Long years agone a weather cock te o'er an old church steeple Watched by the paster and his flock, And gazed at by the people. It faced the wind where'er it stirred, And long had been an honest bird.

On one Lord's day the wind was east. And strong to all was plain ; The old cock, solemn as a p lest Looked west through mist and rain And held there as if pleasant weather, Without changing a point or feather.

The preacher in the afternoon e sounding board stood under, And when the deacon pitched the tune, Down, like a boit of thunder,

Came the rusty rooster from his perch, And shook the old roof of the church. An oft-whipped Quaker jumped and said " Haste thee, hireling of the people, Down from the pulpit, ere thy head God smites as well as steeple !"

The deacon seized the Quaker and cried : " Like Ananias, the old cock lied!" ON THE FARM.

Brief Notes of General Interest. The whole number of farm animals is the country has been increased since February, 1883, by 4,000,000. The largest increase is in stock cattle, and is principally in the states west of the Mississippi.

Stabled animals require much fresh air, and to secure it there must be a way of escape for the foul gasses forming in the stable. Confinement in a closely built stable is liable to bring on inflammation of the lungs and other diseases in the cat

The wages of the farm laborers (includ ing board) now rage from $13 67 per month in the states where agriculture occupies 77 per cent. of the laboring population, to 18 per cent, of all laborers are engaged in agricultural pursuits. The average for the whole United States is $18.58 per month, an increase of nearly 40 per cent since 1854. The trying season for the bees is soon coming. More colonies perish between March 20th and the 1st of May—as a gen-eral rule—then from October 1st to March in this latitude. Persons who have had their bees in the cellar should take ad vantage of the first fit day to lake their colonies out and let them fly, and at even ing put them back and they will they remain quiet until taken out for good.

Nancy Jane Pratt, a gentle female of Iroquois county, Illinois, ordered a hunter off her farm and received the saucy reply "Oh, you ain't in any danger; I ain't huntic, old maids." She abruptly turned, went into the house, came out with a gun, opened fire on the hunter and killed his The fool threw up his hands and yelled: "Do you mean to murder me?" The farmer's wife answered, "Ob, you ain't in any danger ; I ain't huntin' for fools," and she brought the gun again to her shoulder, while the chap yelled louder than before. Here the husband put in an appearance and booted the fellow off the RESCUED PROM DEATH. the following statement of William J. Cough in, or somerville, Mass., is so remarkable that we beg to ask for it the attention of our read ers. He says: "In the fall of 18761 was taken with a violent bleeding of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I soon began to lose my appetite and flesh. I was so weak at one time that I could not leave my bed. In the summer of 1877 I was admitted to the City Hospital, While there the doctors said I had a hole in my feft lung as big as a half-dollar. I expended over a hundred dollars in doctors and medicines. I was so far gone at one time a report went around that I was dead, I gave up hope but a triend told me of DR, WM, HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, I laughe at my friends, thinking my case incurable, but I got a britle to satisfy them, when to my surprises d gratification, I commenced to rest batter My hope, once dead, began to ravive, and to tay I feet in better spirits than I have the past three years.

"I write this hoping you will publish it, so that every one still ted with Direased Lungs will be induced to take DE. WM. HALL'S BAL-AM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CLEED, I have taken two bottles and can positively say other mesticines I have taken since my sick-ness.
