WINTER STILL LIVES.

March, the first month of Spring, has been here and is now entered upon the minutes of time as a bygone. April has been ushered in, and with it cold and uncomfortable weather, as a reminder, it would seem, that winter still lives, and that Spring, with all its glad tidings, is yet laggard and yet a thing of the future, all premonitions of the weather-wise to the contrary notwithstanding.

Spring will surely come, however, and with it bring the mild weather which will necessitate a change of raiment—the laying aside of the Overcoat and Heavy Garments for those lighter and more comfortable. Anticipating the wants of our patrons, we have had made up one of the largest and finest selections of CLOTHING FOR MEN, BOYS AND CHILDREN, shown by any house in this section of the state. All the handsome styles prevalent, made in a thorough, systematic manner, from best known makes of Textile Fabrics, and warranted equal to the best sold by any one anywhere at like figures. FINE WOOLENS, for Custom Tailoring; handsome and attractive Novelties, to meet the requirements of a Fashionable Trade. No assortment like ours. No prices more reasonable.

MEDICAL.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

THINK OF IT NOW!

Although much is said about the importance of a blood-purifying medicine, it may be possible that the subject has never seriously claimed your attention. Think of it now!

Almost every person has some form of scrofulous poison latent in his veins. When this develops in Scrofulous Sores, Ulcers or Eruptions, or in the form of Rheumatism, or Organic Diseases, the suffering that ensues is terrible. Hence the gratitude of those who discover, as thousands yearly do, that will thoroughly eradicate this evil from the system.

As well expect life without air as health without pure blood. Cleanse the blood with Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

CHAINED TO BED.

A QUACK DOCTOR'S AWFUL VILLAINY.

Shocking Cruelty to a Child—Chained to the Floor by Her Betrayer, Choked, and Half Frozen.

In Scranton, on Saturday afternoon, a girl named Sadie McClenaghan, who had been chained to the floor in a back room on Spruce street, in the centre of the city, for nearly three weeks, by W. S. Madden, a quack doctor, escaped and fled to the Susquehanna house, where she begged piteously for protection. She told Mrs. Carpenter, the wife of the hotel proprietor, a thrilling story of cruelty and inhumanity practised upon her, and said she feared that Madden would capture and kill her. The girl's terror was in her face and at first it was thought she was insane; but Madden, a burly, dissolute looking fellow, soon appeared upon the scene, and by his conduct confirmed the story. He caught the fugitive by the shoulder and said she must accompany him, but Sadie, flinging herself at the feet of Mrs. Carpenter, cried, "For God's sake, don't let him take me back again." Madden bullied and threatened, but Mrs. Carpenter called for help and a big female cook ran out of the kitchen and threatened to put a head on him unless he went away. He withdrew, vowing vengeance.

The police were immediately notified, and Chief Delacy, with two men, hastened to Madden's office and took him into custody. He fell on his knees and begged for mercy, but no heed was paid to his pleadings. A number of chains and locks with which he had bound his victim were found in his room, and taken along with him to the lockup, where he had a hearing before Mayor Beamish. The girl Sadie, who is about 20 years old, appeared against him. She is the wreck of what was once a beautiful woman. Her large eyes, sunken cheeks, and shy, frightened manner provoked pity.

She said she had known Madden for two years. He betrayed her, and then promised to marry her as soon as he could get a divorce from his wife, who was living in Altoona. Last January, while Sadie was stopping with her sister in Lewistown, Madden wanted to bring her to Scranton, saying he would take care of her until such time as he got a divorce, when he would surely marry her. At first she declined, but after much letter writing and telegraphing she came. Finding there was no sign of a divorce, she wanted to go back to Lewistown again; but Madden induced her to go to his office, threw her on the floor, beat her, put chains on her ankles and tied her to the bed. He also drove a staple in the floor and fastened one of the chains to it. She says she lay in fearful agony the first night, fearing he would kill her. For a few days he brought in their food in a basket, and they had their meals together, but after a time he boarded at a hotel, and brought her sandwich and a piece of bread and butter occasionally. On several occasions, when she made an outcry, he threw her down and stamped with his knees on her breast. He choked her frequently, and her throat was so sore for a number of days that she could hardly speak. He had the windows of the room nailed down, and took all possible precautions to prevent an outcry or an escape. When he took the chains from her ankles, she made a dash for liberty, and succeeded in getting away. She says he could not have treated her worse were she a wild beast.

Madden at first denied the girl's story, but finally admitted having chained her to the floor. The evidence against him was overwhelming, and he was ordered to give bail in $4,800. No one became his surety, and he was taken to the county jail. There is great indignation against him, and threats of lynching are freely made. Madden came to Scranton two years ago in partnership with a quack called Gigeon, who is also in prison on a charge of indecently assaulting one of his female patients.

DYING IN DROVES.

5,000 Laborers on the Panama Canal Carried off in Three Months.

Philadelphia Record.

"Our $20,000,000 has been spent in establishing homes for the engineers and workingmen along the route of the Panama ship canal," said Capt James Wiltbank, who has been for more than a year engaged in dredging operations on the canal, and who has just returned home after a tough tussel with the dreaded swamp fever.

"Plenty of money there, captain?"

"Oh, plenty. There is only one thing more common than cash, and that is death. Men die like the leaves in autumn. Only the Italians appear to live. The dead are disposed of without ceremony. A shallow grave, no prayers, and all is in a moment forgotten. There are now 15,000 men at work on the canal, mostly negroes from Jamaica and the French West Indies. These negroes are brought over in droves as fast as those at work die, and I venture to say that not two-thirds of the 15,000 laborers now at work will be alive a year from now. It's dreadful. Five thousand died during the past three months; but the large pay tempts men to brave all the danger. The company appears to have an unlimited supply of money and pays every two weeks."

"What progress has been made in the four years?"

"Well, two miles and a half of the canal proper has been dug out. Originally this section was dredged to a depth of fourteen feet, but is now only six feet deep, the soft swamp lands pressed down by the weight of the dirt thrown out on either side filling in the canal from underneath. A great deal of work has, however, been done with the steam shovels in levelling the high lands through which the canal is to pass, and dredging will soon be started in those sections. Work is now progressing upon the only large mountain which bars the way of the canal from ocean to ocean. This mountain is 400 feet high, and nine miles in circumference, and is to be cut down with steam plows and carted away. The company has been compelled to spend $20,000,000, as I said, to locate homes through the swamps from which as a basis the work of digging out the canal can be carried on. This work necessitated the building of railroad branches into the swamps, and the making of solid foundations with stone and gravel, hundreds of feet wide and miles in extent. Laborers get $3 a day, and skilled mechanics and bosses from from $100 to $350 a month."

"Will the canal ever be finished?"

"Not, I think, unless the swamp sections are constructed with piling, and that would cost so large an amount of money that the scheme could not possibly pay. But the company appears to have all the cash necessary to carry on the work."

CUBA MUCH DISTURBED.

Aguero's Arrival the Cause of a Great Uprising.

Official advices have been received from Cuba by the war department of Spain to the following effect: The Aguero band remained only one day near Cardenas, and all is now quiet near that place. After landing near Hicacos the insurgents were followed to the east in the direction of Morena, where they were joined by several persons. Thence they went toward Macagua to the south, in order to reach Puerto Principe and the old revolutionary district of Bagamo. Aguero did not dare to attempt a direct landing there, because he knew the southeast coast of Cuba was watched with special vigilance. His band was greatly increased during the march of eight days, and is now not far from 1,400 strong. According to the latest advices the forces arrived on April 10 in the neighborhood of Ciego de Anila. They passed on the preceding day through the district of Santo Espiritu.

The insurgents were received by acclamation in the villages, where the patrocinados (freed slaves) themselves had joined the column, after having set fire to four plantations and sacked the safes of the receiver of taxes. The receiver of Trinidad, who was making his rounds from the direction of Santo Espiritu, accompanied by the ordinary escort of twenty cazadores, fell into the hands of the insurgents, who overpowered his guard and took from him several thousand dollars which he was conveying to Trinidad. Aguero, and his army will reach, early in the week, the mountains of Las Tunas and of Bagamo, the old seat of the late insurrection. Caption General Castillo holds two councils of war a day.

An official dispatch from Cuba reports that a band of 42 insurgents, under Duran, who intended joining Aguero, were attacked by troops and 38 men were killed.

TROUBLED MEXICO.

A Threatened Revolution Likely to be Averted.

For several days rumors have been rife of a threatened revolution throughout Mexico. These rumors are about assuming tangible shape, and seem likely to erupt the state of quiet prevailing for the past four years. The causes are the large moneyed concessions granted to American railroads; the action of the Mexican government on the nickel question, in ordering base coin funded and then repudiating certificates of deposit on the run of nickels; the passage of the stamp act, requiring a twelve cent stamp on all articles offered for sale, notwithstanding a previous exhorbitant custom house tax, and the failure to pay soldiers of the regular army, resulting in a thorough demoralization of the troops. The forces at Monterey are throwing down their arms and deserting in squads because they are starving in their garrison. Charges of corruption are openly brought against the present president, who is said now to be worth four millions although he was poor when he went into office four years ago.

Gen. Trevino, the idol of North Mexico, was waited upon at Laredo by a delegation of leading citizens of Monterey, on his return from Europe three months in advance of the time agreed upon in the political bargain made between him and President Diaz, who is a candidate for the presidency at the approaching June election. The reason assigned for his premature return at this critical time is that while he will not countenance a revolution, he is prepared to enter the field as a candidate for the presidency.

Many houses, in the City of Mexico, and they the largest in every line of business, are now open, and it is expected that those still holding out will open on Monday. It is understood that when the merchants all conform to the new measures the government will modify the stamp tax. Confidence in the stability of the government is manifested in business circles.

If a man can't be both good and rich, he ought at least to be wise; let every man prepare for the day of adversity by laying in stock of Dr Bull's Cough Syrup, a sure cure for coughs and colds.

A YOUNG MAN'S CASE.

Mr. S. S. Hodges, Jr., of No. 147 Park street, Lewiston, Me., relates the following personal narrative, May 14, 1883: "About fifteen months since I had a severe attack of typhoid fever, was very lame, and confined to my bed for eleven weeks, and when the fever left me I was in a very debilitated condition. My back and joints seemed to have no strength, and I had no vitality or appetite. I tried various kinds of medicine recommended by my friends, but found they did not improve my condition. I was induced to try Hunt's Remedy, which has been used with such great success here in Lewiston that it has a very enviable reputation of being a most reliable medicine. I purchased one bottle, and can date my improved health from the time I commenced using it, and my progress continued very rapidly; I gained in strength, and experienced less pain in my back; my appetite increased, and after using (3) bottles my pains were all gone, and my health entirely restored and I can most heartily recommend Hunt's Remedy to any who may need a true remedy for debility, kidney or urinary troubles."

A GOOD MECHANIC.

Mr. L. J. Jones, of No. 10 Charles Street, Portland, Me., writes us these convincing facts, May 11, 1881: "I have for several years been troubled with liver complaint, and indigestion, and have suffered at times terrible distress, and have tried many different cures, so called, that have been recommended from time to time. I one day noticed in one of our papers the testimonial of a person that had used Hunt's Remedy and been cured of diseases similar to mine. I purchased a bottle of one of our drug stores in Portland, and before I had used the first bottle found that I was improving beyond my expectation; have used in all six bottles, and I have no trouble from indigestion, no distress or pain in my back as I formerly had; and since I have been cured my wife has used it for kidney trouble, and it has cured her. We can both say that Hunt's Remedy is a blessing to any that are troubled with kidney or liver diseases, or indigestion. We gladly recommend it to our friends or to any sufferers from liver or kidney diseases, and you can use this letter as you may choose for the best interest of suffering humanity."
