whom he owed $1,500 in wages. Parliament, who claimed that a sub contractor named Alex. Harrigan had absconded with the money, endeavored to induce his captors to release him by tendering fifty cents and finally sixty cents on the dollar in payment of their claims. The Italians, only one or two of whom can speak English, immediately became enraged, and endeavored by threats of instant death to compel Parliament to send for the full exercise. Parliament to send for the full amount. The laborers had not been paid for two weeks, and many of them were in actual want of food, which made them very savage. Becoming convinced that Parliament really did not have the money, they formed in a body around him, and, despite the efforts of Deputy Sheriff Boyd, marched their prisoner three miles into the woods. There they imprisoned him in a frame shanty and sent word to his friends that they would certainly cut off his ears and send them to Aberdeen if the his ears and send them to Aberdeen II the money was not forthcoming by noon Sat-urday. If this failed, they said they would hang the prisoner. The Italians were evidently desperate and reckless. The report of Parliament's abduction greatly alarmed his friends, and they for warded a request to the Baltimore & Ohio railroad central office in Baltimore asking permission to draw enough money to enable Parliament to settle with his cap-tors. This was refused. All night the prisoner's friends were endeavoring to effect a loan from one of the neigh boring banks without success. Seeing that he was powerless to rescue the pris oner with his regular force, Sheriff Walker summoned a posse. Meanwhile it was within two hours of the time appointed by the Italians to cut off Parliament's ears. His friends sent out frantic appeals for aid to the chief of police of Baltimore, and the deputy marshal of that city and twenty five men arrived a few moments before noon on a special train. sheriff's posse was in readiness, and, headed by the police, who were armed with revolvers and clubs, set off for the Italian camp on the double quick. The attacking party also included twenty five

Fifty of the Italians were captured, and sent to Belair under a strong guard. In the melee six I was persuaded to try Hunt's Remedy as 1 Italians were shot, but not fatally, and about ten badly beaten by the policemen's clubs. The prisoners were all handouffed, and before night had been safely lodged in Belair jail. Thomas Holland, one of the sheriff's posse, received a bullet in the abdomen, and it is thought will die.

The Italians evidently do not understand the situation fully, and are arming them selves in anticipation of another attack. They are greatly enraged, and it is feared will give more trouble before long. Par liament says that when he offered to pay the laborers fifty cents on the dollar, they immediately became very much enraged. He then raised his offer to sixty cents, whereupon they captured and made off

SIN THAT LED TO SUICIDE. A Married Woman Puts an End to Her Troubles With a Pistol.

A beautiful face white in death, relieved by locks of raven hair saturated with blood, was the startling sight that met the proprietor of the New Osburn house, Rochester, N. Y., on Saturday morning. He was hastily summoned by a chambermaid to the room in which on the previous evening a guest named Mrs, John T. Wiggins, of Rome, N. Y., had retired. She reached the hotel without a trunk. She was very richly attired in sealskin sacque and silk dress and she were fine them." It for the many ills and pains peculiar to them." Ills-lwdM, W&F&w jewelry. She said she was on her way West and intended to remain a few days in Rochester. The sensation produced by finding her dead, with the revolver still clenched in her hand, was intense. It was discovered that a physician had at tended her the previous evening. He stated that he found her suffering from acute mania and that she told him she had a desire to die on account of domestic difficulties. The physician told the hotel proprietor to have her watched, and the chambermaid had remained with her until Mrs. Wiggins aimed the revolver at her head, when she ran and gave the alarm by Fair But Frail. Mrs. Wiggins was the wife of John T. Wiggins, a prominent furniture dealer and undertaker of Rome, N. Y. She was the youngest daughter of Christopher Fess man, a respectable mechanic there. She was a dashing young girl, and was married to John T. Wiggins four years ago. It is said she had the reputation of being fast before marriage. Her husband had the greatest confidence in her until a year ago, when he became suspicious of her intima y with several prominent men, including lawyers and merchants. He set a watch and become convinced of her unfaithfulness. He instituted divorce proceedings last August and ceased living with her. One night last summer she went into her husband's store, produced a revolver and threatened suicide. Her husband took the weapon from her. She then went out at midnight and tried to drown herself, but was rescued from the water. She had been residing at the Arlington hotel since that time, her husband paying for her support. It is said she had been receiving the attentions of a gentleman stopping there. At a coroner's inquest the verdict was suicide, and her husband took charge of the remains.

The wife seized him by the hair, and swore that she would kill him before morning, and then go with Hinckley. Avery's knife fell to the floor, and she picked it up and stabbed him twice. Avery then knocked her down, and stabbed her several times until she was dead. He then cut his own throat, but will probably survive. He confessed

There was no witness to the tragedy, and it was not discovered until after 6 o'clock, when a boarder arrived home from work and the ghastly spectacle met his eye. Mrs. Brazee, mother of Jennie, testified that her daughter had a child before her marriage, of which Avery was not the father. Avery is 20 years old, and his wife was 22. He was employed in Chichester's chair manufactory, and was a peaceable, temperate man. He says he is willing to go to prison for life.

376 Pig Iron Furnaces Out of Blast. Secretary Swank, of the American iron and steel association, has collected from the manufactures the statistics of the pig iron business of the country for 1883. The total product of the United States was 5,146,972 tons of 2,000 pounds each, as against 5,178,190 tons in 1882. The total 2,638,891 tons; in 1882 it was 2,449,256 tons. Statistics full of significance in reference to the number of furnaces blast were also obtained. On January 1, 1884, there were 683 furnaces in the United States, of which 271 were in Pennsylvania. Of these 683 furnaces 307 were in blast at that date, of which 162 were in Pennsylvania. On January 1, 1883, there were 417 furnaces in blast in the country, of which 185 were in Pennsylvania. On July 1, 1883, there were 334 furnaces in the entire country in blast, of which 151
