for the Intriligence.
Robin, hopping in the snow,
Were you human, well i know
You'd complain against our clime,
Saying that before your time
We had known you; being but a bird
Ro complaining note is heard. Patience breedeth summer hours

Finds full soon a crown of flowers-And the present time is ours. We may find it skeptic, cold; But if prophet-like we hold In our hearts a message true, Robin, we may copy you, And our note of promise sound, Though no kindred tone be found, Knowing that the grass will grow. Where our feet are in the snow.

Mow Carrie Swale, the Actress, Was De-ceived by mer Husband. Carrie Swain, known the sountry over as "Cad, the Tom boy," in the play of that name, has given her deposition in her suit for divorce in the circuit court of St. Louis. Mrs. Swain testified that about three years ago her husband fell ill and it become necessary, he and his declared became necessary, he and his doctor alleged, that he should go to the Bermulies, for chance to recover. Mr. Swain left California for the Bermudas, with the agreement from his wife that she should remit to him half her salary. She was then getting $80 dollars a week and she emitted to Mr. Swain's bankers in New Tork every week the sum of $40.

Happening to go to New York Mrs.

swain told some friends about her husband's illness and subsequent trip to the Bermudas, and was astonished to learn from them that he had frequently been seen about New York. These statements, coupled with the fact that her remittance and always been sent to New York, awoke suspicion in Mrs. Swain's mind which ras verified when she called at a house there she learned Mr. Swain was living, nd asking for Mr. Swain was told that e was out, but she could see Mrs. Swain. the did see Mrs. Swain and from her sarned that she and the faithless husband ad been living together as man and wife n the money sent by the faithful Carrie. Swain never showed his face to his wife gain and has not answered her complaint or divorce, so that it will probably be ranted by default. Mrs. Swain's testiiony was corroborated by that of her ister, Mrs. Sophia Thias, and her good haracter was testified to by Mr. W. H. mith, of the People's theatre, of St.

A LADY SAID

Those Horrid Pimples! No, I Cannot Go. Please Present My Excuses."

Probably two thirds of the ladies in society and homes of our land are afflicted with skin diseases of various kinds, to do away with which, if it could be done without tajury, would be the happiest event of their lives. Then she would have instead of a disfigured and marred countenance, one that would be handsome, or at least good looking, for any one with a clear, pure skin, no matter what the cut of her features are, has a certain amount of good looks which attract everybody. As it is now, she imagines every one sees and talks about "those freekles," "those horrid pimples," and other blemisnes with which she is afflicted, but this is true of either
