WORMS FAIL.
"Worms fail to express my gratitude," says Mr. S. E. CARTER, of Nashville, Tenn., for the benefits derived from

CINCINNATI'S MOB.
SETTING FIRE TO THE COURT HOUSE.
A stand still Urging Vigilance Committee—A Mob of 15,000 in the Streets—More a Blood Spilled.

The spirit of mob law, which was somewhat subdued in Cincinnati during the night of Saturday, broke out anew as night fell on Sunday. The sunning up of the casualties of the night before showed serious results. Five men were killed and forty eight were more or less seriously injured, and the city jail was crowded to overflowing. At sunrise the jail yards were covered with debris, and piles of burning embers were scattered about. The rear portion of the building, in which was located the engine house, at which point the mob had concentrated its attack after the repulse from the jail, was still burning furiously; but the flames had expended their fury and were rapidly dying out. The entire front extension of the jail was battered, as though with a gigantic ram. The windows were all broken, the iron casings and frames being shattered to atoms. The heavy exterior doors, which were of the most substantial character, were all battered up. After the would-be lynchers had succeeded in obtaining possession of the jail office they set fire to every article in the office. The stove, a large one, was entirely demolished, as was also the electric appliances. The furniture of the living rooms of the jail's family was not disturbed, the rioters being extremely considerate, as was evidenced from the fact that some one placed a rug upon the piano before standing upon it.

Had Wounds Inflicted by the Militia. The greatest casualties occurred when the mob rolled into the entrance three barrels of coal oil, and the militia charged the crowd firing into the mob as they retreated. The killed were as follows: Joseph Stearn, a patrol officer; Henry Keats, laborer; "Tony" Breckenstein, paperhanger; John Hughes, plate cutter; Phil. Nunn, policeman. About fifty eight persons were wounded, many of whom were perhaps fatally, as the wounds inflicted by the militia were in the hands of the militia were horrible. The wounded are well cared for. Among those wounded in the last melee was a son of Congressman Bright, of Virginia, who, it is said, was severely injured. He is seriously injured, but bears it heroically. The mob dispersed about 5 o'clock a. m., and from then until evening everything had been quiet.

Intense Feeling Among the People. Thousands of spectators were coming and going every hour during the night, and the feeling of indignation in the city at the action of the militia, jury and counsel for defense was intense. Ex-Congressman Campbell, the criminal lawyer, who acted as counsel for the militia, who, it is said, received a firing line, and when he visited the chamber of commerce at noon, he was politely requested to retire, which he did amid the jeers of the assembled merchants. He had a bodyguard of "hoopers" with him, one a confessed murderer. In a card to the newspaper, he maintains his position, and says he would follow the same course again.

A handbill reading as follows was largely circulated on the streets, and met with general approval: "Public safety demands immediate action. Organize a vigilance committee in every ward. Deal severely with criminals. Serve notice to criminals, criminal lawyers and gamblers to leave Hamilton county within three days and remain away forever, or suffer the penalty. See to it that no clerk of criminal lawyers that infest the city are permitted to remain and corrupt juries, outrage justice and shield criminals, just that long will our citizens be murdered, our property destroyed and protection by law denied. Make a sweep, while we are at it. A vigilance committee of 300 in each ward, composed of the best citizens, can by earnest work cleanse the moral atmosphere in three days. Organize at once and serve notice." The reputation of this city demands a change or wickedness will reign supreme."
