Lancaster Intelligencer.

PRIDAY EVENING, MARCH 21, 1864, OLD JOHN C.

For the INTELLIGENCER. He taught school at the old stone house, An' use to swing the timber,

In that strong way that made a boy. Be active, like an' limber. We didn't need gymnastics then, To train our growin' muscle, Us youngsters got enough o' that, When " John C." made us hussle

Around afore the stick he waved, As only be could wave it-A territyin' stick for boys, But day by day we'd brave it.

His name was John C. Lewisburg-How well I used to know it! He wrote it stiff an' plain as print, But always when I saw that name,

Wherever he had signed it, knowed it meant more than a name-I saw the man behind it. We always called him " Old John C ," An' lay our plans to tease him, As reg'lar as the sun got up,

Twas in we thought to please him His hatr was such a wilderness, No comb had dared explore it; His face was full o' hills an' dales, With brambles growin' o'er it; He only wore one gallus, an' His pants hung on him bias ; The pockets o' his coat were stuffed With papers learnt an' pious ; His shoes were like my fiddle is, The strings all loose an' broken-Of what might have been, the things that be Are but a sorry token.

For John C's heart, my fidale, too. Had finer music given, It some kind master's hand to find The melody had striven. Our hands were awkward, to be sure. An' discord all they brought us : So, on we played, the key-note missed, While John C. thrashed an' taught us We never could git even quite-Each trick must bring a thrashin', Each thrash a trick, so Justice bobbed Around, in see-saw fashion.

One winter mornin' round the fire The school itself was thawin' One boy was spittin' on the stove. He'd tearnt tobacco-of awin'; A half a dozen throwin' wads O' paper 'gainst the cellin'. One on a desk, with ready chalk, Artistic gifts revealin', Praised up by all the eyes around.

Was drawin' borrid faces. As boys growed bigger show us life A-skippin' all the graces. Behind the stove, a youngster loos-A new-learnt jig was dancin',

The girls all modest stood around. A row o' bright eyes glancin'. An' old John C. dreamt 'mong the din As it he never heard it, As if he'd caught an angel thought. But had no tongue to word it. His shoes untied, tops standin' out, His pants stuck down inside 'em-

School boys were never good, I ween When temptin' things have tried 'em. Old John C.'s back was to the stove -A many cracked "ten plater," That lost its coals out on the hearth.

Like lava from a crater. One dreadnaught struck by idee new The best he'd had that winter, Picked out a glowin' red-not coal, An' shoved it with a splinter

Across the hearth, till right above The wide-top shoe it lay there-Each breath was held an instant, while He lowed the coal to stay there One touch, it dropped right in the shoe A snicker haited its stoppin',

A little kick, a yell, a jump, Then yells, an' tumps, an' hoppin' We laughed our praises o'the show. Till beroed was the rogue an' The angel thought left old John C .-The de'li was in his brogan ! Jehoshaphat ! but how he kicked.

An' to the door went fivin'. While all us boys danced bran-new jig a An' laughed till almost dyin'. A snow difft cooled the cruel coal

But not John C.'s infection, The stick he brought in at the door. Scared laughter to dejection, Oh! boyhood's toys, how soon ve grow Wings strong enough to fly ye Oh, laughter, what a sham ye are. With sorrow's fount so nigh ye!

Oh, justice, with your see-saw beam. How long will ve be swingin ? How long the pippin, mother Eve. Its woe to us be bringin'?

All excitants, to radically cure, must be in nocent. The art consists in continuing their use until matters in the system contrary to health are removed. Health finds happines in the mere sense of existence. BRANDRETH'S PILLS stimulate the blood so as to enable nature to throw off all morbid he more, and cure disease, no matter by what name they are called.

The secret of recruiting the vital principle is discovered in BEANDRETH'S Pills, because they remove what holds it in check It is believed they possess these elements of vitality. Heat, healthy animal warmth, is certainly increased by the use of this wonderful medi-cine. Provided the great organs are not irreparably injured, there is no disease Bran-BETH'S PILLS will not cure. RENOVATING WORKS

J. A. BECHTOLD, Manager, Lancaster, Pa.

PATENT STEAM CARPET CLEANING MACHINE, one of the best makes in the country, and used with great success in Philadelphia and New York. Carpets Cleansed and Renovated by our process are returned bright as new, free from dust, moth, etc., and returned on promised time, without regard to weather. This is a result that can't help but be appreciated by housekeepers, and which cannot be attained by the old plan of beating by hand,

Recognizing a long feit want in our city, we have, at considerable expense, erected :

IMPROVEMENTS AND MACHINERY. By these machines, the carpets are only beaten on the back or under side, while a series swiftly revolving bristle brushes, at the same time thoroughly cleanse the face or nap, as the carpet is slowly drawn over them. Under this is a rapidly revolving fan of immense power, through which a strong current of air carries off the dust and impure gases, at the top of the building. This apparatus is so powerful that it is able to draw a current of air th ough the thickest carpet, thus securing thorough venti'ation. By the renovating process the colors are brought out bright and new, without blending, leaving the carpet as clean as ever. During the season, we will add a machine especially adapted for the thorough cleansing of delicate fabrics, such as India and Persian Carpets and Rugs, Portiere Curtains, Drapery, etc., without striking a blow or fastening together, or subjecting them to any strain what Carpets packed Moth Proof, Stored and properly taken care of.
