THE EPHRATA TRAMPS DISCHARGED,

The Evidence Falls to Substantiate the Charge of Murder-Haley's Hody Claimed by His Relatives.

This morning Jas. Dell, John Stevens, John Jones and Charles Manning, the tramps who were charged with inflicting injuries which caused the death of Edward Haley, alias "Bridgeport Fatty," at Millway on last Friday, were taken from the prison to Ephrata for a hearing before Squire D. B. Kraatz. The prisoners were in charge of Officer Hoffman, of the Reading railroad, and were handcuffed in pairs All along the road between this city and Ephrata, crowds were gathered at the stations, anxious to catch a glimpse of the prisoners. At Ephrata a large party had assembled, and the prisoners were at once taken to the 'equire's office, where no one was admitted except the witnesses and representatives of the newspapers of Lancaster and Reading.

The Hearing.

The hearing was started promptly at 9 o'clock and the 'squire stated that the men had first been charged with felonious assault and battery, but were now also charged with murder. Neither the prisoners nor the commonwealth were represented by counsel. The prisoners were told that they could ask such ques tions as they saw fit. Officer Frederick Hoffman testified that on the day after the man was injured he went to Millway and saw him put on the train, from what witness heard he thought the injuries could not have been made by the train ; he then started to look for the four men who had been with Haley; he heard Manning had gone ahead ; witness went to Ephrata and arrested Manning first ; his companions soon came along and they were taken into custody. The men were each taken away separately and questioned by the witness. The stories told by them were substantially as those published before in the INTELLIGENCER ; they denied any crime and said they were not with Haley when he was hurt ; Stevens, on the way to prison, said one of the party had held Haley up when a freight train passed Manning in Lancaster said, "Cheer up if it was not for whisky we would not be here ; to make a man guilty they must prove it."

The Railroad Men Testily.

Alfred Gregory and Thomas Williams, engineer and fireman of the passenger train which ran north on the day of this occurrence, testified substantially as they did when before the coroner; the man, be fore the engine reached him, was too far from the track to have been touched by any part of the train ; the fireman watched him until the whole train passed and he did not move nor did any of the cars touch him ; he was lying across the track with his head towards it.

Samuel Eby testified that he saw the man when he was lying by the side of the track filteen minutes after the presenger train had passed; his head was about fourteen inches from the rail ; the man moved slightly, but did not speak ; never saw Haley before that time ; saw the Mrs. H. Luckenbach, Lancaster.

prisoners after the body was found. Katie McCauley, Laura Bear and Alice Wolfe testified that they were the first to find Haley after the train had stopped ; his head was about a foot from the rail he only moved his hand; the four defendants came from Millway with the crowd. The witnesses were cross-examined by Manning, one of the prisoners, who seem ed to be intelligent and very anxious to Manning, one of the prisoners, who seem ed to be intelligent and very anxious to make inquiry into the case. They said the injured man had a hat which had a the injured man had a hat which had a out down through the middle and it looked holder had sent on a photograph of Frank as though the cars had made it.

Joseph Brubaker testified that he was there. The following dispatch was restaticu agent at Millway ; he was inform | ceived this afternoon : ed that a man was lying along the track ; CARLISLE, Pa., Mar. 12, 1884. he went up and found him as described ; D. K. Burkholder, Lan. Co. Prison, Lancaster and some time afterwards another man came along and followed them ; witness thought it was possible for the last man to be at the place where he was found about the time the train arrived there;

he could not have gone much farther than that ; he was so drunk he could searcely get along. After hearing the evidence, the 'squire thought there was not sufficient to hold the prisoners, and they were discharged. Haley's Hody Utalmed. During the progress of the hearing, the 'squire received a dispatch from the rela-tives of Haley at Bridgeport, Conn., asking him to have his body shipped to that place at once, and to communicate with
